FRENCH DEPUTY MAKES DEMAND TO END PARLEY

Conference Seeks Truce on Quota Restrictions Imposed by Paris.

Paris, June 23 (U.P.).—Adjournment of the World Economic Conference was demanded in a motion laid before the Chamber of Deputies tonight.

The demand, presented by Deputy Dommange, of Paris, was inspired by the American declaration yesterday against stabilization of currencies for the time being.

The French stand at London has been that stabilization is the first point to be considered, prior to price-raising or other economic problems, including tariff adjustments. They have refused to consider tariff cuts until moneys are stabilized, and Dommange maintained there was little use continuing the economic parley under the circumstances.

Calls Parley Futile.

The motion of Deputy Dommange said: "Adjournment (of the World Economic Conference) is suggested until depreciated moneys return to the gold standard. The present spectacle of futile labors at the conference is only contributing to world inquietude."

Finance Minister Georges Bonnet reached Paris at midnight from London, presumably to appear before the Chamber in opposition to the motion if Dommange and independent supporters attempt to force a vote.

The Dommange motion interrupted debate on the government's wheat project. A vote was improbable before the end of the wheat debate, which probably will last all night.

Currency Issue Shelved.

London, June 22 (A.P.).—The troublesome currency issue was temporarily buried tonight as the World Economic Conference plunged into other work, with France proposing an immediate truce on quota restrictions.

While providing against any further use of the quota system as a weapon to curb importations, the plan would permit France to continue indefinitely the enforcement of quotas it has already adopted. The move was interpreted as a counter-stroke to the American demand for elimination of import discriminations.

Tabled Reluctantly.

British and French delegations insisted that international agreements could not be completed until dollar stability was achieved, but finally joined today in a unanimous agreement to table the currency question.

Prime Minister MacDonald, chairman of the conference, asserted that the failure of the American Government to agree to an immediate fixing of the dollar value was a "setback" to the international efforts here. But currency uncertainties, he said, would not be permitted to block the activities of the conclave.

Before adjourning tonight over the week-end the conference worked in eight committees or subcommittees simultaneously seeking to reach ac-

Damage Is Small In Nevada Quake

Reno, Nev., June 23 (U.P.).—The region between Virginia City, famous mining town, and Carson City, the State Capital, today was shaken by a severe earthquake which did no appreciable damage.

R. L. Prince, University of Nevada geologist, said the quake started at 11:54 a. m. and continued for 5 minutes and 46 seconds. He said he could not account for the fact no great damage was done.

Prince said the center of the earth movement was 32 miles south of Reno in the Carson Valley.

The Day in Sports

The Washington Nationals are sitting pretty on top of the American League this morning, having slugged out a 7-3 victory over the Chisox while the Yankees were dividing a double-header at St. Louis. The day's happenings broke the tie for first place and sent the Nats ahead by half a game. Yesterday was important in other branches of the sports world. In the British amateur, George Dunlap, United States hope, was eliminated. In international tennis, Helen Wills Moody and Ellsworth Vines advanced. In boxing, Barney Ross won a decision over Tony Canzoneri to win the world's lightweight crown. Locally, Mrs. J. Marvin Haynes captured the District women's championship, while Roger Peacock won the Congressional Club's invitation tournament. Accurate accounts of these and other sports events will be found on the sports pages.

U. S. HAS NEW PLAN OF CUTTING TARIFFS

Will Be Presented at London If Hull Program Makes Progress.

(Copyright, 1933, by the United Press.)

London, June 23.—A "five-year plan" for the gradual reduction of tariffs to invigorate world trade is being carefully studied by the United States delegation to the economic conference, it was learned authoritatively tonight.

This plan, in line with the three-point program laid down by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, chairman of the American delegation, will be presented to the economic conference in detail if the trend of debate on Hull's tariff resolution indicates a chance of acceptance of more specific measures.

Secretary Hull and the other members of the United States group, united behind a program of concrete action, are fighting against moves of "economic nationalism" and the continuation of import quotas, as suggested by France.

The French plan to continue their import quotas after July 1, when the current second quarter of 1933 expires. The Chamber of Deputies also is reported planning to increase tariffs on 100 or more specific articles as of that date.

Secretary Hull's tariff plans were made known immediately, and a specific program to show in detail how tariff cuts can be worked out, is now under minute study by his delegation members and experts, it was revealed.

The American stand for tariff cuts gained support today, when Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald, of Great Britain, asserted the major powers at the conference had turned their backs, at least momentarily, on any program of temporary currency stabilization.

He indicated they had reached an informal understanding tantamount to a currency truce, as desired by President Roosevelt, without defacto (temporary) stabilization.

MacDonald's chief purpose in this statement seemed to be to allay apprehensions throughout the world that a breakdown of the currency stabilization efforts heralded a currency war.

Mother Sacrifices Life To Save Child in Fire

Nine Seek Briggs' Seat in Congress

Galveston, Tex., June 23 (A.P.).—Nine candidates are in the field for tomorrow's election to choose a successor to Clay Stone Briggs, representative in Congress from the Seventh Texas District, who died in Washington several months ago.

For the first time in years, a Negro was in the race. His entry was made possible because no primary was held and any citizen was permitted to obtain a place on the ballot by filing application.

The candidates are Julian Greer, of Elkhart, State senator; Clark W. Thompson, Theodore Stubbs and Thomas H. Dent, Negro attorney, all of Galveston; Nall Colson, of Conroe; Jake B. Clegg, of Trinity; James D. Pickett, of Palestine, R. E. Biggs, of Liberty, and Nat Patton, of Crockett.

WAR FOR JOBS RAGING IN U. S. DEPARTMENTS

Farley Bows to Demand of Congress Patronage Seekers.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

A grim war for jobs yesterday raged throughout Washington's Federal establishment.

While patronage seekers drove hard to unseat Federal office holders not securely entrenched, striking departmental budget adjustments forced others to cover.

A few of yesterday's kaleidoscopic developments were:

Dismissal of inefficient clerks along with married workers, and 15-day payless furloughs for those surviving, was ordered by the Commerce Department.

Farley Announcement.

Postmaster General James A. Farley announced in favor of removing Government workers "unfairly blanketed into the Civil Service" by Executive order, following a visit of a special Democratic congressional committee in quest of patronage.

Both Treasury and Postoffice Departments, shouldering between them the bulk of Uncle Sam's pay roll, renewed assurances that actual dismissals would be few, with furloughs generally used in their stead.

Public Printer George H. Carter announced that between 300 and 400 Government Printing Office employes will be dismissed by July 15, to take care of the office's $2,000,000 cut under the $13,000,000 congressional appropriation.

Emergency Agencies.

Exemption of employes in the new Federal emergency agencies from the 15 per cent Government pay cut was forecast as a result of a ruling by Comptroller General McCarl, applying specifically to the Federal Railroad Coordinator's office.

Department of Commerce officials were unable to estimate how many hundreds will lose their jobs as a result of the department's $10,000,000 budgetary slash.

Bureau chiefs have yet to report the effect of personnel reductions, according to Malcolm Kerlin, executive assistant to Secretary of Commerce Roper. He said dismissals will be based on an efficiency standard and two weeks notice given in every case. Every bureau will be hit, but the Bureau of Standards and the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce will bear the bulk of the burden.

It was said approximately 500 of the department's 600 married workers, whose mates also are employed in the Federal service, will be the first to go.

Bratton to Become U. S. Judge Today

Albuquerque, N. Mex., June 23 (A.P.).—Senator Sam G. Bratton (Democrat), New Mexico, will officially cease to be New Mexico's United States Senator tomorrow afternoon when he takes the oath of office as judge of the Tenth Federal Circuit Court of Appeals. Bratton was appointed to the bench by President Roosevelt. He announced tonight he was mailing his resignation as senator to Gov. Arthur Seligman.

Gov. Seligman is expected to name someone to the post before the regular session of Congress opens in Janu-

Many believe the governor will relinquish his office to Lieut. Gov. A. W. Hockenhull and be named to the Senate in Bratton's place. Representative Dennis Chavez also is being urged by many Democrats.

Insulting Handbills Rained on Berlin by Foreign Mystery Planes.

Berlin, Saturday, June 24 (A.P.).—A streamer headline reading "Down With the Unbearable Chains of the Versailles Treaty!" appeared today in Chancellor Hitler's newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, a few hours after police reported that unidentified foreign airplanes flew over the city, dropping handbills which insulted the government.

(Germany was denied an air force by the Versailles treaty.)

The police announcement said pursuit of the airplanes was impossible because the air police force has no aircraft.

The entire Berlin press shaped their editorial comment this morning also against Germany's helplessness in the air.

The Voelkischer Beobachter declared:

"Every bird is allowed to protect its nest. Only Germany, with clipped wings and pulled claws, must sit idly by while its nest is befouled."

The police report said:

"A number of unidentified foreign airplanes of a type unknown to Ger-

MACON ACCEPTED; OFF TO LAKEHURST

Is Formally Commissioned as Vessel of Navy at Akron Rites.

York, Pa., June 24—(Sat.)—A.P.—Flying to Lakehurst, N. J., the Macon passed over York at 1:26 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time) today.

Akron, Ohio, June 23 (A.P.).—The dirigible Macon, formally commissioned as a vessel in the U. S. Navy, left Akron tonight for her new base at Lakehurst, N. J., where she will be stationed temporarily.

A crowd of 20,000 gathered in the dusk to wave farewell to the Macon, constructed here at a cost of $2,450,000. It was 8:20 p. m., Eastern standard time, when the command, "up ship," sang out. The huge airship, the largest in the world, circled over the city a last time and then headed eastward toward the coast.

As was customary, naval officials refused to announce any itinerary. It was believed the Macon would head directly for Lakehurst, where she was expected to dock around sunrise, although it was indicated she probably would arrive some time before that.

There were 82 aboard the ship, skippered by Commander Alger Dresel. Among them were Rear Admiral Ernest J. King, chief of the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics; Commander Garland Fulton, chief of the Lighter-than-air Craft section of the Bureau; Commander R. D. Weyerbacker, material officer of the bureau; Paul W. Litchfield, president of the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation, and Dr. Karl Arnstein, designer of the Macon and her former sistership, the Akron.

The Macon was commissioned in a brief ceremony this afternoon as Admiral King stepped in front of the officers and crew, dressed in their "blues" and white caps, and read official documents from Secretary of the Navy Claude A. Swanson.

R. F. C. OUTLAY CLOSE TO HALF BILLION IN MAY

Loans, Relief, Bank Stock Purchases and Doles Are Listed.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.

Broadening its activities to care for the far-reaching relief burdens imposed upon the Federal Treasury by the special session of Congress, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation allocated approximately $500,000,000 of its authorized loan funds in the month of May this year.

The official monthly report submitted to Congress yesterday, in accordance with the Garner publicity amendment of April, 1932, shows a new high record for Government financial aid.

Roughly, $300,000,000 of the May total was allocated directly to the new Federal farm credit agency, for distribution under the Roosevelt emergency agricultural credit program.

Magnitude of New Tasks.

In the 16 months of its existence prior to May this year, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation's average monthly allocation of funds was approximately $125,000,000. The May figure reflects in part the magnitude of the new relief tasks undertaken in the special session. As yet, however, the corporation has hardly begun to dole out the $500,000,000 special relief fund authorized under the Wagner direct-aid bill.

When these demands begin to pour in upon the R. F. C. the May record for allocations may be bettered by millions of dollars.

Ordinary financial transactions, within the original purposes of the R. F. C. act, totaled $120,267,097 in May. Slightly more than $80,000,000 of this amount went to banks and trust companies, building associations, insurance companies and credit unions. A total of $23,300,000 was advanced to railroad applicants, and another $22,000,000 went to agricultural credit corporations throughout the country, before enactment of the special measure consolidating all farm loan activities.

Total Number of Loans.

The total number of loans during the month was 404, a figure considerably higher than the average for the first 12 months of the corporation's operations.

The largest single banking transaction of the month was a 5 per cent loan of $14,000,000 to the Anglo-California National Bank, of San Francisco.

The receiver for the Canal Bank & Trust Co., of New Orleans, was granted an additional loan of $13,230,000, and the receiver for the Hibernia Bank & Trust Co., also of New Orleans, got an additional $9,-

Lowell Tenements Menaced by Blaze

Lowell, Mass., June 23 (A.P.).—Fire, which threatened to sweep through the congested tenement area in the Acre district late today, destroyed two two-story municipal buildings and damaged an unoccupied six-tenement building with a total loss estimated officially at $50,000.

While the fire raged, dynamite stored in the destroyed sewer department building exploded. There was one severe blast and three minor explosions. No one was injured. A general alarm was sounded and apparatus from nearby towns assisted.

The cause of the fire was not determined.

King's Graciousness Allows Dixie Girl's Bow at Court

Rush of Ladies of U. S. Delegation Threatened to Take Coveted Honor From Miss McReynolds and Then George V Personally Intervened.

London, June 23 (U.P.).—Miss Margaret Henriette McReynolds, of Tennessee, a studious young woman of 21 with large brown eyes, auburn hair and an infectious smile, saw King George and Queen Mary at court tonight because the king had too soft a heart to turn her down.

Miss McReynolds, daughter of Representative Samuel D. McReynolds, a member of the United States delegation to the World Economic Conference, received special notice that she would be permitted to attend the court, despite a ruling that wives and daughters of delegates would be barred, there being too many who applied.

Originally she had been included in tonight's court presentation list, which includes 12 other American women, 1 from Washington, 1 from Staunton, Va., and 1 from Baltimore, Md. Joyfully, she made her preparations for the coveted honor. But her hopes faded into tears when Buckingham Palace issued a rule that ladies accompanying delegates to the economic parley were barred tonight at court.

The ruling was issued because the inclusion of Miss McReynolds' name had caused a rush of wives and daughters of other delegates to the United States Embassy, clamoring for a similar honor. This could not be granted to all, hence the flat rule was issued.

Miss McReynolds had purchased a special gown for the occasion and was heartbroken at the ruling.

Her father took the matter to the embassy again, and as a result, the Large Naval Project Also Taken Under Advisement.

Short Labor Week Is Likely to Be in Program.

By J. BERNARD McDONNELL.

The Public Works Board yesterday approved distribution of the $400,000,000 available for road construction throughout the country and took under advisement a $135,000,000 building program proposed by the War Department and a proposal by the Navy Department to limit to 30 to 40 hours the work week on new naval construction.

The District was allotted $1,918,469 for roads, while Virginia was given $7,416,757, and Maryland was given $3,564,527.

The Army construction program, which was turned over to a subcommittee of five for study, calls for expenditure of $2,707,856 in the District, $2,831,510 in Maryland and $4,469,865 in Virginia.

Details Are Taking Shape.

The Navy's shorter work week program was presented to the board by Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt at a meeting attended by Brig. Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, national recovery administrator. Later Secretary Ickes, chairman of the Cabinet board, said the Navy probably would provide for the shorter work week by inserting a clause in bids for new construction.

The road funds will be available on July 1, it was said, but exact details of its distribution have not been worked out. Some of it will be handed out as gifts to State and municipalities and some will be advanced as loans, but the rate of interest and provisions of the loans are to be decided. The allocation was worked out by Assistant Secretary of Agriculture R. G. Tugwell and approved by Secretary Ickes, chairman of the works board.

Under regulations prescribed by the board, State highway projects must submit to the board for approval their plans for expenditure of the sums advanced by the Government. Emphasizing the objective of relieving unemployment, the board said that it would require utilization of human labor instead of machinery where that is practicable.

Convict Labor Prohibited.

The regulations also prohibited use of convict labor or of materials made by convict labor, fixed a 30-hour work week and provided that a minimum wage must be set forth in all contracts.

While the works board was at work in the Interior Department Building, the National Recovery Administration was driving forward in the Commerce Department Building, with Gen. Johnson declaring that "the whole thing is coming on much faster than I thought it could."

The iron and steel industries are working night and day to draft a code to be submitted, and other in-

Bank Cashier Gets Long Term on Forgery Count

Monticello, Ind., June 23 (A.P.).—Carl C. Middlestadt, former cashier of the State Bank, of Monon, pleaded guilty today to a charge of forgery and was sentenced to serve two to fourteen years in prison and was fined $1,000.

Middlestadt disappeared from Monon after the bank closed in 1929, and was arrested recently in St. Louis.

ESCAPING CHLORINE GASES CITY SECTOR

Many Overcome, 44 Sent to Hospital When Defective Tank Springs Leak.

Indianapolis, June 23 (A.P.).—Chlorine gas escaping from a defective tank at a warehouse spread over a district several blocks wide here today. Many persons in the neighborhood were overcome and 44, including 17 firemen, were taken to the city hospital for treatment. No one was seriously affected, however.

Fearing disaster some frantic appeals were made to the State militia and to Fort Benjamin Harrison, U. S. Army post, for gas masks but a brisk breeze soon dissipated the fumes.

A police squad donned gas masks and carried the leaking tank to the city dump.

A number of children playing in the neighborhood were overcome, but they found their plight was not so bad when ambulance doctors prescribed as an antidote liberal quantities of soda pop.

The leaking tank was being loaded on a truck when a valve apparently loosened and discharged a quantity of the gas. The truck driver toppled over. Several small boys playing in the neighborhood fell as the fumes spread.

Police and firemen soon arrived and began an evacuation of the district.

Some of the firemen exposed to the gas did not become ill until after they had returned to their stations. Fifteen firemen from one engine house were sent to the hospital when they became ill.

Sister of Banker Stolen and Freed

Sedalia, Mo., June 23 (A.P.).—Miss Maurine Harris, 35, sister of a banker, was kidnaped late today by a man who released her at Higginsville, Mo., but made away with her motor car and Negro chauffeur, William Gray.

As she was leaving a physician's office, a man got into the back seat of the car and forced the chauffeur, by pistol, to drive them out of town.

Miss Harris is the sister of Henry R. Harris, president of the Third National Bank here. Police said the abductor's motive appeared to be theft of the car.

CAR FERRY RESCUES WOMAN FROM LAKE

Believed Only Survivor of Four Flying Over Water to Milwaukee.

Traverse City, Mich., June 23 (A.P.).—A wireless message tonight said that an Ann Arbor car ferry had picked up Mrs. Charles Rennie, jr., 30, believed to be the only survivor of a party of four prominent Traverse City persons who took off on an airplane flight across Lake Michigan to Milwaukee yesterday morning.

Others in the party, believed to have perished when the plane crashed in the lake, were Charles Rennie, jr., 33, vice president of the Rennie Oil Co., here; James Gillette, 30, his uncle, owner and pilot of the plane, and Peter Keller, a mechanic.

Mrs. Rennie was clinging to an empty gasoline tank when sighted by the car ferry, No. 7, of the Ann Arbor line, tonight 15 miles off shore at Frankfort. She was near complete exhaustion and unable to give a coherent account of the tragedy. She had been in the water since some time yesterday.

Little information about the trip was available here. The four were believed to have taken off some time Thursday morning for a pleasure trip to Milwaukee. Gillette maintained the plane for charter, and it had been used frequently by Rennie in making business trips. The plane, originally a seaplane, was understood to have been remodeled so that it did not have water landing gear.

Charles Rennie, sr., president of the Rennie Oil Co., is seriously ill at his home and could not be reached.

Mrs. James Gillette, mother of the plane's pilot, was at a cottage some miles distant without telephonic communication. She had not been apprised of the report tonight.

The car ferry, according to the message relayed here from Frankfort, Mich., is bound for Kewanee, Wis.

Man Is Seriously Hurt As Wife Takes Wheel

Just after he had relinquished the wheel of their automobile to his wife yesterday, Walter Golding, 33, of Syracuse, N. Y., received injuries from which he was reported dying in Alexandria Hospital. Mrs. Golding lost control of the car and it plunged off the Mount Vernon Memorial Highway and crashed into a tree.

Mr. Golding's skull was crushed so badly that physicians at the hospital could not even attempt an operation to save his life. Mrs. Golding was treated for minor cuts and lacerations. The accident occurred near Fort Hunt, Va.

They had taken off from Port Credit, Ont.

It is expected the party, which is visiting several Canadian mines, will visit Kirkland Lake, Ont., and Noranda, Que., before returning to Toronto and New York.

PARLIAMENT HEARS ROOSEVELT PRAISE

Chancellor of Exchequer Is Unfavorably Compared to President.

London, June 23 (A.P.).—Conservative and labor members of Parliament joined today in praising President Roosevelt as a man of action and comparing Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain unfavorably with the American Chief Executive.

"The people of Great Britain would rather have Franklin Roosevelt as chancellor of the exchequer," said the labor member, Josiah C. Wedgwood.

"When Mr. Roosevelt said he was going to raise prices the world believed he would do it," added Robert Boothby, a Conservative. "But when Mr. Chamberlain said he hoped to raise prices nobody would believe he would do so by his policy.

Chamberlain Present.

Mr. Chamberlain was present when the attack was launched on him in the closing stages of the budget debate. Cries of "no" came from Government benches when Col. Wedgwood said Mr. Roosevelt would be preferred for the financial post.

"Mr. Roosevelt did something and did not merely talk," he said. "Every year Mr. Chamberlain got up and said prices must be restored, but no action was taken. While we have been talking and talking and doing contradictory things, America has acted."

He said depreciation of the United States dollar in relation to the pound was being effected purposely by America to make possible the recovery of export trade.

"People Doubt Parley."

"I do not think many people have much hope for the World Economic Conference, certainly none at all unless British statesmen and financiers manage to see this problem in the same light as it is seen in America," he declared.

Boothby said the budget could not be balanced unless Great Britain took definite steps to raise commodity prices, and he urged "ruthless cuts in interest charges and wages to cut the government's expenses £100,000,000 ($420,000,000) annually."

"Mr. Roosevelt has seen the light, though he has shocked the city (financial district) of London," said Boothby. "The British government doubtless would be shocked by the American public works bill, but I hope it will be continuously shocked by Mr. Roosevelt, because if a policy of controlled inflation succeeds in the United States it will spread and prove to be the salvation of Great Britain."

Blind Will Be Permitted To Sell in U.S. Buildings

(Associated Press.)

The rigid rule against selling articles in Federal buildings has been amended just enough to permit blind persons to dispose of pencils and newspapers.

This was the result of an appeal to President Roosevelt by societies interested in assisting the blind. They successfully pleaded that a blind person selling papers outside the Post-office or other Federal building should be allowed to find shelter inside and do business through the corridors. The amended order does not mean, however, that blind persons are given a rent-free newsstand in the Federal building corridor.

Baruch Leaves Capital For Visit in New York

(Associated Press.)

Bernard M. Baruch, whom President Roosevelt has asked to serve as an unofficial adviser to Government heads during his absence, left yesterday for an indefinite stay in New York.

On July 15, Baruch plans to sail for France for a vacation at Vichy. It was asserted yesterday that this could not be connected with the London Economic Conference. Baruch said the time of his return to the Capital depended upon developments.

Order Exempts Bureau Chief From Retirement

(Associated Press.)

Dr. William A. Taylor, chief of the Bureau of Plant Industry, yesterday on his seventieth birthday was exempted by an Executive order from compulsory retirement from Government service for age.

He entered the Department of Agriculture in 1891 and became chief of the bureau in 1913 under Secretary Houston. He is credited with being a leading authority on the growing, shipping and storage of fruit.

PARIS DEPUTY ASKS END OF CONFERENCE

cord on issues not immediately connected with the stabilization question.

Committees Rush Work.

The development of a practicable permanent monetary standard, the elimination of artificial trade restrictions, the checking of government subsidies for inefficient industries and prevention of flooding of markets were the principal topics on which the delegates concentrated.

"We will go as far as we can and fill in the blanks later," said Finance Minister Georges Bonnet, the chief of the French delegation, before leaving for a short stay in Paris.

Chairman MacDonald, receiving the representatives of the press of all nations, made an eloquent announcement of his determination to keep the conference going and his faith that it would achieve success despite obvious difficulties.

MacDonald Is Determined.

"All the work that can go on will go on," he said.

"The suggestion for adjournment of the conference is foolish and can not be imagined."

Progress made in the private meetings of committees which are studying silver and central banking practices was described in high American quarters as encouraging. Discussion is still concentrated on the Pittman resolution dealing with monetary uses of gold and silver.

American and British quarters expressed great hopes over an indicated agreement between the two English-speaking states on central banking and price-raising policies.

Building Atoms Artificially Under Control Is Claimed

"Magnetic Slingshot" Hurls Deutons at Carbon Particles, Increasing Their Weight, Scientists at Chicago Conference Are Told.

Chicago, June 23 (A.P.).—Building atoms artificially, by a process like firing bullets into a lead plate to make it heavier, was reported today to the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The artificial atoms are of a comparatively rare kind of carbon, a little heavier than the ordinary carbon such as is formed when a match burns. The process of building the atoms was described by Dr. E. O. Lawrence, of the University of California, in connection with new experiments in atom splitting.

Artificial atoms have been built before, but only by an uncontrolled process of letting "alpha particles" shot out by radio-active substances, such as uranium, strike against materials and change them into something else.

Now Dr. Lawrence has built atoms by a controlled method, shooting "deutons," at high speed by a kind of "magnetic slingshot" at the atoms of carbon. This is an extension of experiments he reported earlier in the week.

When a deuton strikes an atom of the ordinary carbon, part of the deuton penetrates it and stays inside, while another fragment flies off. The deuton fragment inside the carbon atom adds weight to it, so that an atom of carbon heavier than before is produced.

This building up of heavier atoms out of lighter ones is a kind of transmutation of the elements that in the past has been difficult. It was easier to split heavy atoms into light ones. Although a theoretical realization of the possibility of creating matter artificially, it has no immediate practical use because only about one in every million deutons produces an atom of the heavy carbon.

The "deuton bullets" consist of the cores of hydrogen atoms, containing one neutron and one proton. The deutons are literally whirled about on the slingshot principle by a huge magnet until they are traveling with an energy of 1,500,000 volts.

Then they are "let go." When they strike the carbon atoms the neutron part of the deuton penetrates the carbon atom. The proton flies off into space with an energy of about 7,500,000 volts, showing that it is held attached to the deuton by that much energy, but the impact is enough to break the tie.

Though Dr. Lawrence so far is certain of having built only heavy carbon atoms by this process, he said it may be possible to use it in building other varying forms of elements, possibly even heavy atoms of gold. This would require far more energy, however. In these experiments he was associated with Dr. M. Stanley Livingston, Dr. Malcolm C. Henderson and Prof. G. N. Lewis.

PRESIDENT PLEASED BY LONDON REPORTS

Roosevelt Still Denies He Will Go to England to Attend Conference.

Pulpit Harbor, Me., June 23 (A.P.). Elated over the progress of the London conference, President Roosevelt let go today and shot his schooner up the Maine coast far ahead of schedule under a driving northwest wind and bright sun.

Pulling into this isolated harbor at the tip of Northaven Island in Penobscot Bay, Mr. Roosevelt took occasion to speak through his secretary, Stephen T. Early, for the first time on his vacation jaunt.

The statement of Early expressed the President's satisfaction over the present trend of the events at London and denied fresh reports he was going to the London parley.

Early's statement, thrown aboard the newspaper craft from the destroyer Ellis, follows:

"Recurring and widely published reports that the President will board the cruiser Indianapolis for a rush trip to London are without foundation in fact. The President plans to complete his vacation cruise and return to Washington as scheduled.

"At no time has the President considered going to London and he sees no reason whatsoever to do so now. Reports from London, received in the last 24 hours, have been altogether satisfactory to the President.

"Although the President is far up the Maine coast, he is and has been in continuous communication with Washington at all times since he left, the State Department has kept him fully advised of all developments in the economic conference."

The declaration revealed that Mr. Roosevelt has kept a close finger on the delicate events of the last few days which saw the American delegation win its test for a postponement of the contest over the stabilization of currency.

With three new "boots" on board the Amberjack II, today, his two youngest sons, Franklin, jr., and John and their pal, A. Y. Paul, of Philadelphia, the President gave his men a real workout.

The day's trip brought Mr. Roosevelt almost half way from Portland to Campobello Island, N. B., where he had expected to arrive a week hence.

FINANCE DIRECTOR ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Veteran Illinois Republican Shoots Self as Audit Shows Accounts Are Short.

Peoria, Ill., June 23 (A.P.).—Garrett De Forrest Kinney, former director of State finances, wrote his own climax to an investigation of a $536,000 shortage in his accounts today by sending a bullet through his skull.

The shot pierced a part of his brain, tore two holes through the skull and tonight the veteran Republican leader was in a dangerous condition from loss of blood and shock. His physician feared infection, and said the crisis would not be reached for several days.

Kinney is 64 years old. Until last year he had been for many years a member, part of the time chairman and treasurer, of the State Republican committee, a leading manufacturer and bank director here, former State treasurer, and from 1928 to 1932 director of the State department of finance.

For several weeks the new State administration had been pouring over his books, and suit had been started in Federal and State courts to recover $352,803 of State funds deposited by Kinney in the Ridgeley Farmers State Bank of Springfield and the Ayers National Bank of Jacksonville, now closed.

Brame Now Slated To Be Dry Official

(Associated Press.)

Authoritative sources said yesterday S. R. Brame, of Richmond, Va., would be appointed prohibition administrator for the Fourth-Middle Atlantic District, effective July 1. The district embraces Virginia, Maryland, West Virginia, North and South Carolina and the District of Columbia.

Brame will succeed R. Q. Merrick, of Richmond. Merrick's prospective status after the reorganization could not be learned. Some of the administrators of the Republican regime have been demoted and kept in service.

Brame was associated with the Internal Revenue Bureau during President Wilson's administration, but has not been in Government service for some years.

GRIM WAR FOR JOBS RAGES IN FEDERAL DEPARTMENTS

Those untouched occupy key positions.

The 15-day payless furlough will be uniformly applied throughout the departmental service, with high and low alike affected, and the furloughs spread throughout the 1934 fiscal year, Mr. Kerlin said.

Postmaster General Farley yesterday received the special Democratic congressional delegation seeking jobs for constituents. He listened to their appeal that about 5,000 jobs, covered into the Civil Service under Republican Presidents, be uncovered by executive order. He promised to lay their complaint before the President.

Later the Postmaster General told newspapermen:

"I think there are a lot of people blanketed into the Civil Service by executive order who should not be there. Personally, I think they should be removed. I know of a case where 200 riders on the Texas border were blanketed in this manner. I see no justification for that."

Postal Service Situation.

Mr. Farley, who some time ago announced that nine-day furloughs will be imposed in lieu of dismissals in the postal service during the first three months of the new fiscal year, yesterday announced that furlough regulations governing the Postoffice departmental personnel in Washington will be issued within a week. He reiterated there will be few if any dismissals.

Regarding the special congressional patronage committee's efforts to replace Library of Congress employes with Democratic appointees, he said he will practice a "hands-off" policy.

"The library, of course, is a congressional proposition," he said. "They should handle it themselves."

High officials of the Treasury Department said yesterday there would be only a small number of dismissals in that department during the next fiscal year. Plans for spreading the work among the existing personnel to take care of the 10 per cent budget cut will be completed in the next few days. A two weeks' payless furlough has been discussed.

Comptroller General McCarl's ruling yesterday that employes taken on by Federal Rail Coordinator Joseph B. Eastman's office may not be cut 15 per cent in pay, was interpreted as applying to virtually all of the new agencies set up by the Roosevelt administration. The rail coordinator's office is somewhat different from the other agencies, however, inasmuch as the railroad carriers share its expenses.

Ruling Made by McCarl.

The rail coordinator asked the Comptroller General:

"Will persons appointed under the terms of the emergency railroad transportation act be subjected to the 15 per cent reduction in salary?

"Permit me to call attention to the fact that application of the 15 per cent reduction will in this instance serve no useful purpose, but will only be a source of inconvenience and annoyance."

The Comptroller General ruled:

"As the provisions of section 2 of the emergency railroad transportation act of June 16, 1933, quoted in your submission, specifically excepts employes appointed under the terms of that act from the Civil Service laws and the classification act of 1923, as amended, and authorizes the coordinator to fix the compensation of such employes, it follows that at the date of the approval of that act, June 16, 1933, there was no existing law, schedule, executive order or departmental order by which the compensation of such employes could be determined.

Veterans' Administration.

"Accordingly, there is no basic compensation upon which to apply the percentage reduction established by the executive order issued under section 3, title 2 of the act of March 20, 1933. I have to advise, therefore, that the percentage reductions under title 2 of the act of March 20, 1933, are not applicable to employes appointed by you under the terms of section 2 of the emergency railroad transportation act."

It was indicated yesterday at the General Accounting Office that there may be some dismissals, and furloughs in that agency to conform with the $400,000 reduction in appropriations under the current year. At the Veterans' Administration, it was similarly stated that furloughs rather than dismissals would be in order to keep within the budget.

COMMITTEE NAMED TO SEEK CIVIC AID

Group Urged to Get Appropriations for Recreation Centers.

A special committee was appointed last night by the Federation of Civic Associations, at a meeting held in the board room at the District Building, to request the District Commissioners to recommend to the Bureau of the Budget expenditure of funds under the relief public works program, for development of recreational centers, for educational purposes and for public roads in communities where colored citizens live in large numbers.

Specifically, the committee was directed to urge development of recreational centers at the Banneker center, in the Northwest section; at the school center on Kingman Lake, in the Northeast; to the north of the Chesapeake Beach Railway, in Burrville, and at a place to be designated in Southwest Washington.

Road Widening Asked.

It was directed to ask for widening of Benning road from Minnesota avenue to the District line, for development of Forty-ninth street from Eastern avenue to Central avenue, for a new bridge at Forty-ninth street and Deane avenue, over Watts Creek; for sidewalks on Forty-ninth street, for extension of Grant street in the same section from Fifty-third street to the District line, for widening and improvement of Sheriff road, and for extension of Maryland avenue from Bladensburg road to an intersection with Kenilworth avenue.

The committee was also directed to ask for consideration on the preferred list for construction of a colored senior high school to be located in the school center on Benning road, near Kingman Lake; for construction of an additional unit to the Browne Junior High School and an addition to the Charles Young Platoon School, and for the purchase of 12 acres of land on Benning road between Twenty-second and Twenty-fourth streets, the remaining portion of the original Markham tract.

Committee Named.

George Beasley, president of the federation; Howard D. Woodson, Corinne E. Martin, John C. Payne, W. H. Lewis, Samuel D. Matthews, A. L. Mundy and Maj. H. D. Queen were named on this committee, and instructed to advise with Gen. Hugh Johnson concerning employment of Negroes in positions outside of the Civil Service in view of discriminations alleged to have arisen under that service because of the required photographic identification of candidates for positions.

The federation directed a set of rules for establishment of an annual award of merit to a colored resident for work in civic organization, procedure or accomplishment, to be submitted to its constituent associations for consideration and approval. The rules contemplated award of a scroll, with citations, by the federation, to a citizen designated by a board of seven judges, annually.

A resolution of cooperation with The Washington Post in a movement for reduction of the price of milk in this community was adopted.

Senator George Winning Battle With Pneumonia

Senator George, of Georgia, was described last night at the Naval Hospital as "coming along fine" in his fight to recover from an attack of pneumonia.

His tempearture, which had been running a little high in the last few days, was back to normal.

Home Loan Banks Ready in 30 Days

(Associated Press.)

Within the next 30 days the Home Loan Bank board hopes to have the Home Owners Loan Corporation going to the relief of mortgage-burdened persons all over the country.

The corporation, which has a capital stock of $200,000,000, has authority under the law to issue $2,000,000,000 of 18-year 4 per cent bonds, the interest on which is guaranteed by the Government.

Under the plan of operation, a person whose home is threatened with loss by mortgage foreclosure could borrow bonds from the corporation up to 80 per cent of the value of the property and exchange them for the mortgage. This would be canceled and a new mortgage taken by the corporation to run for 15 years and carry 5 per cent interest.

DIXIE GIRL AT COURT BY AID OF GEORGE V

lord chamberlain at Buckingham Palace sent back word that the special ruling on the ladies of the delegates did not apply to Miss McReynolds. The royal command, it was found, had been sent her before the order barring the others, and it could not be altered. She could come.

King George, who signified his intention of sitting with Queen Mary in the court ceremony tonight for the first time this season, made the decision personally, when he heard of how the young lady from the South felt over the incident. He felt, it was said, that this was the only way out of an embarrassing situation.

It was emphasized that the ruling in her case was not discriminatory, she having been given the command in advance of the rule.

The king, recovered from his painful attack of rheumatism, which kept him from the other four courts this season, was on his throne to nod and smile slightly when Miss McReynolds curtsied before him.

The other American women presented at tonight's court, the last this season, included:

Miss Alexandria Bacon, Westbury, N. Y.; Miss Henrietta Worth Bingham, daughter of Ambassador Robert W. Bingham; Miss Victoria Brady, Gladstone, N. J.; Mrs. Paul Hays, Staunton, Va.; Miss Carol Hulings, Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. Gladys Kemp, New York; Mrs. Henry S. Koelsch, jr., Scarborough-on-Hudson, N. Y.; Mrs. John W. Monahan, Chicago; Miss Eleanor Converse Preston, Washington; Miss Helen Robbins, Washington; Mrs. Linton Wells, Glens Falls, N. Y.; Miss Barbara Wertheim, New York, N. Y.

Coal Producers Form Work Code

(Associated Press.)

With a commendation from Gen. Hugh S. Johnson before them, bituminous coal producers from Pennsylvania to Iowa assembled yesterday to consider their part in President Roosevelt's industrial recovery program.

The National Coal Association reported upon regional meetings of its members held in Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and Chicago.

A group of Northern operators who have formed a new organization, National Coals Associates, Inc., completed a code here and carried it back to associations they represented. A central Pennsylvania group arranged to meet, probably Monday, in Altoona, Pa., to codify its ideas.

Gas Stock Profits Told in Testimony

(Associated Press.)

Testimony that the public paid as high as $28 a share for a stock issue that returned the Arkansas Natural Gas Corporation an average price of $7.69 a share was given yesterday in the Federal Trade Commission's public utilities investigation.

W. B. S. Winans, of Henry L. Doherty & Co., fiscal agents for the corporation, stated that $28 was "the extreme price" paid by the public for the corporation's class A stock issue during the 1929 boom market.

The late Leopold Ruben donated funds to build the pool on a site furnished by the city.

Mules Doff Snowshoes As Sign of Summer

Dunsmuir, Calif., June 23 (A.P.).—The pack mules have doffed their snowshoes, so residents in this section of California know summer is here.

All winter and until the middle of June the mules wore snowshoes to carry mail and supplies to snowbound settlements. But despite these summery signs, a crew of 80 men still was occupied cutting passage through snowdrifts, many of them 60 feet high, on the Salmon Mountain road.

ADVENTISTS URGED TO MINISTRY'S DUTY

Dr. Detwiler Says Highest Ambition Should Be Salvation of Others.

The highest ambition a human could have is that of rescuing fellow-creatures from the "thralldom of sin," declared the Rev. Dr. H. J. Detwiler before the Potomac Conference of Seventh Day Adventists at Takoma Park yesterday.

Stressing the sacred responsibility of the ministry, Dr. Detwiler, who is president of the Columbia Union Conference, with supervision over denominational activities in the Middle Atlantic States, charged the ministers and other conferees to engage in every branch of church activity, and said ministers of the gospel who fail to win souls to salvation are a hindrance to the progress of the Christian church.

Dr. Detwiler declared that "the seventh day, Saturday, is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God" and asserted that "nowhere in all the New Testament can anyone find one word where Christ or any of His disciples substituted another day for its observance."

A conference high light will be the celebration this evening of the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of the Virginia Conference, now merged in the Potomac Conference. The Rev. F. Gilbert will officiate twice today, speaking at the 8 a. m. service and taking charge of the 11 a. m. service.

The camp meeting will close tomorrow night with an address by Dr. F. D. Nichol on "The Home of the Saved." Regular meetings will be held during the day, beginning with the 6 o'clock sessions, in which Mr. Gilbert will have charge for the grown-ups and the Rev. C. L. Bond for the younger people.

Filipino Workers Back After Strike

Honolulu, June 23 (A.P.).—Hundreds of Filipino plantation workers who struck Tuesday on this island of Oahu went back to their jobs today, and the possibility of violent clashes seemed ended.

Three hundred strikers continued out at Aiea and the mill remained closed, but officials expressed the opinion difficulties would be adjusted today.

At Waimanalo, where 400 quit work yesterday, the men returned after upholding the manager's right to discharge two Filipino laborers who were said to have threatened a Filipino overseer.

East Meets West In Forest Camps

Mount Rainier National Park, Wash., June 23 (A.P.).—Under the big trees at the base of Mount Rainier, East is meeting West and liking it.

The vanguard of Civilian Conservation Corps workers from Illinois and New York arrived today, to be followed by scores of others from the Eastern Seaboard.

Maj. O. A. Tomlinson, superintendent of the park, announced they would clean up roadsides, remove fire hazards, such as slashings and blowdowns, repair and construct trails, fight fires and work in tree disease control camps.

Manslaughter Charges Removed in Auto Crash

Charges of manslaughter which were filed against J. Carlton Knight, of Rockville, Md., as the result of an accident in which Henry E. King, of Clarksburg, Md., was killed May 12, were dismissed yesterday in Montgomery County Police Court by Judge Donald A. DeLashmutt.

King died at the Georgetown Hospital as the result of injuries and burns received when his truck turned over and caught fire after a head-on collision with the Knight car on the Rockville Pike near Rockville.

Mowing Machine Driver Killed by Capital Truck

Wilmington, Del., June 23 (A.P.).—A collision between a mowing machine and a truck carrying four automobiles caused the death of the operator of the mowing machine. The victim, William Chestnut, 57, Negro, of Glasgow, was cutting grass along the roadside near Glasgow.

Anton W. Filander, of Baltimore, was held under $5,000 bail on a manslaughter charge as the driver of the truck. It was said to be owned by the Maryland Motor Transportation Co., of Washington.

Town to Vote on Noise Of Roosters and Cats

Sierra Madre, Calif., June 23 (A.P.). The voters of this little mountainside community will decide June 27 whether to license yowling of a midnight and crowing of a dawn.

Lindbergh Mountain Estate To Be Child Welfare Home

Hopewell, N. J., June 23 (A.P.).—The Lindbergh estate in the lonely Sourland Mountains, with its gabled white farmhouse from which Charles Augustus Lindbergh, jr., was stolen by kidnapers, is to become a center for children's welfare work.

Whether Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh are donating the property, an act which would suggest the projected center is to be a memorial to their murdered son, or whether a purchase price is to be paid could not be learned.

Such details as were made known, however, indicate the Lindberghs have an interest in the plan, to the extent, at least, of becoming trustees in the corporation which will direct the affairs of the property, henceforth to be known as "High Field."

From the office of Col. Henry L. Breckinridge, legal adviser to Col. Lindbergh, the following statement was issued:

"The property of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh in Hunterdon County, N. J., will be used in connection with welfare work for children.

"The project has not developed with sufficient definiteness to date to admit an announcement of the specific plans."

No transfer papers have been filed as yet in Hunterdon County, in which the house and a great part of the 500-acre estate are situated.

In papers of incorporation, filed today in Jersey City with Gustav Bach, clerk of Hudson County, it was stated the purpose of the corporation is "to provide for the welfare of children, including their education, training, hospitalization or other allied purposes, without discrimination in regard to race or creed."

Besides Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh and Col. Breckinridge, Abraham Flexner, the educator, and Owen R. Lovejoy are named trustees. James M. Phelan is listed as statutory agent.

The house, built on a lower slope of a mountainous region, steeped in legends of eerie happenings, is only about 2 years old. The Lindberghs began spending week-ends there late in 1931. The kidnaping was on March 1, 1932, and little more than ten weeks later the baby's body was found about 5 miles away at a spot from which the house, visible for miles around, could be seen.

The Lindberghs spent little time there after the finding of their son's body, apparently preferring the home of Mrs. Lindbergh's mother, Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, at Englewood.

M'MATH KIDNAPING CASE TO JURY TODAY

Kenneth Buck's Mother Is Placed on Stand and Defense Rests.

Barnstable, Mass., June 23 (A.P.).—The defense of Kenneth Buck, the hooded man of the McMath kidnaping, closed today after his mother testified in his behalf.

Mrs. Bertha Buck told of her son's adversities; his inability to get a job and said he was a "good boy."

She has been sitting in the courtroom every day since the trial opened on June 12. Her testimony today followed upon that of Kenneth, who repeated sensational charges made yesterday.

After Mrs. Buck testified, the defense announced that it rested and Judge Edward F. Hanify adjourned court until tomorrow, saying that the closing arguments and his charge would be delivered at that time.

Goes to Jury Today.

It was expected the fate of the defendants would be given into the hands of the jury of Cape Cod tradesmen about 2 p. m., Eastern standard time, tomorrow.

Kenneth and his brother Cyril, are charged with the kidnaping of Margaret (Peggy) McMath, 10-year-old Harwichport girl, who was abducted from the Harwich Center School on May 2 and returned three days later after $60,000 ransom had been paid. The money was recovered in Kenneth's home. The girl had been kept in an isolated cranberry shack and under the flooring of a vacant house.

Ordeal on Stand.

Kenneth, charged with having performed the actual kidnaping operations, startled the courtroom yesterday when he said he worked on instructions of an occult figure, "Bill," a bootlegger from Hyannis, who first talked with him of a liquor deal and later "hooked" him into the kidnaping. He said "Bill" had told him it was not an "actual kidnaping" because Neil C. McMath, father of the child, "knew all about it" and "needed money." Today he reiterated this.

Kenneth spent more than four hours and a half on the stand today completing his recital of the events of the kidnaping and then answering the questions of the district attorney, William C. Crossley.

Crossley subjected him to a succession of interrogations, but Kenneth, contrary to previous deportment, when his testimony was interspersed with tears, bore up well under the grilling and several times flashed defiance at his interrogator.

DISBURSING OFFICER HERE HELD IN WEST

State Department Employe Arrested on Charge of Larceny of $300.

Francis J. Sickel, 47, special disbursing officer in the State Department, who was indicted Wednesday on a charge of appropriating to his own use $300 of the funds set aside for the International Radio Telegraph Conference, at Madrid, Spain, last year, was arrested yesterday in Long Beach, Calif., where he was visiting with his parents, according to information received from the Associated Press.

The indictment alleged the money was taken from an account Sickel maintained with the Treasury Department for the use of the conference members.

Information from Long Beach stated that Sickel was charged with larceny of the $300 from the Washington Loan & Trust Co. When arraigned, Sickel is reported to have waived preliminary hearing and expressed willingness to return to Washington and face the charge. He was remanded to jail in default of $5,000 bond.

Religious Riot in Madrid Causes Injury to Many

Madrid, June 23 (A.P.).—An undetermined number of persons were injured, at least two of them probably fatally, here today as gangs paraded through the streets brandishing weapons and ripping from houses and public buildings religious banners placed in celebration of the Sacred Heart Holy Day.

(A religious law nationalizing church property and turning religious orders into civil societies recently was put into force by the Spanish government.)

All Itching

Not Due to Poison Ivy, as Its Double Is Found in Garden Plant.

A malign quality of a seemingly innocuous garden plant, "snow-on-the-mountain," was revealed yesterday by the Department of Agriculture.

The milky juice on the skin causes an eruption similar to that caused by poison ivy, it was said.

The announcement of this property of the plant was after several Washingtonians had reported "ivy poisoning" when they knew they had not been near any ivy.

Dr. James F. Couch, of the poison plants laboratory, declared that the juice of the plant has such corrosive properties that in Texas it has been used to brand cattle.

DRY AGENT'S KILLER COMMITS SUICIDE

Iowan Wanted in Death of U. S. Officer, Shoots Self When Trapped.

Creston, Iowa, June 23 (A.P.).—Claude Ridout committed suicide today when trapped in a cornfield, and shortly afterward his wife told police, they said, that it was he who killed Federal Prohibition Agent Harry H. Elliott.

Mrs. Ridout, who said she accompanied the twice-convicted prohibition violator on last night's ride for liquor, described, police said, the deadly gunfire which followed their arrest by Elliott and his fellow officer, A. A. Murphy, on a highway near here.

Her husband got out of their car, officers quoted her as saying, and opened fire, killing Elliott, then approached the officers' car and fired at Murphy through the windshield, wounding him.

"It was so awful I covered my eyes part of the time," she said. "I called to Claude and told him to get in the car and away from the place.

They fled through Maryville, Mo., then back into Iowa through Lorimor to a point near Creston, where her husband went into the fields where he was found today.

Mrs. Ridout was held in Mahaska County Jail while County Attorney Arlo W. Palmer debated whether to charge her with assisting the escape of a fugitive or accessory to murder.

Senator Bulkley Backs Glass-Steagall Measure

Hot Springs, Va., June 23 (A.P.).—The guarantee bank fund provision of the Glass-Steagall bank act, severely criticized here yesterday by Francis H. Sisson, president of the American Bankers Association, was warmly defended today by Senator Robert J. Bulkley, of Ohio, a member of the Senate subcommittee which was instrumental in drafting the legislation.

Speaking before the convention of the Virginia State Bankers Association, Senator Bulkley said critics of the measure were assailing it before it had been given an opportunity to prove its effectiveness.

Adverse Weather Holds Italian Airplane Armada

Orbetello, Italy (Saturday), June 24 (A.P.).—Weather reports at midnight were so unfavorable that Italian fliers who had planned to take off at dawn in 25 seaplanes for a flight by stages to the Century of Progress in Chicago had virtually abandoned hope of departure today.

It was to be decided today whether to take off Sunday, going by way of Bordeaux, France. If such a decision is made, the Armada, under the command of Gen. Italo Balbo, air minister, was determined to fly 1,562 miles to Londonberry, northern Ireland, without stop.

U. S. Holds Aloof In Seizure of Beer

Atlanta, June 23 (A.P.).—A three-judge Federal court today ruled it did not have jurisdiction in a suit involving the seizure of truck loads of beer in Cobb (Marietta) County, because the seizure did not involve a sum of more than $3,000. The court did not pass on the issues of the case.

The suit was an attempt by H. M. Rollins, of Chattanooga, Tenn., and R. R. Richmire, of Jacksonville, Fla., to prevent Sheriff E. M. Legg from seizing alleged interstate shipments of beer through Cobb County.

The truck owners asked an injunction to prevent seizure of the beverage. The only course left for the petitioners is an appeal to the State Supreme Court from a ruling of a superior court judge who also refused to grant an injunction.

Head of Baltimore Bank Is Sentenced

Baltimore, June 23 (A.P.).—Webster Bell, president of the closed Park Bank of Baltimore, today was sentenced to serve three years in the Maryland State penitentiary for conspiracy to defraud depositors.

Herbert M. Hartman, a director, was sentenced to serve one year in the city jail, and Wilbur F. Parker, a depositor, to serve six months in the city jail on similar conspiracy charges. Parker's sentence was suspended.

The three men were among the largest borrowers from the bank, which closed August 11, 1932. They owed the institution more than $600,000 when it closed its doors, most of which is still unpaid. Clinton O. Richardson, chairman of the board of directors, was tried on one charge with Bell, but committed suicide before the judges sitting on the case announced their decision.

An elaborate plant for distilling whisky, operated on a farm near Marlboro, was confiscated by Prince Georges County police last night. Occupants of the farm were charged with manufacture and possession of liquor.

Fendall Vermillion and his son, William, were arrested. The raid was made by Sergt. A. W. Hepburn, Elon Turner and A. G. Naylor, county police.

GEORGIA GOVERNOR TEARS UP SUMMONS

Process Server Ousted on Presenting Notice of Suit at Legion Banquet.

Atlanta, June 23 (A.P.).—The Governor of Georgia today tore up a notification of a suit filed against him in a State superior court and hurled the fragments at the departing back of the process server.

The process server, a deputy sheriff, and a companion officer were arrested by Adjt. Gen. Lindley Camp under the authority of martial law and taken to headquarters of the National Guard.

Gov. Talmadge was attending an American Legion luncheon when Deputy Sheriff Charles Poole approached him with papers issued by the Fulton Superior Court in connection with a $25,000 damage suit against the governor and the adjutant general filed by Deputy Sheriff S. C. Wooten.

Process Server Ousted.

"What is this?" cried the governor, and upon being told he tore the papers into pieces and threw them at the retreating deputy, ordering the adjutant general to remove him from the building along with Deputy Sheriff W. G. Smith, who accompanied him.

Previously the governor had instructed National Guardsmen at the capitol that any process servers were to be escorted off the grounds and their papers destroyed. He issued the order after being informed that in his suit Wooten charged he had been arrested, humiliated and illegally detained in the governor's office for an hour when he attempted to serve papers in connection with a petition for an injunction filed by J. W. Barnett, ousted chairman of the highway board, and former Commissioner W. C. Vereen.

Legion Protests "Indignity."

The legion adopted a protest resolution against the "indignity" of an attempt to serve papers on the governor while he was its guest.

Meanwhile, Attorney General M. J. Yeomans went to the Federal Building and accepted services of a suit against the governor and the attorney general brought by Barnett on the contention that Federal road funds are involvtd in the highway dispute.

He asked an injunction that would in effect dissolve the status of martial law and restore the ousted commissioners to their posts.

The clerk of the Federal court issued subpenas for Talmadge and Camp to appear June 30 for a hearing in the injunction suit.

Blue "Song in the Night"

Thrice-Postponed Musical Presented With Aid of Reporter and Fire Laddies; Show Must Go On, So Straw Is Moved.

"A Song in the Night" is ended, but the melody lingers on.

The thrice postponed musical play, written and produced by Miss Edna Buckler, of this city, was finally presented last night at Wardman Park Theater.

To begin at the end, as things seemed to do throughout the performance, the actors might still be on the stage had not a reporter wakened the curtain boy from deep slumbers, and with his assistance succeeded in ringing down the asbestos.

Prior to the finale, after a brief argument with a fireman detailed at the show, the reporter turned stagehand and still bears the blisters of actual toil. What with shoving grand pianos and carrying bales of straw, regarded as a fire menace, the life of a truck driver took on somewhat of an appeal.

The fireman had orders to see that the straw, piled beneath a fire alarm box, was moved. Just as the curtain was about to rise on the first act, his order became law. The straw was moved.

Next it was found that stagehands were at a premium. The reporter was asked to substitute. Although slightly out of his line, he consented. And were those pianos heavy?

All in all, things progressed nicely—until someone suggested the pianos were in the wrong place.

The reporter left.

However, the play was well received by the audience (estimated at 46—of which 6 were paid admissions).

Mitchell Planning Southampton Rest

New York, June 23 (A.P.).—Charles E. Mitchell, acquitted of charges of evading payment of $850,000 in Federal income taxes, said today he plans "a long rest" at Southampton, fashionable Long Island summer resort.

Meanwhile, there was considerable speculation among bankers on whether Mitchell would return to Wall street, where, as head of the National City Bank, he had been a power. He would say only he planned no business conferences immediately.

Mitchell, who still holds 35,000 shares of the bank's stock, resigned as chairman of the National City directorate after his appearance before the Senate Banking subcommittee in Washington, which was prior to his indictment by the Federal grand jury.

Lincoln, Nebr., June 23 (A.P.).—Women screamed and a man fainted today as Charles Radcliff fled from a nightmare "enemy." He jumped from bed so violently he blackened his wife's eye. The screen door left deep scratches as he burst through it. Down the street he tore in undershirt and shorts.

Consciousness returning, Radcliff begged for clothes at the home of Omer Eller, who fainted as he saw his visitor's wounds. This threw a new scare into Radcliff and he fled again. Police finally returned him home.

"I thought a man was after me with a razor," he said.

REPUBLICANS PLAN TO CONTROL HOUSE

Snell Prepares Campaign to Regain Majority of Seats in Next Congress.

(Associated Press.)

Under the leadership of Representative Snell, of New York, the House Republican minority is planning a vigorous campaign to recapture seats in that branch in the congressional election next year.

The work will be concentrated in the Republican national congressional committee, composed of House members. Campaign ammunition is already being assembled.

Snell said yesterday the reorganization of the party nationally and in the States was in the hands of the Republican national and State committees.

"We expect to recapture enough seats next year to control the House in the next Congress," Snell said. "We will regain between 50 and 70 normal Republican seats without difficulty. Then we have an equal fighting chance of winning enough to seize control.

Experiments Being Watched.

"It depends, however, on whether this experimental legislation enacted by the Democrats at the special session works. The outcome will not be known for a year."

Snell has brought about reorganization of the congressional committees into a group of younger members.

Representatives Bolton, of Ohio, is chairman; Bacon, of New York, and Carter, of California, are vice chairmen. With Snell they are planning to raise as issues the Democratic-approved currency inflation, double budget-economy and control of industry.

Outlining the Republican stand on the Roosevelt program enacted at the special session, Snell said:

"The Democrats had responsibility and we did not want to be placed in the position of obstructionists. We sought to cooperate on a nonpartisan basis on legislation we thought would benefit the country.

"Where there was a fundamental difference of principles, we forced record votes in order that the people might have no doubt as to how the Republicans stand.

See Principles Abolished.

"Much of the Democrats' program, instead of decentralizing the Government, ruthlessly discarded every principle of individual enterprise and initiative for which this Government was founded. The principles of more than 100 years have been thrown out.

"Everything has been placed under Government control, and the Democrats' program constitutes autocratic and bureaucratic domination of our national life. We will learn at the end of a year whether this vast experiment is practical."

Snell said Republicans "do not believe the Democrats can justify their double budget system, because, regardless of whether money is expended for ordinary or extraordinary expenses, they all are charges against the Treasury and have to be paid for some day."

"The Democrats, along with their economy measures have authorized expenditures amounting to $8,000,000,000," Snell said. "They won't be able to balance the budget if this money is spent, and most of it will be."

The Republicans, he said, will "continue to insist upon sound money for the country and will oppose the issuance of greenback or fiat money authorized under the farm relief-inflation act."

Salt Lake City, June 23 (A.P.).—Gov. Henry H. Blood today received a telegram from Gov. James Rolph, jr., of California, asking him to join with executives of other Western States in protesting the proposed elimination of the market news service of the Department of Agriculture.

Gov. Rolph's message, sent also to governors of Arizona, New Mexico, Idaho, Colorado, Oregon and Washington, said elimination of the market news service at this time would seriously handicap agricultural recovery in the West.

Blood said he would confer with State department of agriculture officials before making a decision on the protest which would be sent to President Roosevelt.

THE Federal News, N. P. F. E., today will say editorially:

"Two personnel courses are open to administrators of the new governmental agencies.

"One is to fill positions with 'political' appointees. The other is to employ persons of experience in the Federal Government machine who have met the competitive requirements of the civil service.

"These two courses are open, but there is only one proper step. That is to reemploy the men and women with civil service qualifications and training and who, through absolutely no fault of their own, have been victims of curtailed operations elsewhere in the Federal Government.

"There can be no questioning the wisdom of following such a policy. It is a course dictated by every consideration of sound and intelligent personnel practice, as well as by the elements of justice and fair play.

"The administration has set up the new emergency agencies not to provide jobs for so-called 'deserving' persons but to hasten the Nation's recovery. It follows logically that the chief consideration of administrators is to gain the most efficient and experienced workers to aid them in their monumental task.

"Such workers are to be found in the men and women whose names are on the lists of the Civil Service Commission.

"They are men and women whose experience, efficiency and loyalty is not open to question in any particular.

"The administration on numerous occasions before and since March 4 has emphasized its thorough belief in the merit system and its determination to uphold that principle.

"We now are face to face with an opportunity for a clear-cut decision.

"The American people have given ample evidence of their faith in the merit system and their disgust with the spoils system. And they are watching anxiously the personnel policy to be pursued by the administrators of the new emergency agencies.

"That decision should be neither difficult to make nor delayed in its affirmation and execution."

WE LEARN by special courier that Thomas G. Shearman, solicitor's office, Agriculture, forsook intensive legal reading Friday afternoon and, with three ladies, enjoyed an open-air lunch at Hains' Point.

"Judge" Shearman appeared in the proverbial holiday attire and seemed imbued with the recreational spirit of the outing. Every now and then—perhaps, by way of exercise—he played tag with his pet bulldog.

At Federal Trade Commission:

Robert H. Winn, trial attorney, yesterday resigned to set up law offices in the firm of Holt & Winn, National Press Building. Mr. Winn, former Petracom president, enjoyed a rare popularity at F. T. He handled the commission's investigation of the radium water case in recent years and conducted examination on the stand of Eben M. EXPULSION of Capts. Von Papen and Boy-Ed and Dr. Dernberg, German agents, from the United States during the war came quite by accident, and like many other incidents in times of stress the facts came to light in later years.

Capt. Evelyn Briggs Baldwin, lately of the Navy Department, where he held a minor job after years as scientist, explorer and patriot, and who was dismissed at 71 with no assurance of the future, caused the expulsion of the three above-named agents from this country. He had requested German permission to enter Belgium to assist relief work. Permission was granted with provision that he carry personal letters as a return courtesy to Germans in Belgium.

James Archibald, war correspondent, had just been arrested in the Orkneys by the British for carrying similar letters under like conditions. Upon hearing of Archibald's case, Capt. Baldwin took the letters given him direct to the White House. Within a few days Von Papen, Dernberg and Boy-Ed were ordered to leave the country. This is only a chapter in the life of Capt. Baldwin, now left to shift for himself and whose future can so easily be assured by word from the White House.

The names of those championing the cause of Capt. Baldwin are increasing. The Federal Diary, together with other friends of the explorer, wishes to see simple justice served in Capt. Baldwin's case.

"Not till the President returns," is the latest word from the White House on "when and whether" Capt. Baldwin will be given a place to serve our appreciative Government. The Federal Diary uses the term "appreciative" perhaps a bit prematurely, but with the hope, even confidence, that the White House will recognize the justice of this case, fast gaining national prominence.

THE Federal Diary-I. W. L. A.-Outdoorsmen Salt Water Rodeo, July 22-23, Tilghman plans last night gained new momentum when Chairman Francis D. Barstow, War Department, retired, announced the committee, subject to enlargement, to assist him. Here are the committeemen's names:

Capt. P. C. Whitney, Coast and Geodetic Survey.

Tom C. Gale, Aeronautics.

Lon A. Schimpf, Federal Trade Commission.

Charles A. Burmeister, Agriculture.

Thomas R. Stewart, Commerce.

Joseph Jacobson, War, representing State and Navy also.

Louis A. Krauss, Treasury.

Paul D. Barstow, Postoffice Department and city postoffice.

Robert Fyle, Izaak Walton League.

Frances Barstow explained that others would be invited to assist in laying plans as committeemen and that a meeting will be called soon, notice of which will appear in the Federal Diary.

MR. BARSTOW has just returned from Tilghman where he discussed the terms of the rodeo with guides and boatmen and where he inspected accommodations. In order that every participant may be comfortable it will be necessary to limit enrollment for the event, not to exceed 400. The party will leave Washington via special W. B. & A. at 5 p. m. Saturday, July 22, leaving Annapolis by ferry, be met in autos at Claiborne, and escorted to the rodeo grounds. The cost to each entrant will be $5.50, tickets for which will be supplied to committeemen. The tickets will include three meals, round-trip train fare, ferry fare, auto, lodging, boats (not to be crowded), guide, bait. Cash prizes and many merchandise prizes will be awarded under rules of the contest to be formulated.

Those who have fished the Eastern Shore of the bay know what is in store. Wednesday a party landed bluefish. By July 22 the blues will be in full play. Those who have not fished the Eastern Shore can expect new thrills.

Tilghman boatmen, through their association, are pointing for the Federal Diary Rodeo. Reservation requests for that date by other parties have been switched so as to provide the grounds entirely for this outing.

More details will be unfolded as the days roll by.

DAVIS, BACK, THINKS WORLD WILL DISARM

Sees Satisfactory Results at Geneva; Guards Against International Tricks.

New York, June 23 (A.P.).—A satisfactory culmination to the disarmament conference was viewed as probable today by Norman H. Davis, American Ambassador at Large, on his return from Geneva for a meeting with President Roosevelt.

"I know there are a lot of hurdles to get over," said Davis, "but unless there is some unforseen political disturbance, success at the conference can be reached.

"If we could reach an agreement right away, it would be like turning on a dynamo. It would do more than anything else to put people back to work. When we meet again in July we may move along pretty rapidly. I can't tell yet."

Davis made no reference to rumors that he intended to resign, which were current following disclosure before the Senate Banking Committee of his name on selected Morgan stock lists. When he sailed from London June 18, he emphatically denied the reports.

Insurance Against Tricks.

The special envoy said he did not know when he would confer with President Roosevelt. In London he had had a long talk with Secretary of State Hull and is expected to bring the President information on the World Economic Conference.

Davis commented on a change of sentiment in Europe toward accepting the idea of international supervision of arms instead of security pacts. Of the latter he said:

"No nation whose signature is worth a nickel is going to sign a blank check.

"I would be opposed to the United States disarming unless we had assurance that nobody would play any tricks on us. We would want other countries inspected and there is no reason why inspection should embarrass us.

"Inspection is no insult. They have in it yacht racing—a gentleman's agreement."

Armaments "Products of Fear."

"If we can get all to reduce their armaments we can get rid of fear. Europe now realizes that it is the only way. The idea is getting over, and President Roosevelt has done much to make the people of the world understand."

The United States, he said, would be "fools" not to confer with other nations under the Kellogg pact.

Davis, who arrived on the Bremen accompanied by his wife, said one reason for his visit was to attend the marriage of his son, Paschall, to Miss Evelyn Ames, in Boston, July 1. He will return to Geneva, he said, later in the summer.

THE NEW CINEMA OFFERINGS

LOEW'S FOX

"THE GIRL IN 419." Paramount picturization of a story by James Parshman, featuring James Dunn and Gloria Stuart, with David Manners, William Harrigan, Shirley Grey, Johnny Hines, Jack LaRue and Vince Barnett. Directed by George Nichols and Alexander Hall. Reviewed Friday morning.

By NELSON B. BELL.

It is an odd prescription, not wholly tonic, that is doled out from the police ward of an emergency hospital in a large city in this realistic attempt of Paramount's to provide a bit of aseptic amusement.

Comedy, romance and gangsterism are combined with elements of almost gruesome clinical surgery in most contradictory fashion. The professional ladies and gentlemen inured to the harrowing daily routine of an institution accustomed to deal dispassionately with a city's grist of accidents, catastrophes and homicides, have a casual way of combining their social and official activities that is distinctly shocking to the layman, who looks with horror upon the operating table, human disfigurement and violent death. It is not to such things that he usually turns for his gayest entertainment.

Not that "The Girl in 419" is in the usual sense a horror picture. It is not. It is, however, a subject that introduces a little too much that is distasteful to register entirely on the side of delightful pastiming.

A gangster murder, patterned rather obviously after the Arnold Rothstein case, is followed by the delivery to the hospital of a beautiful young woman found on the city streets beaten almost to the point of death. Sinister figures in the metropolitan underworld soon associate themselves vaguely with the case; the young doctor in charge falls in love with his new and mysterious patient, her murder is again attempted through an unsuccessful ruse and finally the truth is evolved from the badly tangled skein of circumstances just as public enemy No. 1 pays the final penalty for having robbed a young interne of his future career as a surgeon, by arranging it for him to be shot through the arm.

Interwoven with these major developments are a few incidental murders, frequent views of the operating room in ghastly use, and a considerable exposition of the sex life of a medical center. It may be repeated that it is all very realistic, if one cares for that sort of thing.

James Dunn, as the ranking doctor, heavy lover and amateur detective, seemed to this observer less forceful than David Manners, as his unfortunate associate, or William Harrigan, as the urbane bandit in chief. Gloria Stuart was her most effective, both pictorially and dramatically, while lying unconscious on a hospital bed in the police ward, although her later scenes were well enough. Johnny Hines, formerly a star on his own account, and Vince Barnett account for the comedy roles, and Shirley Grey, Jack La Rue, Kitty Kelly and Gertrude Short lend color to minor assignments.

Topline honors on the stage portion of the program are fairly shared by Col. Stoopnagle and Budd, borrowed from radio to offer a brief sample of their wares in an interval of simulated broadcasting, which ends with startling abruptness, and Art Landry and his Victor recording orchestra, who offer a period of music and comedy that is rather more droll than such things usually are. Mr. Landry has completely altered his style since he appeared here at the Metropolitan some six or eight years ago. He now is very, very quaint.

Cherry and June Preisser, two tumultuous young women, who sing, dance and perform cyclonic acrobatic feats, open the bill and are followed by Vic Oliver and his feminine assistant, Margaret Frank, in a much applauded symposium of piano, violin, clowning and off-color jokes.

The Fox Movietone News and Prof. Lampkin's interpretation of the "Martha" overture, by Flotow, added zest to the obvious enjoyment of yesterday's receptive audiences.

PALACE

"PEG O' MY HEART." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picturization of the play by J. Hartley Manners, adapted to the screen by Frances Marion, starring Marion Davies, with Onslow Stevens, J. Farrell MacDonald and Juliette Compton. Directed by Robert Z. Leonard. Reviewed Friday afternoon by Isobel Herraman.

Back in 1912, which period might almost be termed antecinemic, Laurette Taylor originated the title role of "Peg o' My Heart" on the legitimate stage. It was a stickily sentimental comedy with moments of heart-breaking human pathos.

Somewhere around 1923 Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer transferred it to the silent screen.

Now it returns to us without (thank heaven!) any of the modern innovations producers believe so necessary to insure the success of their vehicle and with Marion Davies in the name part.

There are no scenes in the frontline trenches, no gangsters, no gun-molls, no bresdline, no beauty chorus! There is, we are forced to admit, a theme-song; but it is a haunting little melody and you'll find yourself humming it.

On the credit side, there is only an Irish lass and her dog; a titled hero; an aristocratic and impoverished family who fail to appreciate Peg's true worth; a self-sacrificing old Irish fisherman, who is Peg's father; a comedy butler; the chap who might be a villain if his part had been more important. Of such hackneyed characters is the story made up.

And yet "Peg o' My Heart" brings a bit of freshness and beauty to the screen that is strangely welcome. If you're looking for excitement, or something new, you'll be disappointed. It's the same old Peg of the J. Hartley Manners' original book and in adapting it to the screen Frances Marion very wisely kept it in its proper setting and gave to it its proper perspective. The only efforts that have been made to modernize the play are in such light touches that they are hardly noticed—a radio-equipped roadster and modern costumes.

Miss Davies has never photographed more beautifully nor appeared quite so young and unaffected.

J. Farrell MacDonald is splendid as the Irish fisherman. Juliette Compton is an exceptionally good foil for Miss Davies, but Onslow Stevens as the hero is a bit of a disappointment. Michael is—well, you'll just have to see Michael to realize what a fascinating small creature he is. We predict a future for Michael. And there is a lad with a silver voice—watch for him.

Laurel and Hardy present one of their utterly ridiculous and side-splitting comedies, "Twice Two," as the principal auxiliary feature. James A. Fitzpatrick gives his weekly Travel-Talk, with some grand shots of New England, "The White Man's Paradise," and a Metrotone News maintains the high level of excellence of a well-balanced and diverting entertainment.

EARLE

"BABY FACE." Warner Brothers picturization of a story by Gene Markey and Kathryn Scola, starring Barbara Stanwyck, with George Brent, Donald Cook, Henry Kolker, Margaret Lindsay and Robert Barrat. Directed by Alfred E. Green. Reviewed Friday afternoon.

Save for a touch of moral regeneration to add a little more pleasant savor to the drama's denouement, it is the ever-phasised story of Jean Harlow's "Red-Headed Woman"—or should it be credited to Vina Delmar?—that Gene Markey and Kathryn Scola have here contrived to rewrite, with none of the implications of plagiarism, it should be said.

"Baby Face" is a young woman reared in the depraved squalor of a milltown speakeasy in a grimy Pennsylvania smelting center, who goes out into the wider world, following the incineration of her father in a whisky-still explosion, to gain money, jewels, rich raiment and penthouses by a shrewd and cold-blooded exercise of her bodily charms. By a ruthless and highly implausible pursuit of her chosen avocation—she is ostensibly a hard-working and lonesome office woman—she attains all of the material objectives which she set out to achieve, thus demonstrating that the masculine gender evidently is a bit shy on both perception and horse sense.

However, were the fable a little more painstakingly worked out and not quite so episodically expounded, there might be something a bit more complimentary to the male animal than now meets the eye. As it stands, the tale is sketchily told, with Lily Powers profiting handsomely by the author's unwillingness to go into detailed analysis of her shady romanticisms.

It is this same discreet evasion of particularization that permits "Baby Face" to survive on the safe side of propriety. Its improprieties are flagrant only by imputation—and the minor matter of a murder and suicide in Lily's palatial penthouse to indicate the irresistible nature of her sorcery. Nevertheless, it is a charade which manifestly was not devised for a strictly family trade.

Lily Powers is the sort of chilled-steel gal that Barbara Stanwyck does just a little better than any of her contemporaries—rough, tough and calculating, with a wide-eyed innocence of face, a mop of blond hair and the gentle impulses of a very elegant and highly perfumed hellcat. The role is not a comforting thing to contemplate, but it is better done than anything Miss Stanwyck has recently attempted before the cameras.

George Brent, without a great deal to do, is thoroughly agreeable in the role of the young wastrel who finally touches the heart of gold that beats beneath Lily's cold Bessemer exterior. Donald Cook and Henry Kolker both have made the same endeavor before him, with no success whatever, except in the matter of commendable histrionic effort. Important figures in Lily's earlier history are effectively impersonated by Robert Barrat, as her renegade father; Arthur Hohl, as a too ardent barroom suitor; Nat Pendleton, Alphonse Ethier and James Murray.

The four acts of vaudeville introduced by Miss Maxine Doyle's graceful eulogies are uniformly meritorious with principal honors falling upon Walter "Okay" O'Keefe, a glib monologist and sedulous songster, who practically brought down the house. As a matter of fact, the house had practically been brought down just before his appearance by the Keller Sisters and Lynch, with their rhythmic vocalism and hillbilly harmonies. Both of these turns, as of course you know, are borrowed from radio.

The Four Hearts, a quartet of distaff dancers, who belong in the first flight, open the bill, and the Three Swifts, adepts at Indian club juggling appear skillfully in the deuce spot.

A Mack Sennett comedy, "Daddy Knows Best," which Walter Catlett, Arthur Housman, Joyce Compton, and Ben Alexander make rather better than the ordinary run-of-the-mill two-reelers; E. M. Newman's "Workers of the World" travel-industrial reel, the Universal News and Freddie Clark's "Love Songs of the Nile" overture furnish the seasoning to go with the feature's strong meat.

Rockville Citizen Injured in Crash

George Wilt, 25, manager of a Rockville, Md., filling station, was injured yesterday when the automobile he was driving was in collision with a truck operated by J. A. Stoner, of Lemaster, Pa. He was treated at Georgetown University Hospital for severe lacerations on the face and legs.

The crash occurred when Stoner drove his truck around a parked truck in Rockville as Wilt approached from the opposite direction.

Stoner was arrested by Montgomery County Policemen Gassaway Linthicum and Paul Watkins and charged with reckless driving. He posted bond of $200 for his appearance July 7 in county police court.

Filling Station Manager Fined for Short Measure

Joseph Wheeler, manager of a gasoline filling station at Third street and Maryland avenue southwest, was found guilty on two charges of selling short measure gasoline and a charge of operating an altered gasoline pump, in Police Court yesterday.

Judge Gus Schulte fined Wheeler $100 on each of the short measure charges and $50 on the altered pump charge.

HAMILTON CHARTER ABOUT TO BE ASKED

Proposed Bank Is Within $20,000 of Its Stock Subscription Goal.

Having heard from the general subscription committee that it is within $20,000 of its stock goal, the organization committee of the proposed Hamilton National Bank of Washington yesterday authorized Edwin G. Graham, selected president for the prospective institution, and proper subcommittees to apply to the Treasury Department for a charter for the new bank early next week. By that time, it is estimated, the necessary $1,250,000 worth of new stock to open the bank will have been subscribed.

The foregoing groups also will request the Treasury Department to grant the new bank trust authority and will ask the Fifth Federal Reserve District Bank at Richmond, Va., for membership of the bank in the Federal Reserve System. Preparation of these applications is now being made by Roger J. Whiteford, recently appointed counsel for the proposed bank's organization committee.

New Subscriptions.

The general subscription announced yesterday that the Evening Star Newspaper Co. has subscribed $20,000 in stock for the proposed bank. Other subscriptions reported were from The Washington Post Publishing Co., which subscribed $10,000 in stock, and E. I. Kaufman, principal owner of E. M. Rosenthal Co., which operates the Kay, Marx, Ross and Franc jewelry stores, who subscribed $5,000, with a promise of $5,000 more if needed.

Subcommittees of the organization committee will be in session today to discuss the remainder of the official staff of the prospective institution and its employed personnel, notation of the foregoing being required in the application for the charter. The subcommittee entrusted with selection of certain of the ten buildings of the seven local restricted banks participating in the Hamilton National Bank plan to be retained as branches of the new institution also will confer with conservators of these banks today.

Announcement on Staff.

Doubt was expressed whether the remainder of the official staff of the new bank will be announced until procurement of its charter. Thus far its only other officials are, Joshua Evans, jr., president and conservator of District National Bank, who will be a vice president, and Wilmer J. Waller, a vice president and cashier of Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co., who will be its cashier and a vice president. Its directorate also remains to be made public.

Members of the principal committees indicated that an oversubscription of the required $1,250,000 worth of stock is necessary because of offset regulations of the Treasury Department, which release some funds otherwise intended for application to stock.

Columbia Reaches Santo Domingo.

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, June 23 (A.P.).—Capt. Errol Boyd and two companions, who flew from New York to Haiti recently, arrived today in the veteran transatlantic plane Columbia from Haiti. Robert Lyon and Harold Davies were with Capt. Boyd, the pilot.

FAIRFAX DEMOCRATS TO GUARD POSITIONS

Require Double Checking of Applicants for Federal Patronage Jobs.

Residents of Fairfax County, Va., must be "dyed in the wool" Democrats before they can secure Federal patronage jobs if the plan adopted by the county Democratic executive committee is carried out. The committee meeting in the county Courthouse Thursday night adopted a resolution addressed to Senators Harry F. Byrd and Carter Glass and Representative Howard W. Smith asking them not to consider any application for a Federal position unless it is indorsed by James U. Kincheloe, county Democratic chairman. Kincheloe in turn will require the applicant to secure the indorsement of the committeeman in the precinct where the applicant votes.

The meeting was the first since Kincheloe took over the control of the county organization and the first since the death of Judge James M. Love, who had guided the committee as its chairman for 40 years.

The committee appointed Charles Pickett to appear before the county electoral board to request the removal of Charles B. Cockerille as Democratic judge at West End precinct. It was stated that Cockerille refused to support the Democratic ticket during the election last year. Chairman Kincheloe was authorized to institute court proceeding to compel his removal in event the electoral board failed to act.

James C. King, president of the Young Democrats of Fairfax County, was made ex-effico member of the county executive committee. Other new appointments were M. D. 15 Scattered Banks Assisted.

When launched in February, 1932, the R. F. C. received $500,000,000 from the Treasury, as a cash subscription to its initial capital stock. Since that date it has drawn upon the Treasury for $1,515,000,000 more, an amount now backed by R. F. C. 3½ per cent notes held by the Treasury.

Fifteen scattered banks were assisted in their reorganization efforts by R. F. C. stock subscriptions during May. Total advances in this category for the month were approximately $16,700,000. Of this amount, $15,900,000 was advanced to banks in Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Tennessee and Texas.

Irishman Shows $50,000 in Bills to Benefactors; Gets Civil Guard.

Dublin, Irish Free State, June 23 (A.P.).—An old man munching half a loaf, his clothes in tatters, excited the kindly interest of civil guards at Dundalk today and they took him to their barracks to treat him to a square meal.

One of the guards noticed a bulge in his shabby coat and asked him what he was carrying. To the astonishment of all he extracted $50,000 in bills.

The old man explained he had been his own banker throughout the American bank troubles and had returned to Ireland with his hoard after 46 years in the United States. He said the money was his life's savings and, although he had carried it for months in his pockets, he never had lost any.

When he returned to his old home in Dundalk he found the friends of his youth were dead. The civil guards assigned a special watchman to him. He refused to divulge his name, but said he is 76 years old.

2 Unarmed Men Will Test Ferocity of Amazon Indians

RICHARD C. GILL,
brother of Dr. William T. Gill, jr., of 2800 Ontario road northwest, famous explorer, who will sponsor unique experiment in South American jungles.

Capital Explorer Sponsors Trip to Disprove Theory They Hate Whites.

Deep into the dense, dark jungles of the Amazon Valley of South America will go two unarmed white men to dispute the age-old theory of the native tribes' hatred of the white man.

This strange expedition will test the theories of a white man who has lived among native tribes of South America for years. He is Richard C. Gill, 32, a brother of Dr. William T. Gill, jr., of 2800 Ontario road northwest.

While a student at Cornell University, Mr. Gill became skeptical of some of the reports of explorers operating near the headwaters of the Amazon and in 1921 organized his own expedition, which delved into jungles heretofore untrod by white men.

He returned to this country several years later, satisfied that many of the explorers have exaggerated accounts of their encounters with the peoples they found there, and that most tribes have codes of ethics and morals comparable to those of civilization.

To further prove this theory, the expedition will leave New York June 30 for a three-month stay among the head-hunting tribes of the Jivaro Indians, found near the source of the great Amazon River.

Mr. Gill declined to make public the names of the two men he has selected for the test, but said they are connected with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Mr. Gill will not accompany the two men. He believes that his presence among the tribes he now knows so well would detract from the conclusiveness of the experiment.

Upon their return in the fall, Mr. Gill will return to South America with a much larger expedition and attempt the hazardous feat of contacting the savage Aucas tribes. These peoples are believed to be living like the peoples of the stone age.

No white man has yet lived among them, Mr. Gill said, and their whereabouts is not exactly known, but evidence of their viciousness is not uncommon. It usually appears in the form of horribly mangled bodies of some of the lesser war-like tribes found frequently on the mysterious paths leading into the depths of the jungle.

When he first went to South America, Mr. Gill founded the Hacienda Rio Negro in Ecuador—the first South American "dude ranch." It is from this beautiful modern ranchhouse in the hills of the Amazon Valley that most of the large exploration parties originate. It has been the base for all "foreign" exploration parties in recent years.

Mr. Gill, who with his wife has lived for many years in the jungles of that country, is a well known authority on the peoples and their customs. He contends that, although the savage tribes fight among themselves, they will not bother white people unless abused or made victims of conspiracy.

One of the features of his quest for the Aucas tribes will be sound motion picture equipment with which Mr. Gill hopes to obtain a permanent record of the habits of the unknown peoples.

Capital Orphans Will Visit Glen Echo as Elks' Guests

There'll be no need for a barker to inviegle the crowd into the many amusements at the Glen Echo Park Wednesday. Clowns, frankfurters smothered in mustard and a brass band will greet more than 1,000 orphans who will throng the park as guests of Washington Lodge, No. 15, B. P. O. Elks.

PLANE CRASH FATAL TO AMATEUR PILOT

U. S. Probes Accident Near Alexandria That Killed James Good.

James Good, 29-year-old amateur pilot, died in Alexandria Hospital at 2:40 p. m. yesterday afternoon as the result of injuries early Thursday night, when a plane he was flying alone crashed a short distance from the Alexandria Airport at Hybla Valley, Va. The flier lived at 903 B street northeast.

The plane was owned by Cecil Coppage, aviation instructor at Beacon Flying Field, Groveton, Va., about a mile from the Alexandria Airport. Good was a pupil of Coppage and had received his Department of Commerce license several weeks ago.

Good took off from Beacon Field, where the plane's hangar was, authorities said. After flying for a short period he put in at Alexandria Airport, where he obtained motor fuel.

Taking off again, the young aviator was heard to crash in the woods some distance from the airport. Roger Wells, of Alexandria, and George Sackett, an attendant at the airport, started toward the wrecked plane. Nobody witnessed the tragedy.

After some search, the two men found the plane, completely demolished and partly leaning against a tree. Good was strapped in with a safety belt. Although the ignition was said not to have been turned off, the plane had not caught fire.

Good was taken to Alexandria Hospital. There his injuries were said to consist of possible fractured skull, possible internal injuries and severe lacerations. His wife in Washington was notified and was with him at the time of his death.

It was expected early last night that the Alexandria coroner would hold an inquest. Fairfax authorities planned no action. No funeral arrangements had been made early last night.

Department of Commerce aviation inspectors began an investigation yesterday morning, but had made no report early last night.

Youth Is Injured As Autos Crash

Thrown from a car operated by Nicholas Orem, superintendent of the Prince Georges County schools, when the machine was struck from the rear by another car, William McFadden, 16, Mount Rainier, Md., was severely injured yesterday. The accident occurred in Bladensburg, Md.

Charles E. Chance, of Annapolis, yach builder and recent candidate for mayor, who, police said, operated the machine which struck Orem's, was said to have been blinded by the glare of the sun.

McFadden was hurled to the pavement and pinned against the curb. Removed to his home by the Bladensburg Rescue Squad, he was treated for lacerations and bruises by Dr. W. A. Norton, who indicated a possibility of further injuries. No police action was taken against the driver.

FOREIGN AIR FLEET FLIES OVER BERLIN

many, encircling the Wilhelmstrasse and the workers' districts, dropped handbills insulting to the government. As the air police do not possess aircraft or sporting planes, they were unable to reach the fast-flying foreign planes, which escaped unidentified."

The reply, "nothing is known here," was received when inquiry was made at Tempelhof Field to the air police concerning the airplane announcement.

Meanwhile, Paul Loebe, Socialist leader and former president of the Reichstag, was arrested for unrevealed reasons.

Wilhelm Leuschner, former Hessian minister of interior, a Socialist, was taken into protective custody at Karlsruhe because he was said to have been responsible for agitation at Geneva against the interests of the Reich.

The Centrist Reichstag member, Joseph Ersing, was arrested there charged with the attempted formation of an opposition organization.

Alfred Rosenberg, chief of the foreign political bureau, told foreign correspondents today he believed Chancellor Adolf Hitler was now so firmly entrenched that "only a world coalition united against us could disturb the stability of this regime."

"There are only two alternatives for Germany—Hitler, or bloody chaos with resultant loss of the German market to other nations," he declared.

Nazi Germany, he said, has no intention whatever of interfering with the internal affairs of Russia or endangering the existence of the small Baltic states.

Yesterday's ban on the social Democratic party put an end to 70 years' development of a movement whose tenets of internationalism, pacifism and class struggle he described as baneful to Germany.

Linz, Austria, June 23 (A.P.).—An airplane without distinguishing marks flew over Linz this afternoon scattering leaflets denouncing the regime of Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss and proclaiming that new aggressive Nazi actions will commence within a few days.

The plane then disappeared in the direction of Salzburg.

Berlin, June 23 (U.P.).—Catholic and evangelical workers clubs were ordered dissolved by decree today, on the charge that they were "enemies of the state."

The Nazi party and affiliated organizations were banned by the Austrian government this week after a cabinet member declared that police had established members of the organization were responsible for recent bombings and for the throwing of hand grenades at a detachment of Fascist auxiliary police near the town of Krems.

A Nazi spokesman said the government action constituted "touching a match to a fuse that leads to a powder barrel."

SEAL TODAY BARES MILK INQUIRY PLAN

Senators Will Be Asked to Approve Procedure He Has Mapped Out.

A tentative plan of procedure for the investigation into District milk prices will be placed before the Senate subcommittee today by Elwood H. Seal, special counsel to the committee.

For the past week Mr. Seal has been engaged in drafting a plan of procedure which he will place before the subcommittee for its approval. Senator William H. King, chairman of the District Committee, and Senator McCarran, Democrat, of Nevada, will attend the conference.

The plan for delivery of the testimony dealing with the monopolistic aspect of the milk inquiry will be submitted by W. B. Watson Snyder, special assistant to the Attorney General.

Mr. Snyder, who is one of the ace investigators of the antitrust division of the Department of Justice, has devoted considerable time in the past two years to an investigation of the acquisition of most of the smaller dairies in Washington by the National Dairy Products Corporation.

QUOTAS IN HIGHWAY FUND ARE APPROVED

dustries and business groups also are at work, the administrator said. Addressing a meeting of chain store executives in the department building, Gen. Johnson said that "we could have 3,000,000 or 4,000,000 men back to work in 90 days if every one cooperates."

"Recently," he told the chain store men, "we have had a decided improvement, but I want to tell you that the curve of production has begun to rise, and we don't want to make the same mistake over again. There is only one way to do this and that is by a higher wage and shorter working hours, in order to give more purchasing power and spread employment."

Question of Price Fixing.

The question of price fixing has been raised with increasing frequency since the formulation of codes was begun by various industries and groups.

"No general rule has been laid down," Gen. Johnson told newspaper reporters, in response to a question. "They don't have to put it in their codes. In these codes it will be proper to have a provision that they are not going to sell products at less than the cost of production.

"When they go beynod that in price fixing I would have to step in, because that leads to monopoly—and prevention of that is part of what this administration is here for. It is not here to institute the organization and operation of these industries. We are here for the purpose of seeing that what they propose to do does not bear unfairly on the public."

Consumers' Advisory Committee.

Appointment of a consumers' advisory committee to participate in the administration's consideration of industrial codes is expected to be made within a few days, Gen. Johnson said. There already has been appointed a labor advisory committee and an advisory committee to represent industry. The consumers' committee would complete that part of the organization.

The pressure of public opinion would be depended on to persuade business men to fall into line with the economic recovery program and he did not expect to have to resort to the drastic licensing authority contained in the recovery law, Gen. Johnson said.

Only two codes have been submitted so far, that of the cotton textile and the cast iron soil pipe industries, the latter a small one. Others are at work, however, and a code for the oil industry has been tentatively drafted at a meeting in Chicago.

Flare-Up Is Anticipated.

There is expected to be quite a flare-up over that code, limiting production, fixing maximum and minimum prices but making no provision for wage limits. Smaller oil producers are said to feel the code is disadvantageous to them.

The coal industry is another which is expected to find some difficulty in coming to unanimity and there probably will be a scrap over that, too.

Asked whether labor would sit in with the administration when it considers codes, after hearings have been held, Gen. Johnson said that labor would be represented at the public hearings conducted by the various deputy administrators.

Montgomery County police will begin a drive next week to collect the license tags on 2,500 dogs in the county which are delinquent, according to an announcement by Chief of Police Alvie A. Moxley. Owners of the dogs are subject to a fine for failure to pay the tax before April 1.

The law calls for payment on January 1, but three months' grace is allowed. This period of grace has expired some time ago and police are about to begin efforts to collect the taxes and fines.

NEW JERSEY UNIONS OUST FIVE LEADERS

Action of Parent Organization Taken as Definite Move Against Rackets.

St. Louis, June 23 (A.P.).—Paul J. Morrin, president of the International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers, announced late today that five New Jersey labor leaders had been ousted from membership.

The men, he said, had been found guilty of misuse of their powers after a trial before the general executive board here. During the hearing, which began yesterday, Morrin and other officials declined to make public anything concerning the trial.

Among the ousted officials is T. M. Brandle, business agent of the Jersey City local of the Ironworkers Union, president of the New Jersey State Building Trades Council, president of the Jersey City Building Trades Council, and a powerful figure in New Jersey politics.

Others are John Delaney and Harry Newman, officers of the Jersey City Ironworkers local; Thomas J. Sherlock, business agent of the Newark local, and Thomas J. Kelly, business agent of the Perth Amboy, N. J., local.

The trial had attracted wide attention in New Jersey, where it had been interpreted as the beginning of a campaign by organized labor against racketeering.

CIVIL SERVICE "COVERING."

The practice of "covering" into the Civil Service Federal employes who are hired without competitive examinations has led to a great deal of confusion and controversy. It is sometimes necessary for emergency organizations to employ help without waiting for competitive examinations. If jobs so established later become permanent, they ought to be protected from the spoils hunters just as are other positions in the Government service.

At present it is the practice to "cover" into the Civil Service by presidential decree employes holding jobs of this kind. Several thousand Federal workers have been given a Civil Service status in this manner during the terms of Presidents Wilson, Harding Coolidge and Hoover. These people have been absorbed into the Government service on a permanent basis. Most of them have been promoted in accordance with their efficiency, the length of their service, and various other factors that enter into a Civil Service rating. They have devoted their efforts to the Government service with the same diligence as those employes who won their positions by competitive examinations.

In spite of this fact, the admittance of large groups into the ranks of the Civil Service without competitive examinations does tend to upset the merit system. It is quite probable that some individuals obtain in this way positions that would not otherwise be open to them. Furthermore, politics being what it is, employes who have been "covered" into the classified service can never feel quite safe from the patronage hunters. The status of these Federal workers would be much improved and controversy on the subject could be eliminated if all temporary employes were required to pass appropriate examinations before passing definitely under Civil Service rules. The purpose of such examinations would not be to open the jobs in question to free competition, but merely to make certain that the incumbent possessed all the necessary qualifications to justify his admittance to Civil Service status.

On the other hand, it would be grossly unjust to oust employes who have been "covered" into the service on the assumption that they were appointed through political influence. The present agitation on this subject arises from a desire of congressmen to expel all employes who do not owe their appointments to competitive examinations. This group is candidly trying to create jobs for faithful Democrats by any method that appears practicable. It has been recommended to President Roosevelt, through Postmaster General Farley, that all executive orders issued by the last three Republican Presidents, "covering" employes into the Civil Service, be revoked. Such advice, palpably designed to open the Civil Service to the spoilsmen, should be ignored.

Under the merit system the awarding of all positions ought to be on the basis of merit. Raids of this kind on the Civil Service would be futile if provision were made for employes already holding jobs to take competitive examinations at the time they are accorded the advantages of a Civil Service rating.

COMMUNISTS IN BULGARIA.

Though the general feeling of Bulgaria is actively hostile toward Communism, radical groups within the country have been able to cause so much disturbance and unrest that the Minister of the Interior warned them that if they continued their revolutionary propaganda the parliament would be asked to dissolve the Independent Labor Party as a subversive organization. This would not be the first time such steps have been taken. The Communistic Party of Bulgaria was legally dissolved after the St. Nedelia Cathedral outrage, when nearly 150 persons were killed in 1925.

After a period of quiescence, the Communists formed a "Labor Party," which was later dissolved on the ground that it was financed by the Moscow International and was revolutionary in intention. The Independent Labor Party followed, which was genuinely independent for a season. But the economic crisis and the infiltration of Communists into the new party finally enabled the Reds to get control. Renewed agitation followed. Not content with legal propaganda, the Bulgarian Communists, aided by the Third International, attempted to form revolutionary cells in the army and police. In one instance venal or disaffected soldiers had conspired to seize armory supplies to provide weapons for future outbreaks.

It was these activities which angered and alarmed the Bulgarians and led to the ousting of Communist deputies from their seats in the Sobranje. The obvious intent to promote a revolution at the first opportunity was condemned by all parties, including the Socialists. The twenty-nine Communist members who lost their seats were deprived of them by a large majority vote taken among the total membership of the parliament.

GANGDOM'S ARMAMENTS.

Attorney General Cummings gives notice that the war on crime may be long, but will not cease until victory has been won for law and order. The preliminary survey of the campaign discloses formidable obstacles whose removal will delay the national clean-up. Gangdom is well financed and well organized. It employs modern facilities and is ingenious in distorting useful devices to criminal ends. Radio is employed for spreading information and warnings to distant gangsters, and doubtless tips are also given as to the best moment for robbing banks or kidnaping victims.

An inquiry is on foot to ascertain how gangsters obtain machine guns. In some States the possession of a machine gun is a crime, but obviously the authorities, Federal and State, have been slow to run down the source of supply. It is surprising that the authorities have not co-operated more closely, in view of the fact that crime is organized and operating on a countrywide scale.

A conference of law-enforcing agents, crime-prevention agents, and bank protective agencies, called by the Attorney General, might bring out facts which would tighten the lines against crime conspirators in every State. Factories which manufacture machine guns should not be hard to locate. The methods of distribution probably could be controlled, or at any rate the destination of weapons could be traced to cities and towns, whose police forces could keep watch of buyers.

Universal disarmament of bandits is not to be expected, but even partial deprivation of death guns would help to diminish murderous crimes.

TRANSOCEANIC FLYING.

Attention is once more being given to the proposed North Atlantic air route between this continent and Europe. At various intervals aviation interests have sought to discover a feasible route for airplane service through this frozen region, but without much encouragement. One pilot was lost at sea during an exploration trip. Explorers, scientists, weather experts and aviators have taken a hand in the various investigations. But grave hazards to air travel in this region have not been overcome.

Another surveying party is about to leave New York to carry on the study of this route, carrying an elaborate supply of radio equipment, aircraft and scientific instruments. Weather and flying conditions will come under observation along the coasts of Labrador, Greenland and possibly Iceland.

The experience of several trans-Atlantic fliers as well as the observations of previous expeditions in this northern country have revealed treacherous weather conditions. Some day airplane service may be established between Europe and North America by this route, but there seems to be very little promise of such service in the near future. Transoceanic flying is extremely hazardous whether it is in the semi-Arctic country or in moderate zones. The recent experience of James Mattern, would-be round the world flier, emphasizes again that flying over long stretches of water and waste land is still a field for adventurers rather than practical agents of transportation.

HITLERISM ABSOLUTE.

Following the example of Premier Mussolini, Chancellor Hitler is moving rapidly toward the establishment of his Nazi organization as the only political party of Germany. The Social Democratic party, which is the second strongest political group in Germany, has been dissolved by executive decree. Herr Hitler has even rebuked his allies, the Nationalists, by disorganizing their so-called "storm troops." Likewise the Catholic trade unions have been expelled from the "German Labor Front" and indications are that the Catholic People's party will meet the same fate as has befallen the Socialists. Immediately after taking control of Germany last March Herr Hitler outlawed the Communist party.

No opposition to the Nazi program is tolerated in Germany. The Social Democratic party was abolished, its 121 members of the Reichstag and all other Socialist officials were expelled, and its funds and property were confiscated on the ground that the party was indulging in treason. In Germany treason has come to mean opposition to Hitlerism. No attempt was made to prove the charges. Apparently this accusation is incidental to the central purpose of the Hitler regime, which is to abolish all parties that offer any opposition to the Nazi program. Premier Mussolini achieved complete political domination in much the same way. No party save his own is tolerated.

So long as the German Socialists, who polled 7,000,000 votes in the last election, retained their political status they might have joined hands with the Centrists and outvoted the Hitlerites in the Reichstag if that body should again be assembled under the present regime. Chancellor Hitler has merely disposed of his opponents in a way that is not uncommon under European dictatorships.

Germany is intoxicated with Hitlerism. Everything which detracts from the domination of the National Socialists is thrust rudely aside. Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, has announced the creation of "the German democracy, in which people do not themselves engage in politics but entrust this to men having their confidence." "It is a democratic fallacy," he says, "to believe that people want to govern themselves. People only ask to be governed decently."

Another official has declared that any one who dares to oppose the revolutionary reconstruction of Germany will be outlawed for all time. The amalgamation of all political groups under Nazi domination is only one aspect of the movement which reaches into every German profession, institution and economic group. Germany is being Hitlerized with astonishing rapidity. The people are expected to live and breathe Hitlerism whether they are at home, in school, at work, in a library or a place of amusement. The fiery chancellor will not be content until he has every phase of German life organized according to his plans and dominated by his trusted colleagues.

Foreigners smile at the fanaticism with which the Nazis announce their intention to build a political-economic system that will "withstand the centuries—even if the future should find at its head lesser men than those who lead it now." But the Hitlerites have burned many of their history books.

NATIONALS AND YANKEES.

Thousands of Washingtonians who can not attend baseball games join in the enthusiasm of fans over the march of the home team toward first place, with hopes of world championship in the offing. Yesterday the Nationals trounced the Chicago White Sox while the New York Yankees were breaking even with St. Louis. Thus the Nationals pass their ancient feudal foes, the Yankees, to take first place.

The heavy sluggers of New York have not been in good form lately, and the pitchers of that team have not held their own. During the last two weeks the Yankees have lost a lead of six games. But the Nationals have come forward in both batting and pitching. They won eleven out of twelve games and thereby reached first place.

By July 4, when the Nationals will grapple with the Yankees for two games in New York, interest in the race for the pennant should be at fever heat. The strategy and tactics of the Nationals have been admirable under Clark Griffith and Joe Cronin. The youthful manager is forging to the front in batting, in addition to his successful activities in directing his mates.

"NEW DEAL" AND RAILROADS

From the Railway Age.

The industry of the country may find the Government supervision applied to it by recent new legislation more irksome than the railroads will find the additional control applied to them, because industry is not so used to having the Government tell it what it can and can not do, and, especially, to being obliged to deal with labor in accordance with terms laid down by the Government. While the "new deal" is the hugest experiment in economics ever undertaken, its purpose, and even the theory underlying it, are not open to much criticism. The Nation has been passing through, and is still in, the worst period of depression in all history.

It is, however, seriously questionable whether the heroic measures adopted were not ceasing to be needed and what effects they will produce. As the Railway Age repeatedly has pointed out, the downward trend of business was succeeded last September by an upward trend which was only interrupted by the banking moratorium, and which has sharply accelerated since then. The upward trend of railroad freight car loadings, which became evident ten months ago, finally caused loadings in May, 1933, to exceed those of May, 1932, by 2 per cent, and loadings in the two weeks ended on June 10 to exceed loadings in the corresponding weeks of 1932 by 13 per cent. The trend of railroad freight business recently has been even more favorable than these figures indicate, because, while in the first two weeks of June loadings of less-than-carload freight were 4.7 per cent less than last year, loadings of carload freight were almost 23 per cent greater. The increases in the loadings of the various classes of commodities in the two weeks ended on June 10 over the loadings in the corresponding part of last year ranged from as low as 4½ per cent for live stock to 28 per cent for coal, 41 per cent for forest products, 46 per cent for grain and grain products, and 247 per cent for ore.

An improvement in general business having been under way for some months, it is impossible to say whether the recent acceleration of the improvement would have occurred anyway, or has been caused by the administration's economic program, especially its program of inflation, and still more impossible to anticipate the future effects of its program.

Progress toward the solution of the railroad problem obviously can be only begun under the coordinator law. Coordinator Joseph B. Eastman has said, it "does not pretend to be a complete or final answer to the transportation problem of the United States," but "is a temporary and preliminary measure which is designed to pave the way to a comprehensive treatment of the transportation situation of a more permanent and enduring character," and the coordinator has the "very important duty of carrying on research and study for the purpose of recommending to the President and to the Congress such further legislation, covering all phases of the situation, as may be necessary and practicable to place the transportation agencies of the country on a strong and stable basis and in a position to provide the facilities which the commerce and industry of the Nation require." Equipped with the information he already has, and the additional information he will acquire by his study and experience as coordinator, Mr. Eastman will have the greatest opportunity to make a real contribution to the solution of the country's transportation problem that any man has ever had.

The "new deal" has been begun, and the only one rational course for business men in general, and railroad men in particular, to follow in the near future is to accept the new legislation in a friendly spirit and do all they can to make it operate for the best interests of all industries and classes.

DISCOVERIES.

We've been on simpler rations now
A year or two or more,
And looking back across the track
Of all that's gone before
We both can say the garden's gay
With all the blooms of spring.
To suit the days we've changed our ways
But haven't lost a thing.

Time was we thought we needed much
Contentment's peace to know,
But it appears, for two long years,
With all their weight and woe,
There's solid worth in gentle mirth
And hours in friendship spent,
And still alive we work and strive,
With simpler joys content.

'Tis strange how much we overlooked
When we were slaves to show.
'Tis truth I pen, we fancied then
Display was good to know,
But books at night give real delight
And home I come from town,
At close of day content to stay,
In peace to settle down.

What's gone is wearying gayety
And its attendant pomp,
The parlor floor is now once more
A place to race and romp.
The charm profound of home we've found.
Again old songs we sing,
Despite the care we've had to bear
We haven't lost a thing!

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY Dear Louise: Once more the newspapers tell the story of a girl and her escort who paid a great penalty for parking at night on an unfrequented road.

And once more I call your attention to the fact that a girl seldom gets into trouble except in places where she shouldn't be.

Of course it isn't always the girl's fault. She may not have any choice.

There are many young men who seem to possess all the qualities needed to answer a maiden's prayer and yet, for want of training in the right environment, have no conception of the obligations and restrictions imposed by good breeding. The code of gentlemen is as foreign to them as table manners to a Hottentot.

When they ask a girl to go riding, they assume that their investment in gasoline places her under obligation to endure pawing. Without permission or warning they pull into a side road and stop for the pay-off.

The girl's defense is obvious. Even the most boorish youth, unless he is drunk or a pervert, will find no pleasure in trying to pet a girl who plainly despises him.

She can say to him: "It was gasoline you bought, not me. And your investment can't pay you the kind of profit you expected. But I don't want you to feel that you have spent money on me without getting a fair return, and I'll be glad to refund your money if you will drive me home." Something like that.

But nothing can save her from humiliation or worse if her escort is unprincipled. And she is defenseless if prowling brutes discover the car parked in such a place. To be away from the public is also to be away from protection. A region that affords privacy for courtship also affords privacy for crime.

In mad times like these, when crime is a business and nobody is wholly safe in his home or in the midst of a crowd in the light of day, it is criminal folly to park where cries for help would be unheard.

The youth who does it has little regard for his companion's safety—so little, in fact, that he sacrifices all right to her respect. One so indifferent to her welfare and so thoughtful of himself would certainly take to his heels and leave her alone in the event of trouble.

There is knighthood still, my dear. And its first concern is the welfare of the lady.

Keep away from the side-road parker. He doesn't know about knighthood. He would call it "horse feathers" or "tripe." Cleanliness seems a silly affectation to those who weren't taught to bathe.

Young people must have a place to court, and the car has largely taken the place of the old-fashioned parlor. But decent courtship never required the parlor of an empty house on a lonely road. Love,

DAD.

POLITICAL COMMENT

Congress and Christmas.

Providence Journal.

It is noted in a dispatch from Washington that next winter for the first time in our national history Congress will meet in January, "leaving the Capitol without its accustomed oratorical accompaniment for the Christmas holidays." Well, we should think the Capitol could stand it.

Under the provisions of the so-called lame duck amendment, which has lately become operative, the old December meeting of Congress is done away with. January 3, 1934, is the date on which our national lawmakers will next assemble, unless they are sooner summoned by the Chief Magistrate, and it does seem as if, with so much epoch-making legislation passed at the special session now closed, the necessity would not arise for another session during the present calendar year.

After Repeal What?

Iroquois (S. Dak.) Chief.

Repeal of the eighteenth amendment is apparently a foregone conclusion. The States that have already voted on the question have not only voted for repeal, but have given such overwhelming majorities as to indicate that public sentiment has swung decisively in that direction. If and when the time comes that liquor is to be openly sold again, it is to be hoped it will be under restrictions that will be some sort of a protection to the public. The old-time saloon is in disfavor and probably will not come back, but it is still true that a rose by any other name would smell as sweet.

Houston Post.

F. Scott McBride, who, as national superintendent of the Antisaloon League, has been trying rather ineffectually to fill the big boots left empty by the death of Wayne Wheeler, takes issue with the confident prediction of Jouett Shouse, repeal leader, that there is a strong chance of completing repeal by Christmas time.

Thinking Nationally in Billions.

Minneapolis Journal.

It is a bit difficult for the ordinary mind to grasp the significance of a billion. Difficulty becomes impossibility when billions are multiplied. Efforts to visualize, in stack, pile, bin or miles and to end the $3,300,000,000 that Congress appropriated for carrying out the Washington public works program must fail. This huge sum represents, in fact, no likelihood of the handling of actual money in more than small percentage of the total. It measures rather the extent to which the credit of the country has been put behind the program.

In the nineties Thomas B. Reed, of Maine, Speaker of the House and a noted wit, was reproached by an alarmist because the session then closing was marked by a record appropriation of a billion dollars. Mr. Reed, in a reply that became popularized and somewhat sloganized, said: "Why not? This is a billion-dollar country."

THE PRESIDENT IN HEAVY TRAFFIC.

Oh, a life for me
Is the life at sea,
Out where all the heavy swell is,
With the Bernadou,
The Comanche, too,
And the big destroyer Ellis.

II.

It's so restful there
In the open air,
Far from party fights and malice,
With no one about
Save a press fleet stout
And the good ship Mary Alice.

III.

On the Amberjack
As I take a tack
There is solitude aplenty—
Ah, what privacy,
With destroyers three
And some cutters, ten or twenty!

IV.

Just to get away
Is a treat, I'll say,
And without the White House togs;
I'm alone but for Thirty ships or more
And the cutter Cuyahoga.

V.

It is great to stay
In a quiet bay
Or to cruise the rolling waters
With four hundred ten
Seasick newsreel men
And a thousand star reporters.

VI.

When a man needs rest,
Cruising serves him best,
With his routine turn at steering
Through a motley fleet
In the summer heat,
With the rocking-chair fleets cheering.

VII.

If your nerves are shot
You should get a yacht
And go gayly ship-ahoying,
With destroyers and
Many cutters grand
And a press fleet quite annoying.

VIII.

So I sail along
With a sailors' song,
And by heavy seas I'm pounded:
And I'd think it swell
If it wasn't, well,
For the fact I'm so surrounded!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Abandonment of Firemen's Parade Would Not Be in Line With Spirit of Recovery.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I was glad to read in The Post that we are likely to have our firemen's display next fall, notwithstanding the previous statement that it might be called off because of the depression. Our Labor Day firemen parades, dating from 1923, have been a grand success owing to the presence of smoke-eaters and their followers from a dozen States in addition to Virginia and Maryland. What would our neighbors think if they were told that the business enterprise of the National Capital is so depressed that the firefighters' celebration can not take place? It would be a poor sort of prelude to any business recovery for Washington which our business heads may have in mind.

What would happen to the national industrial recovery movement if the business leaders of all the other towns and cities of the country should assume this defeatist attitude? Taking this view of it, I hope our Board of Trade and Chamber of Commerce—in conjunction with others, if necessary—will give Fire Parade Promoter Bargagni what assistance he needs for the arrangement of a 1933 pageant at least as showy and entertaining as the splendid one of last fall.

Suggests Purchase of Cotton for Paper-Making to Keep Workers in Jobs.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Shall 1,000,000 more laboring men and women be turned loose in the cotton fields of the South to seek jobs elsewhere, or will our Government buy 6,000,000 or 7,000,000 bales of low grade cotton and make paper for its own use and keep these men and women at work raising more cotton? It would take some three or four years to bring the surplus back to where it is now. As owner of a small plantation in Mississippi I can't see where destroying the cotton already planted is going to help the hands who work it, for they will have to be fed and clothed; and without labor how are they going to do it?

FORESTRY WORKERS ARE WELL-BEHAVED

Desertions Only .9 Per Cent; Spirit of Youths Is Commended.

Penalties recently prescribed for members of the Civilian Conservation Corps are needed in few cases, according to reports of camp commanders, which have been submitted to Robert Fechner, director of the Corps, he said yesterday.

In nearly all cases reports carried the notation, "No disciplinary action," and many camp commanders wrote into their reports commendation for the spirit of their men. A decreasing desertion rate was also reported. The first report showed 1.5 per cent desertions, while the second showed .9 per cent. The third summary is expected to be even lower. In this corps area, for instance, there were only 14 discharges out of an enrollment of 15,000.

The penalties authorized by the President included deduction of three days' pay or less for infractions of rules, but few instances of this deduction were reported. In most cases extra duty or kitchen police or revocations of leave were all that were necessary.

Transferred to Camps.

All but about 950 of the 28,750 members of the forestry army recruited in this corps area have been transferred to work camps, it was reported yesterday by headquarters for the area. The remaining men, comprising five companies, were all enrolled in Maryland. Of the five companies, four are at Fort George G. Meade and one is at Fort Howard.

Men from this corps area have been sent to 80 camps in Virginia, 9 in Maryland and 90 in Pennsylvania. The conditioning work at Fort Washington ended on June 21, when the two Pennsylvania companies at that post left for work camps.

Will Arrange Transportation.

Meanwhile, notices were mailed by the Veterans' Bureau to the 325 Maryland men selected for the veterans contingent of the forestry army. The notices instruct the men to report at various points at 9 a. m. on June 26. Veterans in the counties near Washington will report to the Army recruiting station here, while those in western Maryland will report to the recruiting stations in Hagerstown and Cumberland. The Army will arrange for transporting all veterans from the recruiting stations to the conditioning camp at Fort Meade.

Subdepots for the supply of nonperishable food stuffs to the forestry workers have been set up at Fort Myer, to supply the Virginia work camps, and at Fort Meade for the Maryland camps. The subdepot system will allow work units to obtain supplies under the general quartermaster corps prices. The cost of the individual ration is limited in the field to that of troops in garrison, and averages about 30 cents per day.

Van Duzer Considering More One-Way Streets

Traffic Director William A. Van Duzer is considering recommending to the District Commissioners that Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets, between Pennsylvania and Virginia avenues, be made one-way thoroughfares to facilitate the movement of traffic, he revealed yesterday.

A recent study of the speed of traffic on Q and R streets, which are one-way streets between Florida and Massachusetts avenues, with that on S and T streets, he said, has shown that one-way streets can accommodate the same volume of traffic as two-way thoroughfares with greater speed.

The Meanderer

Explores Markets for Food Values for the Week-end.

"How can you tell a good cantaloupe?" the Meanderer asked a melon dealer in the Southwest. "You can't," he said, "unless you cut it open and taste it. Those who would tell from the 'feel' of the melon can never be sure. These melons we have here now (selling for $1 and $1.25 a bushel), are almost invariably good for the reason that the section in Georgia where they were grown has had a dry season. It takes dry weather to make cantaloupes right. Buy your cantaloupes, if you can, from shipments ripened through a dry spell."

The season is yet early for cantaloupes. But the price quoted above is a low one at this time. The number of melons in the bushel varies according to size, but usually there are more than 15 in a basket.

Fresh-killed chickens always are best, every housewife knows. If there is an aversion to having chickens killed at home, then the Meanderer would suggest a place she knows, where poultry dealers are helpful to the food shopper in selecting first-class live poultry, and in arranging for immediate killing and dressing. Customers may arrange for telephone delivery of such poultry. At present, of course, frying and broiling chickens are the only sort recommended, and sell 25 cents a pound for live weight.

The midsummer joy to many persons—the watermelon—is arriving in many carloads in the Capital. One wholesale dealer alone plans to sell four carloads over this week-end. A chain store places a price of 49 cents each today on watermelons. They are of the long, dark green variety so many watermelon fanciers prefer.

Ten pounds of sugar is offered for 47 cents in one chain store today. This is the lowest price on sugar for some weeks and may be the lowest for sime time to come, as dealers are expecting an increase in sugar prices.

An attractive glass flask holds a quart of good quality apple cider vinegar for 10 cents in the chain store just mentioned. This value, with olive oil purchasable in sizes from 10 cents up, is interesting to those who use olive oil on the many summer salads possible now.

Two-pound jars of fruit preserves, including strawberry, peach, raspberry and cherry flavors, are selling two for 49 cents in a store located in nearly every neighborhood.

Fresh lima beans, two pounds for 25 cents; a new crop of green beans grown in Maryland, selling three pounds for 25 cents; fresh cucumbers at low prices; celery from New Jersey and California and choice California navel oranges are among the most tempting of the vegetable and fruit offerings of the week.

Unsweetened pinapple juice and a blend of orange and grapefruit juices, in No. 2 cans are excellent values listed this week-end in a chain store, two cans for 19 cents, or ten cans for 92 cents. These fruit juices are delicious just as they come from the can, or combine delightfully with other ingredients to make a variety of summer drinks.

WHAT'S GOOD TO EAT

EXOTIC EGGPLANT WIDENS VEGETABLE EATING OUTLOOK

By ANN BARRETT

MANY people have prized the eggplant for years. Including Alice Roosevelt Longworth, who likes it especially well fried in butter and served with rice and tomato sauce.

Others are only just beginning to learn how easily this vegetable can be cooked. And how neatly it mixes with onions, tomato, cheese, ham, bacon, rice and spaghetti—to make new and tasty dishes.

The only trick in choosing eggplant is to get it dark purple, free from blemish, firm and heavy to the touch. The only knack to cooking it is to cook it gently and not too long. And to serve it as soon as possible—especially if you fry it.

Last-Minute Vegetable.

Panfrying eggplant is so quick and easy, it practically puts this vegetable in the last-minute class. For instance: Wash, dry and peel it. Then cut it into ¼-inch slices, season these and sprinkle with onion juice (if you like onion) and a little lemon. Then just fry them gently (till brown) in butter or bacon fat. If you'd like an extra crustiness to your eggplant, after seasoning the slices, dip them first in flour, then in egg, and then in fine crumbs. And fry slowly till brown.

Eggplant is also good boiled till tender in a small amount of boiling water (after peeling and dicing), then drained and seasoned.

After either frying or boiling eggplant, it's no trick at all to have a delicious scallop. Grease a baking dish and put in seasoned cooked eggplant alternately with layers of cheese and crumbs, cheese and spaghetti or cheese and rice. Turn over the mixture a cup or so of tomato puree or tomato soup, top with cheese, crumbs and strips of bacon. Bake in moderate oven til brown.

Eggplant Egyptian.

Here's eggplant in still another taking role—this time with the oven in action. First cut 2 small eggplants in half lengthwise. Brush the cut surfaces with fat, and bake them right in the shell at 375 to 400 for about 15 minutes. Then scoop out the eggplant (taking care not to break the shell). Chop up this pulp. Next, gently brown ¼ cup chopped onion in 1½ tablespoons fat or oil. Combine this with chopped eggplant, season with ½ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Put back into shells and bake at same temperature 10 minutes. Meanwhile cut 2 ripe tomatoes in thick slices, season them, dip in flour and fry gently in a little fat till brown. Place tomato on top of eggplant, sprinkle with minced parsley. Serve 1 eggplant section to each person.

For good stuffed eggplant, you might vary the above recipe like this: After baking, mix the chopped pulp of eggplant with 1 cup medium-thick white sauce and 1 cup minced cooked lamb or ham. Season to taste, put back into shells, top with mixed cheese and crumbs and bake at about 375 F. till brown.

Send for Pie Recipes.

While you have the oven on for one of these dishes, how about having a beautiful chocolate-meringue pie in at the same time—getting a just-right shade of golden-brown! Or maybe a coconut cream pie. FRUIT SHORTCAKE WINS POST'S PRIZE

Recipe Sent by Mrs. O'Connell Suggests Appetizing Dish for Dessert.

A recipe for fruit shortcake was judged the winner of this week's Post contest, the award being to Mrs. J. L. O'Connell, of 934 I street northwest, who will get the $5 prize.

Mrs. O'Connell's recipe should result in a most appetizing and pleasing dessert if her instructions are followed in detail. The formula follows:

2 cups sugar.
¼-cup shortening.
1 egg.
1 cup pinapple juice.
1 can crushed pineapple (drained).
2 cups flour.
3 teaspoons baking powder.
½ teaspoon salt.
2 bananas.
¼-cup chopped nuts.

Cream shortening and sugar well, add beaten egg and beat thoroughly. Sift dry ingredients twice and add alternately with the pineapple juice to the first mixture. Beat a few minutes and put in two well greased layer cake pans and bake in a moderate oven. Mix crushed pineapple, banamas cut in small pieces and nuts. Let stand several minutes. When the cake is partly cool, spread the fruit mixture between the layers and cover with whipped cream when ready to serve.

"CANCER."

IF June 24 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 6:45 a. m. to 8:15 a. m., from 10 a. m. to 11:10 a. m. and from 5:30 p. m. to 6:40 p. m. The danger periods are from 10:40 a. m. to 11:50 a. m. and from 2:30 p. m. to 4 p. m.

The child born on this June 24 will gain favor with its parents over any brothers or sisters that it may have. It will be inclined to tattle on other children and will not be popular among its playmates. A good mind will have to be directed along right paths. A great reader.

If June 24 is the date of your birth, you will probably very early in life find your definite groove; you will at a comparatively young age become a very settled person leading a routine existence. Sober, industrious, serious and ambitious you will stand well in your community and will be loved and respected by all. You will take part in the religious and political activities of your community and it is not at all unlikely that you will hold some office, political in nature. When it comes to the question of making a livelihood, it is difficult to set any limits within which your talents fall.

Born on June 24, you are a person of dignity. You are clean-minded and your presence in a group for any length of time has a tendency to uplift them spiritually and morally. You seek the good things of life. In your strivings for better things, you are inclined to be too critical of those around you, and at times you find fault where there is little or no cause for it. You are a faithful and true lover.

Culbertson on Bridge

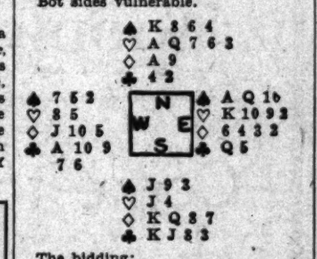
THE EVILS OF AVARICE

GREEDINESS is an attribute of which most Bridge players have an over-supply. If a hand can be defeated one trick immediately by cashing a high card, as a rule it is bad policy to refuse to take this card in the hope of getting more tricks subsequently. Too often a player will find himself unable to take the trick which he has preserved so carefully. The following hand is an example of this, and although it must be admitted that North and South had reached too high a contract, I believe they fully deserved to make it if only to punish East for his greediness.

North, Dealer.
Bot sides vulnerable.



The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1♡	Pass	1NT	Pass
2♡	Pass	2NT	Pass
3NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

West opened the club 7, on which East played the Queen and Declarer the King. The outlook was not very hopeful but the Knave of hearts was laid down and finessed. This trick was won with the King and the 5 of clubs returned. Declarer played the 8 and West won the trick with the 9. At this point the 3-spot was still missing and West, hoping that it was held by his partner, laid down the Ace. This established the Knave in Declarer's hand and gave him his one chance to make the contract. With no entry available to set up his last club, West now shifted to a spade, which was won by East with the Queen. At this point the defense had taken 4 tricks, so all East had to do in order to assure setting the contract was to cash his Ace of spades. However, he still held a stopper in hearts and hoped that his partner held some strength in diamonds. If this were the case a set of 2 or 3 tricks seemed entirely possible. Consequently he returned a low diamond. West refused to go up with one of his honors, hoping that the Declarer would win the trick with the 9-spot on the board and eventually have to lead either clubs or spades. South, however, was beginning to see a chance to make the hand and so went up with the Ace and returned the 9-spot to his own hand. Two more rounds of diamonds followed, after which the good Knave of clubs was played. The King of spades was discarded in Dummy and East was forced to discard either his Ace of spades or his heart protection. He was helpless as a result of his own avarice.

COMMODITY UPTURN NEARING PROSPERITY

Rise in Prices Outstrips Fall of Dollar; Point to Stabilization.

(Associated Press.)

American commodity prices have outstripped the fall of the dollar and are pointing for President Roosevelt's goal of a level high enough to bring the country some prosperity.

For the first time since the stock markets and the commodity indexes started their climb, an official analysis has now indicated the spread between the true price rise and the dollar's depreciation as a consequence of gold standard abandonment.

The Federal Reserve Board's monthly review is out today with the statement that by the end of May—just before the latest decline began—the dollar was down 15 per cent in terms of French francs, the leading gold standard currency. The British pound had lost 2 per cent in the same time.

60 Per Cent Jump.

Six basic commodities, said the board, had by the end of May jumped 60 per cent since February. One-half of the rise corresponded to a general world rise, and the remaining 30 per cent represented dollar depreciation plus actual domestic rise. The commodities discussed were cotton, lard, silver, copper, tin and rubber.

There is still a long way to go to reach the 1926 average, which is regarded as the Roosevelt goal, and pending which the dollar stabilization plans are being held off.

The Department of Labor placed the June 17 index for all commodities at 64.5, against 100 for 1926. The course was charted steadily upward through the past several weeks; May 20 it was 63.0, and the succeeding weeks 63.3, 63.8, 64.0 and now 64.5.

Evidence of Advance.

With this clearcut evidence of a mounting tide went also the better business pointer of growing tax collections. Beer led the parade in May, surpassing expectations, to turn in more than $11,800,000, plus several hundred thousand in special asociated levies. At that rate it may yield $280,000,00 a year instead of the calculated $150,000,000.

Stock market activity spurted the yield from security transfer taxes to $4,704,000, more than double that for April.

May receipts in all classes for the first time were sufficient to bring collections for the fiscal year past the receipts of the previous year. The 11 months of fiscal 1933 yielded $1,368,338,226, against $1,350,734,652 for 1932's 11 months.

Construction Contracts Mount to $29,329,000

New York, June 23.—Award of four contracts, amounting to $18,000,000, helped raise the total of heavy construction contracts for the week ended June 19 to $29,329,000, a volume surpassed only twice this year, says Engineering News-Record. The previous week's aggregate was $12,496,000.

Wall St. Briefs

New York, June 23 (A.P.).—New York State is offering a $26,595,000 issue of unemployment relief, general improvement and grade crossing elimination bonds on June 28, swelling to $32,980,893 the volume of State and municipal financing scheduled for next week. This is the year's largest total, says the Daily Bond Buyer.

A New York cotton exchange membership changed hands today at $21,000, unchanged from the previous sale.

New bond issues formally offered this week aggregated $4,200,000, against $14,675,700 last week, and $13,321,000 a year ago.

National Distillers Products Corporation has purchased the Overholt Distillery at Broad Ford, Pa., and also a distillery at Large, Pa. The purchases involve payment of 102,000 shares of National Distillers common stock and $600,000 in the company's 4 per cent notes, due on or before July 1. Charles Hayden, of New York, and O. H. Walthen, of Louisville, Ky., have been elected to the directorate to fill vacancies.

The international tin committee, formed to stabilize conditions in the tin industry, has formed a research and development council to open up new markets for the metal, it was announced today. The committee is said to have had the cooperation of the five principal tin producing countries in the formation of the council.

Ward Baking Corporation reports for the 22 weeks ended June 3, net profit of $76,237, equivalent to 29 cents a share on the 7 per cent preferred stock. This compares with net profit of $409,032, or $1.47 a share on the preferred in the corresponding period of last year.

Receivership Is Sought For Surgical Supply Co.

Hammond, Ind., June 23 (A.P.).—A petition asking receivership for the Frank S. Betz Co., surgical supply manufacturers, was filed in Lake Circuit Court today by Bridget and Mollie Murtaugh, stockholders.

The petition stated a receiver was sought to prevent the management from "liquidating assets in an illegal manner."

TRADE TRENDS.

(Associated Press.)

Hides—Weakness in spot hides has resulted in considerable liquidation in futures, according to trade reports. Current prices of light native cows are about 1 cent off from recent levels.

Steel—The trade continues hopeful of increased buying by railroads, reasoning that increased freight traffic is taxing equipment already run down.

Wool—Reflecting a continued heavy demand for goods and the high activity of the manufacting branch, a strong upward movement in tops has occurred during the past week, says the New York Wool Top Exchange Service.

Chemicals—Importers are restricting offerings of heavy potashes, owing to higher costs abroad in connection with fluctuations in exchange.

Pig Iron—Trade interests estimate that foundry operations have improved 20 per cent in the past month to an average of 40-50 per cent of capacity.

Wallace Sees Laws Fate With Farmers

St. Paul, Minn., June 23 (A.P.).—It is "up to the farmers" to make the new Federal laws function in their interests, Agriculture Secretary Wallace said today.

"We have merely designed a framework. The enduring structure is not yet visible," he told a group of Northwest growers at the University of Minnesota Agriculture College. "It will come into being when, as and if the farmers of the country wish it."

"I hope you will be alert to the fact that the farm act offers the opportunity" he said. "It is up to farmers to make use of it."

Wallace expressed confidence farmers, particularly wheat growers, would cooperate fully with the administration in an effort to curtail acreage, raising only enough to insure orderly marketing and stabilized prices, and thus avoiding surpluses that would depress prices.

Supreme Court Asked To Reverse Tax Ruling

(Associated Press.)

Frederick B. Wells, of Minneapolis, yesterday asked the Supreme Court to reconsider its recent decision holding taxable the income received from securities he had placed in trust to be used in paying premiums on life insurance policies also placed in trust.

Wells said in his petition that the decision was based on a legal theory which had not been presented or argued, and that the court acted on conclusions not warranted by the facts.

$22,000 Rent Economy Planned by Government

A saving of $22,000 per year is anticipated for the Government through moving certain files of the War Department and the Treasury Department garage now housed in rented property.

The garage, now at Twenty-fourth and M streets, will be moved to a Government building at Third and Canal streets southwest. The files, formerly in the Risik Building, will be moved to Government-owned space at 1618 E street northwest.

Gasoline Prices Advance.

New York, June 23 (A.P.).—An advance of ¼ cent a gallon in the price of gasoline, to approximately 5¾ cents, will be put into effect on Monday by the Standard Oil Co. of New York, Inc., a subsidiary of the Socony-Vacuum Corporation, it was announced today. This will meet the advance recently posted by Hartol Products Corporation.

BOND PRICES STAND AT THURSDAY LEVEL

Railway Loans Strengthen Market; U. S. Issues on Lower Basis.

New York June 23 (A.P.).—Strength of railway loans kept the bond market on an even keel today and prices, as a whole, finished just about where they started.

While uncertainties regaring the ultimate status of the dollar in foreign exchange markets apparently caused traders to exhibit more than usual caution in their commitments, the continued improvement in domestic business and industry was a sustaining factor.

Carrier liens reflected further reports of traffic revenue gains. Rallies of 1 to 2 or more points were recorded by issues of Santa Fe, Atlantic Coast Line, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake Corporation, Burlington, St. Paul, Chicago & Northwestern, Great Northern, K. C. Southern, Nickel Plate, Norfolk & Western, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific and Southern.

Highest grade utilities and industrials maintained a steady to firm tone, but some secondary bonds of these groups were irregular. Improvement was shown by loans of American & Foreign Power, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, International Telephone, Goodrich, Liggett & Myers, North American Cement, Postal Telegraph and St. Joseph Lead. Issues of Gulf State Steel, Otis Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Crown Cork and Corn Products eased.

United States Government securities drifted fractionally lower in dull trading. Foreign obligations were quiet, but bonds of France and Germany were off 1 to 2 or more points. Losses of around a point were also suffered by the Australians and Austrians.

Stocks Renew Climb On Light Sales Volume

Advance Is Along Wide Front With Average Gain of 2.6 Points; Trading Turnover Drops to 3,334,050 Shares.

New York, June 23 (A.P.).—Stocks rallied ambitiously in the late trading today, thus reversing yesterday's procedure.

Shares roused from an early afternoon siesta and closed with many net gains of 1 to 4 points. Despite this final splurge, which was fairly active, the day's business totaled only 3,334,050 shares, smallest volume since May 23.

Thursday's sharp dip had no overnight repercussions, for the market opened higher. Its vitality on this upturn, however, was feeble and by noon prices were back around the previous close, thereafter edging up and down in a narrow range until the grain markets developed buoyancy.

The late rise in stocks covered a broad list. Traders who had sold on Thursday's unsubstantiated rumor that France was leaving gold were willing to repurchase and prices moved up with considerable uniformity. Case, National Distillers, and Delaware & Hudson rallied 4 net. Chrysler led the motors with a 3-point appreciation, which was matched by Johns-Mansville, Western Union, Owens-Illinois, Corn Products, Allied Chemical and Du Pont. American Telephone, United States Steel, American Can, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Sears, Roebuck and International Harvester were up around 2 or more. Celanese, active, was 6 points higher.

The day was unproductive of financial news, apart from the boom in Chicago grains. Wall street anticipates that tomorrow's car-loadings figures, covering last week's traffic, will show a good increase over a year ago and that the total will represent a new high for 1933.

France to Face Real Test In Gold Standard Battle

Paris, June 23 (A.P.).—The real test of France's ability to stay on the gold standard is about to begin, financiers said today.

Opinion is divided on whether the franc can hold out with the United States inflating. Government experts, regardless of their public declarations, are said by responsible commentators to be fearful that France will be forced off gold if the dollar drops a few francs further.

The Bank of France still maintains that only the government's failure completely to balance the budget and to economize, or a panic among the people, can shake the franc. The bank expresses confidence that the enormous hoard of gold is ample protection.

Before the franc can be shaken, the United States and other countries will find instability unprofitable and will return to gold, in view of the Bank of France.

Financial experts who fear that France may be obliged to leave gold say that the dollar at 17 francs or thereabouts would destroy the remainder of French trade, and the diminished business would undermine confidence, compelling France to follow America. The prebourse quotation today was a little more than 20 francs to the dollar.

The government, foreseeing difficulties, is seeking a better commercial line-up in Europe.

Albert Sarraut, minister of colonies, declared at the World Economic Conference in London that France, with her colonies, can be self-contained. This declaration was followed in Paris by a series of conferences held by Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour with the Little Entente nations.

M. Paul-Boncour talked at length today with Bosco Jeftitch, foreign minister of Jugoslavia, and tomorrow he will see Eduard Benes, foreign minister of Czechoslovakia. He is seeking to harmonize the commercial relations of France, Italy and the Italian nations.

Cotton Price Tone Steady for Week

New York, June 23 (A.P.).—The cotton market has shown a generally steady undertone during the past week. Advances encountered a little more Southern selling, as well as considerable realizing, but offerings were absorbed by trade and commission house buying on comparatively moderate reactions.

Further depreciation in the dollar as reflected by foreign exchange rates, private reports that acreage curtailment plans were being favorably received by farmers in some parts of the South, and the firmness in wheat and stocks evidently encouraged buying on the declines, but the market showed signs of hesitation as prices approached the peak of the recent bull movement.

Up to the beginning of this week, the crop was generally supposed to be making at least the usual good June progress, but the dry, hot weather of the past few days has led to talk of possible deterioration if these conditions continue. While the South is understood to be selling a little more freely on advances, there have been reports of an improved demand for spot cotton from both domestic mills and exporters.

CURB SURGES HIGHER AFTER QUIET SALES

Prices Mount 1 to 6 Points as Trading Slackens to 493,000 Shares.

New York, June 23 (A.P.).—Curb stocks marked time until the last hour today, when prices surged up for a firm finish.

Trading volume increased in the last hour, but apathy of traders during the earlier part of the session was registered in a dwindling volume, which approximated but 493,000 shares, compared with 736,000 for the previous day.

Hiram Walker soared more than 6 points on merger rumors. Advances of around 3 points were recorded by Aluminum Co. of America and Parker Rust Proof. Other issues up 1 to more than 2 points included American Gas & Electric, Deere & Co., Electric Bond & Share, Newmont, Humble, Swift & Co. and Gulf Oil. Celanese first preferred rose nearly 6 points in light trading.

L. & N. Railroad Gains In Traffic Over Last Year

New York, June 23 (A.P.).—W. R. Cole, president of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, said today that the road's margin of gain over a year ago had recently been increasing.

"Whereas traffic in the first two weeks of this month was running about 20 per cent ahead of last year," he asserted, "the improvement witnessed in the past week or so has been in the neighborhood of 25 per cent. I don't think there is a reasonable doubt that we will cover our fixed charges in June if the business pick-up continues."

Virginia Approves New Utility Rates

Richmond, Va., June 23 (A.P.).—The State Corporation Commission today approved a new rate schedule submitted by the Consumers Utility Co., operating in Winchester, after the company voluntarily reduced its rates there.

The cuts made voluntarily by the company reduces its gross revenues about 12 per cent, and saves to 1,035 consumers a total of approximately $5,000 annually.

The commission's approval was placed on the new schedule of rates wired in by P. P. Pilcher, city manager of Winchester, who certified the new rates are satisfactory to the city council which earlier this week requested the cut. Previously the company proposed a new rate schedule which subsequently was amended by lowering the level first proposed.

BUSINESS EXPANDS IN SPITE OF SUMMER

Commodity Processing Tax Uncertainties Fail to Halt Advance.

New York, June 23 (A.P.).—Business in the past week continued its expansion, wholly unaffected by seasonal influences, said the Dun & Bradstreet Review today.

Expected hesitancy from uncertainties regarding the application of commodity processing taxes, the agency asserted, was not apparent in manufacturing schedules which were generally above those of a week ago.

"The broadened sweep at which trade is now progressing," continued the Review, "is eliciting astonishment from even the most time-worn veterans of industry, as the sustained strength of the upswing has passed boldly beyond even the most sanguine expectations.

"The further widening of employment and the continued rising trend of wages form the base of the larger buying power, the concrete evidence of which is apparent in the constantly widening distributive totals. Each week consumer demand is being extended to additional items, and as urgent needs for footwear and clothing are covered and accumulated bills paid, interest becomes more centered on furniture, house furnishings, radios, musical instruments and even jewelry.

"Evidence of the operation of sound constructive factors built on the secure groundwork which has been laid slowly during the last two years is furnished by the statistical exhibits of the major industries, which as yet reveal not even a faint likelihood of the usual summer lull."

Recovery Act Cited As Revolutionary

Chicago, June 23 (A.P.).—Terming the industrial recovery act "an economic revolution," Axtel J. Byles, of New York, president of the American Petroleum Institute, told oil men today the act might prevent a social revolution.

"Because business is picking up, our spirits are brighter," he said, "but unless we can keep the wheels going tragedy such as we have never seen will overtake the country." The oil men, representing trade associations of dealers and jobbers, met to formulate a set of trade practices and labor agreements under the recovery act. Byles urged the dealers to write a "sound and fair" code with all possible speed.

He explained the machinery for national organization of the oil industry planned by producers here last week and suggested the dealers name representatives to a "committee of 52" which the producers proposed would act as the industry's contact with the Government. The recovery act, he said, allowed the President to prescribe minimum wage rates and maximum hours of labor when industry failed to agree. Byles urged the oil delegates to "weigh the consequences of a discordant meeting."

OFFICIALS FIND BANK FORGOTTEN IN RUSH

Illinois Institution Remains Closed Without Cause, President Says.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Discovery of the "forgotton bank" was announced here yesterday by the National Depositors Committee, representing 20,000,000 depositors of closed and restricted banks.

D. F. Whited, president of the Farmers National Bank of Dahlgren, Ill., reported to Frank H. Schrenk, chairman of the committee, that his bank was entirely sound when the national bank holiday was proclaimed by President Roosevelt.

The bank had had no runs, had not restricted withdrawals and had borrowed no money. It had the complete confidence of the community. It is a member of the Federal Reserve. When the national bank holiday ended no attention was paid to this bank and for no apparent reason it remains closed.

Statement by White.

Mr. White said, "Since March 4, we have been given no attention though we are ready to meet requ

WHEAT VALUES RISE ON CROP'S DAMAGES

Flurried Buying Gives Push to Prices; Other Grains Join Uprising.

Chicago, June 23 (A.P.).—Sensational damage reports, indicating immense losses of crops in the Dakotas, Minnesota and Canada rushed grain values up today to above latest peak records.

Flurried buying on a big scale took place, with all deliveries of wheat, oats and rye outdoing the season's previous top quotations. It was unofficially estimated the United States 1933 probable production of wheat would prove decidedly less than actual consumer use in recent years, and that even with favorable weather South Dakota east of the Missouri River would only be able this season to get seed back.

Wheat closed feverish at the day's top, 1⅞ to 2¾ cents over yesterday's finish; corn, ½ to 1¼ up; oats, ¾ to 1⅞ advanced, and provisions 5 to 10 cents down.

Market Opens Weak.

At first the wheat market tended downward today, influenced by reports that lower temperatures and scattered moisture had brought about an improved prospect for crops.

Later, however, authoritative advices indicated that recent prolonged abnormal heat and drought had done far more injury to grain than was generally believed. The reports said this applied in particular to South Dakota, southern North Dakota and western Minnesota.

Houses with Eastern connections led the rush to buy wheat, and prices quickly jumped more than 3 cents a bushel from the day's bottom figures.

Damage From Heat.

One conservative grain authority said that throughout wide areas Northwest the extreme heat and simultaneous death of moisture had killed stools of the wheat plants and left only a single stem. The condition of wheat in South Dakota was described as "pitiable."

Adding to anxiety to traders were reports that a downward revision of estimates on domestic winter wheat production was probable, threshing returns in Kansas appeared to indicate wheat losses in weight would amount to millions of bushels, and that the same condition might be disclosed in Nebraska and soft wheat States.

Corn, oats and other grains were governed by wheat action.

Provisions lacked adequate buying support.

Returning Money Will Boost Credit

New York, June 23 (A.P.).—The return of currency from circulation—outstanding feature of the banking situation—is laying a firm foundation for the expansion of credit and the stimulation of business, financial observers maintain. Money in circulation reached an all-time peak of $7,538,000,000 on March 8, largely because of the widespread hoarding of currency resulting from fear in the soundness of the country's banking structure.

Since that time circulation figures have decreased in such a spectacular manner that the development has constituted a virtual "flight from hoarding," bankers explain. On June 21, money in circulation totaled $5,896,000,000, a decrease of $1,842,000,000 from the high mark. As analyzed in financial quarters, the returning currency has consisted of surplus money no longer needed to replace bank deposits which were frozen during the period of the bank holiday, together with hoarded funds now going into the purchase of commodities and securities.

The steady contraction of currency emphasizes the belief that a much smaller amount of paper money would be sufficient to accommodate the present volume of business activity, even on a broadening scale. In the forepart of 1929, it is pointed out, with business active at much higher prices than now, an average of only about $4,700,000,000 of currency was in circulation, almost $1,000,000,000 below the existing figure. The continued return flow of currency may obviate the necessity of large purchases of Government bonds in the Federal Reserve's campaign to increase bank credit, many authorities hold.

Wool Prices Gain On Boston Market

Boston, June 23 (A.P.).—The commercial bulletin will say tomorrow: "Wool prices are up another 2 cents a pound, clean basis, at the end of the week, over the prices prevailing a week ago, following a fairly good demand continuing from the mills, both worsted and woolen.

"Manufacturers have sold a very decent yardage of goods, but have been marking prices higher. There is some reluctance to quote on yards and tops at the moment, as well as on goods, except at protective prices, on account of the imminence of higher production costs under the terms of the industrial recovery act.

"In the West, the new clip is rapidly being cleared from the market and buyers have commenced to return to the Eastern seaboard again. Prices continue at about the top levels reported a week ago."

Virginia Slate Quaries Plan Opening July 5

Richmond, Va., June 23 (A.P.).—Opening of three of the largest slate quarries in the Buckingham area was announced today by the Buckingham-Virginia Slate Corporation of Richmond.

The announcement said the quarries would be opened July 5, and that they would employ approximately 300 workers. Besides these larger operations, others were expected to open shortly. The operations will be in the vicinity of Arvonia, Va.

Ford Motor's Surplus Reduced $74,861,644

Boston, June 23 (A.P.).—A reduction of $74,861,644.56 in the surplus of the Ford Motor Co. for 1932 as compared with 1931, was shown in a statement filed with the Massachusetts commissioner of taxation and corporations today.

The surplus for 1932 was $580,440,602.54. In 1931 it was $655,302,247.10. Capital stock was listed at $17,264,500. A list of assets included "cash, &c.," as $303,650,429.63 as compared with $372,483,104.62 in 1931.

Dried Fruits Steady.

New York, June 23 (A.P.).—Dried fruits steady, unchanged.

Dollars Steadier In Foreign Marts

New York, June 23 (A.P.).—The American dollar steadied in foreign exchange markets today after exhibiting further weakness in early trading.

The British pound sterling ran up to around $4.24 for cables and then dropped back to $4.21¾ for a gain of 1½ cents. The French franc, up to 4.91 cents, slipped back to 4.87¼ for a fractional loss. Dutch guilders and Belgian belgas declined 1-20 of a cent each to 49.80 and 17.35 cents, respectively. Canadian dollars were unchanged and Far Eastern currencies were slightly lower. German marks, however, moved up 1-10 of a cent to 29.65 cents.

Dealers reported that uncertainties regarding currency stabilization movements in London, notwithstanding the official refusal of the United States to consider pegging the dollar at this time, tended to make continental traders more cautious than usual.

Cotton Mills Plan Full Time.

Newberry, S. C., June 23 (A.P.).—The Newberry Cotton Mills announced today full-time operations will be resumed Monday. Work will be given 200 additional employes. The mill has been operating a full day schedule with one-third of the plant in night operation.

Steel Prices Unchanged.

New York, June 23 (A.P.).—Steel prices unchanged.

Five-Power Wheat Curbing Waits Only on Australia

London, June 23 (A.P.).—Australia's acceptance of a wheat acreage reduction scheme was all that was lacking today for the consummation of a five-power agreement described as an international enlargement of certain provisions of the American farm relief bill.

Russia and Argentina are the latest nations to join Canada and the United States in a gigantic proposal to curtail, perhaps by 15 per cent, the acreage planted to wheat and to limit exports.

Henry Morgenthau, jr., technical adviser to the American World Economic Conference delegation, who has been prime mover in efforts to enlist the biggest wheat producers in the movement for increasing prices, is confident Australia, too, will join.

"All that remains now is the settlement of actuarial details," the New Yorker asserted. He said the plan provided for "reduction of acreage and an arrangement as to maximum exports." He hopes also that Danubian countires will participate.

Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet foreign commissar, and Thomas Le Breton, Argentine representative, accepted the proposal yesterday on behalf of their governments. Stanley Bruce, of Australia, was in touch with Canberra.

One American, sharing his colleagues' joy at the progress of their plans, described the development as "the biggest thing that has happened so far in the conference."

Should Bruce hear favorably from his government, the wheat delegations were prepared to meet today to draft the agreement for presentation to the conference.

Smaller producers then would be asked to enter the pact.

Shares Merger Offered To Reliance Corporation

New York, June 23 (A.P.).—Atlas Corporation, an investment trust, made public today an offer to holders of Class A common stock of the Reliance International Corporation whereby one share of the later may be exchanged for one-quarter share of Atlas common stock. The offer expires July 6.

Reliance International, a management type investment trust, had assets of approximately $6,000,000 as of December 31, 1932. Atlas, holds a minority interest in the company of between 20 and 25 per cent.

Texas Wheat Sells at 91 Cents.

Fort Worth, Tex., June 23 (A.P.).—Wheat sold at 91 cents a bushel on the Fort Worth cash grain market today after a lapse of two years. Demand was active at the full advance.

Receivers Ordered To Distribute Fund

Chicago, June 23 (A.P.).—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today ruled in effect that $160,000 in funds of the defunct Hawkins Mortgage Co., of Indianapolis, should be distributed among stockholders.

The ruling included a rebuke to receivers seeking to delay winding up of bankrupt estates for the purpose of accumulating fees. A claim of a State court receiver for the $160,000 was disallowed.

Representatives of the stockholders claimed that if the $160,000 had been given to the State receivers, most of it would have reverted to Morton S. Hawkins, former head of the corporation, who was recently paroled after serving seven years of a fifteen-year penitentiary sentence for using the mails to defraud. The State receivers had claimed the stockholders' claims were invalid. Creditors of the company have been paid in full.

New York State Offers $26,595,000 in Bonds

New York, June 23 (A.P.).—New York State is offering a $26,595,000 issue of unemployment relief, general improvement and grade cross elimination bonds on June 28, swelling to $32,980,893 the volume of State and municipal financing scheduled for next week.

This is the year's largest total, says the Daily Bond Buyer.

Pacific Coast Foreign Trade Activity Gaining

San Francisco, June 23 (A.P.).—Pacific Coast foreign trade gained in activity during May, compared with the preceding month, Commerce Department figures showed today.

Total cargo values were $21,718,349, the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce reported, gaining more than $1,800,000 over April's $19,824,836. Commerce in May, 1932, was valued at $24,299,960.

Columbus Gas & Fuel To Appeal Rate Case

New York, June 23 (A.P.).—The Columbus Gas & Fuel Co. will appeal to the United States Supreme Court the decision of the Ohio Supreme Court holding a 48-cent gas rate adequate, it was announced today by the Columbia Gas & Electric Corporation, parent company.

The State court reversed the utilities commission order fixing a 55-cent gas rate in the Columbus case and upholding, the 48-cent rate recommended in the minority report of John W. Bricker, then a utilities commissioner and now State attorney general.

COTTON PRICES RISE ON TRADE'S BUYING

October Sells at 9.66 With General Market Up 16 to 19 Points.

New York, June 23 (A.P.).—Reactions from an opening advance were followed by sharp rallies in cotton today.

Late buying was evidently stimulated by strength in the wheat and stock markets. October closed at 9.66 with the general market closing firm at net advances of 16 to 19 points.

Relatively firm Liverpool cables and the further depreciation of the dollar, as reflected by foreign exchange rates, caused opening advances of 9 to 11 points.

Foreign House Buying.

Houses with Liverpool, continental and Far Eastern connections were credited with buying. Closing quotations were within a point or two of the best for the day.

There were reports that farmers were giving acreage curtailment proposals favorable consideration in some sections.

Liverpool cables reported trade calling and local buying there, influenced by the weather news from the South. Exports today, 16,262 bales, making 7,705,028 bales so far this season. Port receipts, 13,158 bales. United States port stocks, 3,576,166 bales.

Some Southern Selling.

A little more scattered Southern selling in small lots was reported during the early trading leading to reports that holders were more disposed to sell around present prices.

An improved spot demand from both domestic mills and exporters has been reported, however, and it was reported in spot circles here that based on sales during the past two weeks, export figures for July should make a good showing.

Fox Film to Vote On Reorganization

New York, June 23 (A.P.).—A reorganization plan for the Fox Film Corporation will be submitted to stockholders at special meetings to be held on July 1 and July 3, it was announced today. Holders of the present class A and class B common stocks, as previously announced, will be asked to exchange their holdings for new shares of corresponding rating on the basis of one new for six old shares.

Acceptance of this plan would be followed by an increase in the authorized number of class A shares to 2,800,000 with an offer to stockholders to subscribe at $18.90 a share for five shares of the new stock for each share of class A and B then held.

In a letter to stockholders, Sidney R. Kent, president, stated that the money derived from the sale of stock will be applied toward the payment of bank loans and interest due on August 1, amounting to $39,746,400. Holders of bank loans and debentures have agreed to underwrite subscriptions to the new stock to the amount due them, Kent said.

NATS DEFEAT CHISOX, 7-3, TO TAKE LEAGUE LEAD

Peacock Wins Title From Steward

Is Victor by 3 and 1 in Congressional Golf Final.

Nee and Shorey Are Beaten in Morning Semifinals.

By DAVE HERMAN.

GILT-EDGE golf that was studded with spectacular iron shots enabled Roger Peacock, fair-haired Indian Spring star and District champion, to weather the storm of a menacing challenge by Luther Steward, jr., host club favorite, in the finals of the Congressional Country Club invitation tournament yesterday afternoon.

Thundering home with as fine a flash of shotmaking as any invitation championship event has ever witnessed in this section, young Peacock conquered the Congressional entry and cosharer of the medal prize, by 3 and 1, to carry off the beautiful trophy that was first presented in 1925.

Survivors of a field of more than 175 golfers who set out in quest of laurels on Tuesday, Peacock, captain of the 1933 Duke University golf team, and his adversary waged an exciting battle that had a gallery of more than 400 spectators hanging on with every shot.

Shorey Eliminated By 6 and 3.

In his morning semifinals Peacock eliminated John Shorey, of Kenwood, by 5 and 3, being one over par for the first nine and even par until the match ended on the fifteenth green. Fittingly climaxing the battle, Peacock played two stunning shots on the fifteenth, ran down a 4-footer and scored a birdie 3. Peacock, however, was pressed on the first nine, going to the tenth with a 1 up advantage.

The affable Steward had a struggle on his hands before dusting Maury Nee, 17-year-old Columbia star, 1 up, in his morning match. They were all even at the turn, and waged as tight a battle as one has ever seen on the grueling stretch.

They came to the eighteenth hole with the match all square. Both were approximately 8 feet from the cup on their second. Steward nabbed his putt and Nee's putt hung precariously on the lip of the cup.

And Steward won—won by a hair's breadth, and through his ability to sink at the right moment.

Captures First Three Holes.

Peacock opened his assault on Steward, and on Old Man Par as well, in rather auspicious fashion. He won the first three holes to sweep into a commanding lead. He sank a 6-footer for a 5 to take the first; almost holed out for a birdie 3 from a ravine with his "dynamiter" on the slight dogleg second, and canned a 4-footer for his par 3 on the third.

The fifth produced two birdie 4s, Peacock sinking his from 10 feet and Steward from 12. Steward sliced down the lead on the sixth. What a hole this was! Peacock made a beautiful shot from the rough, his second took a lucky hop over the trap near the green to within 5 feet of the pin, but he missed his putt. Meanwhile, Steward laid his approach dead to the pin and got his birdie 3. Steward took the seventh with a par 4 to Peacock's 5, the latter three-putting.

Peacock Three-Putts Eighth Green.

Steward got a real break on the eighth. Peacock fired a sensational second shot out of the rough to within 15 feet of the green. Steward, trapped on his second, played his third too boldly, the ball overshooting the green and landing in the bushes near the woods. Peacock went 15 feet past the pin on his third, three-putted, and Steward gained a half in 6s.

They halved the ninth, Steward's putt stopping two inches from the Red Sox Defeat Tigers Again, 3-2

Detroit, June 23 (A.P.).—The Boston Red Sox took their third game in four starts against the Detroit Tigers today, 3 to 2. Each club got 10 hits, but the Tigers, who filled the bases twice with none out, failed to deliver in the pinches.

"Schoolboy" Rowe went the distance for Detroit. Bob Weiland, who started for Boston, was taken out in favor of Henry Johnson after Fox had tripled in the ninth.

Johnson walked two men, then fanned Walker and Greenberg to retire the side.

Phillies Defeat Cards For 6th Straight, 9-4

Philadelphia, June 23 (A.P.).—Even the great Dean couldn't stop the onrush of the Phillies, who unreeled their sixth straight victory today by slapping down the ambitions St. Louis Cardinals, 9 to 4.

It was one of the most exciting games of the season, and around 6,000 fans, about half of them women, yelled themselves hoarse when the Phillies blasted Dizzy Dean out of the box with an eight-run rally in the eighth inning.

They pounded Dean to all corners in that session, and punished Jess Haines before he finally retired the side, with the game hopelessly lost for the Cards. Liska, who pitched the seventh, received credit for the victory, his second of the year without a defeat.

Washington Climaxes Great First-Place Fight With 16-Hit Victory Over Chicago as Yankees Win and Lose in Double Bill With Lowly Browns

St. Louis Gets 3 Runs in 8th of Nightcap to Triumph, 5-4.

Ruth Slams His 16th Homer of Season in 10-6 First Game.

ST. LOUIS, June 23 (A.P.).—The New York Yankees' defense cracked in the eighth inning of the second game today and tumbled the world champions down into second place in the American League as two errors enabled the Browns to win the second half of a double-header, 5 to 4, after the Yanks had taken the opener, 10 to 6.

Two New York errors played a big part in St. Louis' three-run rally that decided the second game. They came after Charley Ruffing had weakened and granted a walk and two doubles that tied the score. Tony Lazzeri fumbled Muddy Ruel's grounder and let Oscar Melillo, who had driven in the tying runs, reach third.

Run Scores as Sewell Lets Ball Through.

Lazzeri threw to third in an effort to catch the runner napping and Joe Sewell let the ball go through him and the winning run scored.

The even break in the twin bill, coupled with Washington's victory over Chicago, dropped the Yanks a half game behind the Nats in the pennant race. The Nats had been tied with New York.

The Yanks had little difficulty winning the opener. They hammered George Blaeholder from the hill with a six-run burst in the third inning and coasted in, although they were outhit, 15-13. Babe Ruth walloped his sixteenth home run of the season in the fourth frame off Dick Coffman's delivery to finish the Yankee scoring for the game. Bill Dickey hit for the circuit in the big scoring frame with one on, and Bruce Campbell hit his tenth homer for the Browns in the eighth.

Rolls Up Lead of Four Runs.

New York started off well in the second game, rolling up a four-run lead in the fourth, but Sam Gray checked them with fine relief pitching, while Ruffing's wildness proved costly.

MIGHTY MANUSH SLUGS ON—

who slammed out a homer and three singles in five trips to the plate to bring his consecutive game streak to 26 games and who played a big part in the victory that sent the Nats into the undisputed lead.

Manush, Hitting His Stride, Is a Side Show by Himself

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 23.—"Feast your eyes on the new 1933 wonder. No wax figure, but a living specimen in the flesh. The greatest attraction under the big tent. How does he do it? See him for $1—the tenth part of a sawbuck. See him do his stunt daily. Not a moving picture. Step inside and the show will begin in a few minutes."

The barkers in the midway, Chicago's carnival avenue at its world's fair, are thinking of taking over Heinie Manush, the greatest show outside the grounds of the Century of Progress, Chicago's official name for its fair that nobody uses.

Manush in his present batting form would be the barkers' delight. "The more he hits, the more he wants. Watch him knock the pitchers' ears off. See him hit to right, left and center. Gaze upon him as he stretches his hitting streak that has now reached 26 consecutive games. The marvel of the baseball age. Step right inside, you red-blooded Americans."

Manush has been, indeed, staging a private little sideshow of his own while playing with the Nats during the last month. He has, indeed, hit safely in 26 consecutive games. He has compiled a batting average of .444 over that period. He's made 28 hits in his last 43 times at bat for an average of .651.

From miner league to minor league to the majors is the story of Heinie Manush's career. The Nats' big left fielder was playing ball for a mining company at Kenilworth, Utah, in the early twenties, when his play in the Thomas and Russell Give But 6 Bingles; Lyons Is Routed.

Manush Runs Streak to 26 Games With Homer, 3 Singles.

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH
(Sports Editor of The Post).

COMISKEY PARK, Chicago, Ill., June 23.—Chicago has its White Sox, but the Nats have the old sock. The keynote of their endeavors again today was the old "sockcess."

The Nats sprayed the Sox with 16 base hits, won 7-3 and went into undisputed possession of first place in the American League as the New York Yankees were splitting a double-header with the last-place St. Louis Browns. The Browns won the nightcap, 5-4, after losing the opener, 10-6.

Ted Lyons, who was a good pitcher when he had it, didn't have it today. They almost tore him loose from the box, did the Nats, with a base hit barrage that put runners on base in every inning but the ninth and by that time the ladies in the upper decks had already been giving serious thoughts to domestic duties, what with the White Sox going up and down with much the same regularity of the molars of the gum-chewing sex who turned out for the free exhibition to the number of 25,000. There were 5,000 paying customers.

Thomas Opposes Lyons.

It was roommate vs. roommate on the pitching mound. Tommy Thomas, who used to pitch his heart out regularly for the White Sox, until the Nats reprieved him with a $10,000 purchase price last summer, was facing his old roomie, Lyons. It was no contest. Thomas permitted the Sox a run in the first, blanked them for six more innings, suffered them two unearned runs in the eighth, and had his 7-3 lead when he retired in favor of Jack Russell. The Sox had six hits for the day.

What happened to Lyons accounts for the unusual length of the box score. Every Nat who took a turn at bat hit safely at least once, including, in a big way, Heinie Manush, who hit safely in his twenty-sixth consecutive game.

Heinie Hits First Homer.

Heinie hit safely not once, or twice, or even thrice, but four times. Four large and luscious hits that swelled an already fat average. One of these, a smashing home run high into the distant seats of right field, was his first home run of the season. Very

Dodgers Win, 5-4; Cuccinello Stars

Brooklyn, June 23 (A.P.).—Shut out for seven innings with only five hits, the Dodgers landed on Larry French, Pittsburgh southpaw, in the eighth, and wound up five runs and a 5-4 victory as Tony Cuccinello climaxed the rally by hitting a home run with the bases full.

Three hits and a walk preceded the clout, which came after two were out. The Pirates staged a counter-rally in the ninth and scored two runs as Adam Comorosky rapped a pinch double, but Joe Shaute stopped them short of a tie. The first two Pittsburgh runs off Owen Carroll came through Dodger errors.

Ross Defeats Canzoneri For Title

Is Winner in Savage, Close Fight, Before 11,204 in Chicago.

Crowd Boos Verdict; Outrage, Declares Loser's Manager.

By CHARLES DUNKLEY.

CHICAGO, June 23 (A.P.).—Barney Ross, black-haired, slim-waisted Chicagoan, waded through the merciless fists of Tony Canzoneri tonight to snatch the lightweight championship of the world from the New York titleholder.

In the sweltering heat of the Chicago Stadium, Ross won the title in a savage, spectacular, close ten-round battle, so close that the officials did not agree on the verdict. Referee Tommy Gilmore, himself a former boxer and son of an old-time featherweight champion, voted in favor of a draw, while the two judges, Edward Hinz and William A. Battys, cast their ballots in favor of the 22-year-old Chicagoan on the closest of margins.

Crowd of 11,204 Boos And Hisses.

The crowd of 11,204, at first stunned by the verdict, expressed its disapproval in boos and hisses, when Ross' right gloved fist was raised in victory.

Canzoneri, in whose custody the 135-pound title has rested since 1930, was amazed. He stood in his corner with a look of bewilderment on his face for fully two minutes. He had successfully defended his title in four previous bouts.

"The decision was the surprise of my entire boxing career, and I have had many of them," Canzoneri said, as his assistants stood by with lowered heads. "Honestly, I thought I was so far ahead of Ross that I coasted in the eighth and nin

GAY WORLD WINS LINCOLN FIELDS FEATURE RACE IN STRETCH

Miss Melody Beaten by Length

Tipton Brings Mount Up in Drive; Rubio in 3d Place.

LINCOLN FIELDS, Ill., June 23 (A.P.).—A spectacular stretch run today gave J. A. Nix's Gay World a victory in the Thornton Purse, top event of the Lincoln Fields program for the day.

Merry Chatter and Miss Melody set the pace in the early part of the 6-furlong event, but began to shorten up as the field of six went into the stretch. Gay World was well back, but under a hard ride by Jockey A. Tipton, got up to win by a length over Miss Melody. The latter had enough left to beat out Rubio for the place. The rest of the field included Burning Up, Journey's End and Minton.

The winner paid $5.44 straight in the $2 mutuels, and ran the distance in 1:11 3-5.

New York, June 23 (A.P.).—A victory a day, and sometimes two, is the record of "Sunny Jim" Fitzsimmons, leading trainer at the Aqueduct meeting.

Today it was two for the man who conditioned the famous Gallant Fox as young Hank Mills, from Colorado, guided the lightly regarded Ogden Phipps' Appomattox to victory in the curtain raiser and then completed a double aboard William Woodward's well played Pardee in the 1 1-16-mile fifth event. Appomattox paid 15 to 1 and Pardee 3 to 2.

The honor of winning the feature event, however, went to C. V. Whitney when Step Sister, making her second public appearance of the year, led five other 3-year-old fillies over the 1 mile of the Gazelle Purse.

Well ridden by Don Meade, the daughter of Broomstick, quoted at 4 to 1, stepped the distance in 1:39 flat and at the end had three lengths to spare over the favorite, Mrs. P. A. B. Widener's White Lies, which was making her seasonal debut. The B. B. Stable's Well Built was third.

AT THE POST

with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: LINCOLN FIELDS, JUNE 23.

Jack Westrope and Bill Bennings kept in step again today. We both had only one winner, but I had more chances than the star rider. And we both had some tough breaks. He rode Batty for me and we went down to defeat by a neck margin. However, we'll be out there tomorrow battling them again and trust that we will do better. Passed up the movies tonight and went deep into the books for these that I'm passing along.

BILL.

FIRST RACE—I don't believe we will catch ESKIMO in any better shape than he is now. Is moving fast in trials and showing speed in races. Gets my call in this sprint over LERACK and ANNAN, despite the fact that he carries 116 pounds.

SECOND RACE—CLOUD D'OR looks like a winning favorite from where we sit. Seems the most likely of this group to graduate. Gets the rail position and may never be headed. LEGAL GAMBLE and BUSY SPAIN have threatened at times and are money possibilities.

THIRD RACE—SONG HIT gets in with only a moderate impost and may show this field some real speed tomorrow. MARTIE FLYNN is last on the list, but is dangerous if he goes to the post. BLACK STRAP for the show end.

FOURTH RACE—CUIRASSIER exhibited some fine form in winning the other day and that effort repeated here would take it all. FIGHTING BOB may be the one to do the chief chasing. PEEDEEQUE is going to win races around Chicago. I don't know when, but we must keep our eyes open.

FIFTH RACE—THREAT ran a good race the other day but tailed off at the end as if needing racing. We may expect a better effort tomorrow and I'm letting the dough ride on this one. SOUER BLANCHE gets in with a mere 99 pounds and can't be overlooked entirely. BABEE is sharp and ready to show at least.

SIXTH RACE—LATE DATE won her last in impressive style and can run for the Bennings interests tomorrow. Has a capable stablemate in the race in ROCKY NEWS. SIDNEY GRANT and BID BRAND for the other money places.

SEVENTH RACE—PIECEMEAL drew a lot of play the last time and failed to run accordingly. This is a better spot, however, and I expect to see a different race. BELGIAN LASS and SPECTACULAR for the place and show.

EIGHTH RACE—Pardon me if I try to make TRYANDAGAIN beat ED LARK in the final. MAD PLAY to complete the cash picture.

Mr. Khayyam 8-5 Choice In Dwyer

Five Other Colts, One Filly Entered at Aqueduct Today.

NEW YORK, June 23 (A.P.).—Seeking another important victory in a campaign for the 3-year-old turf championship, Mrs. James M. Austin's Mr. Khayyam, outstanding contender for the title, will have a chance to prove his ability over 1¼ miles tomorrow against five other colts and one filly in the sixteenth running of the $5,000 Dwyer Stakes at Aqueduct.

The son of Omar Khayyam, a $400 investment as a yearling, has come along fast since trailing in the Kentucky Derby. He soundly whipped Head Play, second in the Derby and winner of the Preakness, in the Wood Memorial over a mile and 70 yards and then repeated the performance at the 1¼ miles of the $25,000 American Derby.

For tomorrow's race, Mr. Khayyam has been asked to pick up 123 pounds and give from two to seven pounds to his rivals, including Lee Rosenberg's Kerry Patch, famous for his surprise victories in the $100,000 Belmont Park Futurity last fall and the Queens County Handicap last Saturday. Kerry Patch will carry 121 pounds.

Mr. Khayyam Is 8-5 Choice.

With the added advantage of having Good Advice, a speedy sprinter, as his running mate, Mr. Khayyam is the 8-to-5 choice. Kerry Patch is quoted at 3 to 1. The little veteran, Pete Walls, again will be astride Mr. Khayyam, while R. Wholey will ride the Rosenberg colt.

Hoping to emulate the 1920 triumph of his famous sire, Man o'War, War Glory will carry the silks of Samuel Riddle into the testing race. The son of America's superhorse is held at 8 to 1, but probably will be quoted at shorter odds by post time (about 3 p. m. (E. S. T.) as he turned in several speedy trials in preparation for the race. He will be ridden by Johnny Gilbert, of Pittsburg, Kans., the country's leading jockey last year.

The remainder of the field includes Morton L. Schwartz's Union, third in the Belmont Stakes; William Woodward's Jovius, and the Wheatley Stable's Edelweiss, the filly. Jovius and Edelweiss will run coupled in the betting as the Trainer James Fitzsimmons entry.

Hank Mills, the little Colorado jockey, was scheduled to ride one of the Fitzsimmons-trained entries, but today was set down five days for rough riding.

Davis Cup System Changed in Europe

Paris, June 23 (A.P.).—A new system of eliminations for Davis Cup play in the European zone which will reduce the competitors next year to eight nations was announced today.

The 17 European teams already eliminated from the international tennis competition this year will play their 1934 round within the next few weeks, the four surviving teams to be drawn against the four 1933 semifinalists in next year's play.

England, Japan, Australia and Czechoslovakia thus automatically qualify for 1934 with their four opponents to come from among Belgium, Hungary, Holland, Roumania, Poland, Italy, Monaco, Switzerland, Norway, Yugoslavia, Austria, Spain, Denmark, Greece, Germany, Ireland and Sweden.

The preliminary rounds are to be completed by September 3, with the first round to be played before July 23 and the second August 20.

ST. JEROME'S VS. SWANN.

St. Jerome's, of Hyattsville, will play Swann Service Sunday, at 3 p. m., at Magruder Park. The Saints want a game for July 2, and a twin bill for the Fourth. Call Manager Burichter at Hyattsville 95-J.

MRS. HAYNES DEFEATS HELEN DETTWEILER FOR GOLF TITLE

Youthful Foe Is Defeated By 7 and 5

Columbia's Star Adds District Crown to Many Laurels.

Manor Lassie Fails to Win Hole in Finals Match.

MRS. J. MARVIN HAYNES, of Columbia Country Club, added the District championship to her many prized possessions yesterday at the sporty Kenwood course by overwhelming Helen Dettweiler, 18-year-old Manor lassie, by 7 and 5 in the finals of the tournament.

Top-heavy favorite from the start and given only one real tight battle in her three previous matches, Mrs. Haynes completely outclassed her more youthful opponent in the championship test. Mrs. Haynes had a narrow escape from defeat in her semifinals with Virginia Pope, winning, 1 up. So powerful was the Middle Atlantic titleholder that Miss Dettweiler failed to win a single hole.

Mrs. Haynes steered clear of the many hazards that often upset the championship aspirations of golfers, hitting her tee shots for nifty distances and showing uncanny accuracy in laying her approach shots dead to the pin.

Columbia Star Takes Lead.

The long-driving Columbia star won the third and fourth holes after the first two had been halved in 6s, won the sixth with a par 3 to go 3 up. Miss Dettweiler braced to halve the next three holes and go on to the turn 3 down.

Mrs. Haynes captured the 275-yard tenth with a 4 to Miss Detweiler's 5, and won the next three holes easily to end the match on the thirteenth green.

Miss Dettweiler did not shoot as well as she did against Mrs. Don Scott in her semifinals match. She was wild and erratic off the tee, and missed numerous approaches and putts. But her showing was unusually good, since it was her first big tournament, and since she had been playing golf only a year and a half.

Mrs. Haynes crossed the turn after taking 44 strokes. Miss Dettweiler used up 49.

Their cards:

In the consolation of the first flight, Miss Louise Clayton, of Chevy Chase, defeated Mrs. Ora Emge, of Beaver Dam, 3 and 2.

Prizes were presented the winners and runners-up in five flights by Miss Elizabeth C. Harris, president of the District of Columbia Women's Golf Championship.

cup, and Peacock led 1 up at the turn.

They halved the tenth in 5s, the dog leg eleventh in 4s, Peacock's try for a birdie hitting Steward's ball near the cup. Peacock missed a birdie by inches on the twelfth and got a half in 3.

The pivotal point in the match occurred on the thirteenth. In the rough on his second, Peacock smacked a grand approach to within 6 feet of the cup, and shot down his birdie 4, winning with a 4 to Steward's 5 and going 2 up.

Steward won the fourteenth when Peacock flubbed his tee shot. The Indian Spring star took the fifteenth with two nice shots and a par 4, as Steward's drive, half topped, barely jumped over a sand trap.

It looked bad for Peacock on the sixteenth. His drive landed in heavy rough. He came out safely. Steward, however, was trapped on his second, was short of the pin with his third, and they halved the hole in 5s.

Good Approach Caps Climax.

Peacock's good approaching enabled him to settle the issue on the seventeenth green. He laced out a niblick to the back edge of the green, while Steward's second landed in a trap. Steward blasted out 15 feet past the pin. Peacock putted up close and Steward's final attempt was short.

The Congressional golfer conceded the hole.

Finishing the round, Peacock wound up with a 74 medal, and Steward a 78. Their cards with par follow:

Defeat Dealt Tolley and Dunlap

Scott and Bourn Will Battle Today for British Title.

HOYLAKE, England, June 23 (A.P.).—A bewildering twist in the annual battle for the British amateur golf championship brought defeat today to the twin favorites, George T. Dunlap, jr., of New York, and Cyril Tolley, the massive Englishman, leaving in their stead two Scotch country gentlemen to play 36 holes tomorrow in the final round for the historic trophy.

To the complete astonishment of both the gallery and the 24-year-old American youngster, the Hon. Michael Scott, 55-year-old scion of a famous family, bowled Dunlap over, 4 and 3, in the semifinal round after the New Yorker had staged a remarkable parade through seven straight rounds seeking a title only two American homebreds, Jess Sweetser and Bobby Jones, have won.

At the same time Thomas Arundel Bourn methodically pushed Tolley aside by the tight margin of 1 up in 20 holes. The two upsets astounded the gallery of 3,000 that swarmed the famous seaside links of the Royal Liverpool Club, expecting anything but the uprising of the old guard.

Inspired Play Overcomes Two-Hole Lead.

Scott put on a brilliant display to beat the slender little American who weakened just enough in the afternoon round to see a lead of two holes fade into a four-hole deficit and elimination before the veteran's inspired play.

An eagle three on the long eighth hole, where Scott whanged his second shot within 8 yards of the cup and sank the putt, brought the Scotsman even after an early two-hole disadvantage, shook Dunlap's confidence and provided the turning point of the match.

Dunlap was away to a splendid start, picking up a hole at the second, where Scott needed three putts, and the sixth, where the veteran overran the green and took five, but a fine 3-yard putt on the seventh green as Dunlap was missing one of the same distance, and the master stroke on the eighth for the eagle pulled Scott out of trouble.

A great spoon shot gave Scott a half on the ninth and he quickly applied the finishing thrusts as Dunlap wilted. Scott took the lead with a par three on the eleventh, where Dunlap was short with his approach; halved the twelfth and then ran out the next three holes when the flustered youngster began missing short putts. A long putt dropped for Scott's birdie four on the fourteenth. His par on the fifteenth was good enough to give him his sixth hole in the last nine they played, and the match.

The cards:

Defeat of Tolley Surprise.

The defeat of Tolley, who has been playing most of his golf recently in the United States, was equally surprising though his conqueror, Bourn, was closed champion in 1930 and is a former French amateur titleholder.

FLORIDA ACE WINS OVER HOWELL

Redmond Downs Foe, 6 and 4, in Southern Amateur Golf.

EAST Lake Country Club, Atlanta, June 23 (A.P.).—Ralph Redmond, a 27-year-old veteran and al-around athlete, of St. Petersburg, Fla., will battle a Louisville, Ky., youngster, Earl Stokes, tomorrow morning for the Southern amateur golf championship.

Firing subpar golf in the semifinals, Redmond eliminated the Walker Cup star, Billy Howell, of Richmond, Va., today, 6 and 5, as Stokes, who also was a stroke under par for sixteen holes, won a surprise victory over Jack Toomer, of Hendersonville, N. C., 3 and 2.

Never before in the 31 years' history of this tournament has the championship gone to either Florida or Kentucky. This is Redmond's first appearance in a Southern titular meet, while Stokes has played in two other tournaments.

Redmond, who defeated Eugene Vinson, of Meridian, Miss., this morning, 6 and 4, had Howell down all the way and lost only one hole to the Virginian.

Howell, who was slightly ill after the morning round, could not match Redmond's booming drive and superb putting. The Richmond youth also was off form in his short game.

Stokes won this morning from Jack Taylor, jr., of Tampa, 2 up. Howell had a hard match before defeating Francis Ford, of Charleston, S. C., 2 and 1, while Toomer won from Dean Smith, of Savannah, Ga., by the same count.

Roberts Gains Finals In Chiseler's Tourney

Coming from behind in the third and deciding set, Bill Roberts defeated George Considine by scores of 6—2, 0—6, 7—5, to win his way into the final round of the Chiselers Club tournament. Considine rallied to win the second cluster of games and had his opponent, 5—4, on his own service in the final round, but Roberts put a halt to the proceedings by winning the next three games and the match.

Roberts, who is defending his title, will meet Reuben Moore for the title today on the Monument courts.

Bell Plays MacGuffin In Delaware Finals

Wilmington, Del., June 23 (A.P.).—Berkeley Bell, first seeded player, and Harold MacGuffin, seeded sixth, both New Yorkers, today reached the finals in the Delaware State grass court tennis championship.

Bell had an unusually close call from defeat. Meeting Ray Palmer, of New York, in the semifinals, he managed to win after 2 hours and 40 minutes of play, 6—3, 7—5, 4—6, 6—8, 6—2.

PAGING HAYRE AND LEWIS.

Jim Hayre and Milton Lewis are requested to meet Athletic Director West at French's Sport Shop today at 2:30 p. m. with regard to tomorrow's American Legion series schedule.

College Park Host Today At Meet

Washington Club Will Battle Democrats of Baltimore.

A NEW chapter in local sports will be written this afternoon when the Washington Track and Field Club hooks up with the Stonewall Democratic Club, of Baltimore, in a dual meet at Byrd Stadium, College Park. The opening event will be run off at 2:30 o'clock.

Although organized only last spring, the local cinder path campaigners boast a powerful and well-balanced team and on paper figure to give the veteran Monumental City delegation a real run for their money, if not actually winning the meet.

Today's events constitute the first dual meet on the Washington club's schedule. An ambitious program has been mapped out by the schedule committee, which will take the team to Annapolis, July 22, for a meet with the Naval Academy second classmen, and to Baltimore early in August for a return engagement with the Stonewall club. Later in July it will go to Philadelphia to meet the crack Meadowbrook Club runners.

Five-Mile Run Feature.

Summer activities will be climaxed with the first annual track and field games to be staged by the club, probably at Catholic University Stadium. It is hoped that teams from the New York A. C., Meadowbrook Club and Boston A. C., in addition to numerous clubs from New England, will be able to participate.

A 5-mile run will feature this afternoon's program. Pat Denges, well known Baltimore distance runner, is slated to oppose a crack field of Washington boys, including Haskell Clarke, Jimmy Montague and the veteran Mike Lynch.

A bevy of former college and high school performers will uphold Washington's banner, but they have their task cut out for them. Bob Connor, Reds Devendorf, Bingo Flynn, Herb Bryant, Dave Sprinkle, Phil Gross, Bill Beers and Ed Frederic are a few of those who will display their talents.

Stage Tour Bars Tolan As Amateur, Is Ruling

Detroit, June 23 (A.P.).—Because he engaged in a vaudeville tour after setting the pace for the world's fastest sprinters in the 100 and 200 meter races at the 1932 Olympics, Eddie Tolan now is classified as a professional, Charles Brennan, secretary of the Michigan A. A. U., said today.

Brennan said his stand on the status of University of Michigan's former star was backed by Dan Ferris, New York State secretary. Friends of the Negro sprinter believe that he will not compete again in either amateur or professional ranks. He now has a clerical job with Wayne County (Detroit).

CUYLER'S FATHER HURT.

Harrisville, Mich., June 23 (A.P.).—George A. Cuyler, probate judge of Alcona County and father of Hazen (Kiki) Cuyler, Chicago Cub outfielder, was injured late today when his car overturned near Lincoln, Mich. Judge Cuyler's arm was broken.

His wife and granddaughter, Miss Shirley Medore, 18, and Mrs. Catherine Ritchie, other occupants of the car, suffered severe bruises.

WHITE SOX BOOKED.

Virginia White Sox will play Brentzer A. C. two games tomorrow on Arlington, first game starting at 1:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Moody, Vines Enter Net Finals

Defeat Gledhill and Miss Rice in London Tournaments.

LONDON, June 23 (A.P.).—Ellsworth Vines, jr., and Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, fellow Californians and Wimbledon champions, today appeared well on their way to new titles, the men's and women's singles of the London championship as they rode into the finals over fellow American players.

Vines, defeating his doubles partner, Keith Gledhill, 6—8, 7—5, 6—3, qualified for the finals against Lester Stoefen, another of the tall men from California, who won his bracket with the toss of a coin over Cliff Sutter, third ranking United States player.

The two American youngsters were going at it hammer and tongs, with Stoefen victor, 12—10, in the first set and the count 12—12 in games in the second when they decided they might as well call it a day. Stoefen then called the toss of a coin correctly to gain the prospect of taking a licking in the finals from another native son.

Mrs. Moody Defeats Virginia Rice.

Mrs. Moody won her way to the finals with a 6—2, 6—3 victory over Virginia Rice, of Boston. She will meet Mrs. J. B. Pittman, eighth ranking English woman, who defeated Mrs. Dorothy Andrus Burke, of Stamford, Conn., the defending title holder, 6—2, 6—4.

The most surprising American victory of the day came in the men's doubles when the Oxford-Cambridge team of former Americans, Clayton Lee Burwell and David N. Jones, upset Sutter and Stoefen, 6—4, 11—9. The collegians, playing together for the first time, yesterday won from the Japanese Davis Cup team of R. Nunoi and Jiro Satoh in no less decisive fashion.

Vines and Gledhill reached the finals of this department of play by beating the Japanese team of R. Miki and Jiro Satoh, 6—2, 6—4.

Elizabeth Ryan, the former Californian and a frequent competitor in the London championships, advanced to the finals of women's doubles with Mme. Rene Mathieu, of France, and to the semifinals of mixed doubles with Enrique Maier, of Spain.

Miss Ryan and Mme. Mathieu defeated Miss Rice and Alice Yorke, of England, 4—6, 6—2, 6—4. She and Maier won from J. Marsalek, of Czechoslovakia, and Miss Grey, of England, 6—3, 6—4.

Mrs. Moody and George P. Hughes, English Davis Cup player, won to the semifinals of the mixed doubles with a 6—1, 6—2 victory over L. de Borman, of Belgium, and Mrs. W. L. Dyson, of England.

District Net Championship Tournament Opens Today

THIRTY-ONE matches will usher in the forty-sixth annual District of Columbia championship tennis tournament today on the courts of the Army and Navy Club, Arlington, Va. With virtually every racqueter of note in the line-up and the 1932 champion unable to defend his title, the affair promises to be a brilliant success.

Dolf Muehleisen, the former flying cadet from San Diego, Calif., won the laurels last year but found it impossible to make the trip East for the 1933 tournament. But there is a host of young netmen ready to assume the crown, and the battle for it promises to be a grueling struggle.

Topping the list of candidates is Dooley Mitchell, ranking No. 1 District player and recent winner of the City of Washington Tournament. He was seeded No. 1 of a group of eight. Following him in order are Tom Mangan, Tony Latona, Clarence Charest, Gene Herman, Gilbert Hunt, Frank Shore and Harvey Lake.

Mitchell has never succeeded in inscribing his name on the Dumbarton Bowl, the trophy awarded the winner. This year he is more determined than ever to realize one of the few ambitions nurtured in years of campaigning.

Two of the matches scheduled are outstanding. Ray McClun, No. 2 on the Naval Academy team during the past season, clashes with Capt. John B. Lewis, of the Army, in the first of these, and Clarence Charest encounters Maj. Paul Newgarden in the second.

Entries for the doubles will not close until tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock. Pairings for today:

Cruickshank's 142 Tops Virginia Golf

Richmond, Va., June 23 (A.P.).—Bobby Cruickshank, war horse of many a hard fought campaign, ripped the James River course of the Country Club of Virginia to shreds today to hold a three-stroke advantage at the end of 36 holes of play in the State open golf championship.

To a par 72 of the morning, the Richmond professional added a sensational 70 in the second round with the help of an eagle on the par 5 sixteenth and finished his day's work in 142.

Three strokes behind the popular Scot came Jack Isaacs, of Richmond, whose 72—73—145 was one stroke better than the 146 turned in by Benny Loving, of Petersburg. Tied for the fourth position at 147 were Dick Lane, twice city champion of Richmond, and Mel Shorey, of Roslyn, who slumped badly after leading the field in the morning with a par-shattering 70.

Cochrane Is Hurt; Clint Brown Ill

Cleveland, June 23 (A.P.).—The Philadelphia Athletics and the Cleveland Indians both suffered player casualties today.

Mickey Cochrane, veteran catcher of the A's, hurt his side when he ran against the wall in front of the box seats making a catch of a foul ball in the fifth inning and had to retire in the following frame. He probably will be out of the line-up for several days, but the injury was not considered serious.

Clint Brown, one of the Indians' best hurlers, was sent to bed, suffering an attack of gall stones. He will be on the sick list indefinitely.

Fan Throws in Towel, Causing Matmen to Lose

Boston, June 23 (A.P.).—A spectator threw a towel into the Boston Garden ring tonight and robbed Henri de Glane of an earned victory over Ed George, wrestling title claimant, in the feature bout of a wrestling show.

Believing the towel signalized George's forfeit of the match, De Glane released him. As soon as George gained his feet, he dropped the Frenchman with a vicious butt and pinned his shoulders to the mat. Referee Charlie Donnell then pronounced him the victor, a decision that brought boos from most of the 15,000 spectators.

Helen Hicks Defeats Mrs. Lake for Title

Glen Head, N. Y., June 23 (A.P.).—Coming from behind in the final 18 holes, Helen Hicks, former national golf champion, today won her second Long Islnad championship, defeating Mrs. Marion Turpie Lake, 2 and 1, in the 36-hole final at the Women's National Golf and Tennis Club.

In repeating her 1929 victory in the event, Miss Hicks avenged defeats by Mrs. Lake in the finals in 1931 and in the semifinal round last year.

Radio Dial Flashes

By ROBERT D. HEINL

WHEN Speaker Rainey of the House of Representatives delivered the commencement address at Amherst, his alma mater, the first thing he did was to brush aside the microphone.

"Having that device in front of me," Speaker Rainey said laughingly, "is like trying to make love to a pretty girl over a prickly fence."

It so happens that the microphone was simply for the amplifying system in the Amherst "cage" where Mr. Rainey spoke. Notwithstanding the fact that it was a huge hall, his powerful voice was heard, without the aid of mechanical devices, by every one present.

Following the commencement an honor was conferred upon the radio industry in the reelection as a trustee of Amherst of Louis G. Caldwell, of Washington, formerly general counsel of the Federal Radio Commission. Mr. Caldwell represents Station WGN, of Chicago, at the Capital.

Raymond Knight has been in Chicago gathering facts about the fair, facts which no one else even suspects—that is, Ray declares they are facts. As a result tonight he will put on his famous KUKU program with a Chicago cast at 6:30 o'clock, to be heard here through WMAL.

Knight plans a number of novelties for the program, including Floyd Ribbons, "the Breadline Hunter." Ambrose J. Weems, the "Voice from the Diaphragm," of course, will be there and will describe a century plant, named Elmer—"who blooms every hundred years and does not know why, but by special arrangement with the fair authorities is blooming five years ahead of time."

"La Golondrina," which any one who has ever been to Mexico so well remembers, will be included on the program by Tirado, Mexico's singing surgeon, at 7 o'clock tonight over WRC.

THE ceremonies in connection with the dedication of the Belgian Village at A Century of Progress will be carried over WMAL tonight, at 10:30 o'clock. The program will include the installation of the burgomeister, the presentation of celebrities and a description of the scene on the plaza front of the town hall in the village.

Said to be the first performer to control his own volume will be the organist in the Skinner Organ Studios, New York, where WOR recently installed a volume control meter on the console of the organ. The organist hears his own music from a loud speaker only.

Although Dr. Auguste Piccard, the distinguished Belgian scientist, was making his first American broadcast he was more interested in the view of Central Park from the fourteenth floor of the broadcasting building in New York than he was in the technical phases of his microphone appearance.

Just before he took the air, Prof. Piccard leaned out of the window to marvel at the sights beneath.

"Oh, it so very high up!" exclaimed the man who has flown up more than 10 miles into the sky.

There will be another meeting tonight of Mme. Von Unschuld's Piano Club (WMAL, 7:15).

A BACCALAUREATE address to graduating classes of the entire Nation will be delivered by William Lyon Phelps today at 8:30 p. m., over WRC. Dr. Phelps' speech will serve a two-fold purpose, that of greeting the new graduates and of delivering his own valedictory, since after 32 years he is retiring from scholastic duties at Yale University.

Vera Van, a new song personality from California, will be heard from New York over WJSV on Saturdays at 7:15 p. m., Sundays at 4:45 p. m., and Thursdays at 7:45 p. m., beginning tonight.

The first international "man-in-the street' broadcast will be heard over WJSV from London, today at 4:45 p. m. Strolling Londoners will be asked their opinions of the probable outcome of the Economic Conference.

Microphones will be stationed on the sidewalk in Picadilly Circus near the heart of London's theater district, and H. V. Kaltenborn will aid in bringing the king's subjects to the microphone.

WASHINGTON Night Hawks will be at their best from midnight until 3 o'clock tomorrow morning over WOL. It will be an all-request program. The station will be silent from 9 o'clock until midnight.

Jane Addams, author and founder of Hull House in Chicago, will talk on "Our Movie-Made Children" over WJSV tonight at 9:15. Miss Addams, facing the microphone in Chicago studios, will speak in her capacity as a member of the Motion-Picture Research Council.

A device for making the speaking voice more musical has been invented by Dr. Brand, of Vienna. It depends on the fact that when a microphone is held over the larynx the sound of the voice is picked up almost as well as when the microphone is placed before the mount. At the same time the voice sounds more melodious, because some of the harmonics which are included in the tones are cut out, leaving the fundamentals.

Charles Hall Davis, Richmond, Va., lawyer, will talk on "Constitutional Changes Menacing American Liberties," when he addresses the American Taxpayers League over WMAL at 8 p. m.

THE Gilbert and Sullivan operetta "Patience" will be presented over WMAL today at 8 p. m. The work, which was first produced at the Opera Comique Theater in London, in April, 1881, is believed to be a satire on Oscar Wilde's "aesthetic movement."

In response to numerous requests, "On the Trail," an amusingly descriptive movement of Ferde Grofe's "Grand Canyon" Suite, will be played in its entirety over WRC today at 8 p. m.

A New Yorker At Large

By MARK BARRON.

New York.—Beachcombing along the waterfront you discover that:

Tenth avenue youngsters are avoiding the heat by swimming off the vacant piers on West street; Peter McNeil has saved nearly 300 persons from drowning off the Battery; the flood lights that illuminate the Statue of Liberty cost more than $5,000 a year; a house on Pearl street near the East River was once the home of Capt. Kidd; a sightseeing boat encircles Manhattan Island several times daily.

Also, that: An empty, sealed tin can thrown into the East River at Hell Gate Bridge will be carried by the current out to sea at a speed of about 12 knots; a tug calls once a month at the Bellevue Hospital wharf to transport unclaimed dead to Potters Field on Barren Island; one of the tragedies of local shipping circles was the taking out of service of the Leviathan.

A Sad Passing.

This sorrow over the passing of the Leviathan came as a complete surprise to me. I understood how seafaring men could become sentimentally attached to a sailing vessel or a small freighter, but that sailors could have a romantic feeling toward a huge, seemingly impersonal liner was something difficult to comprehend.

At a dinner a few months ago when it was first reported that the Leviathan was to be taken out of service I met one of the chief officers of that crack liner. He was practically in tears as he discussed the report. And when another dinner guest remarked that he had never particularly cared for the Leviathan the old salt rose to his feet and threatened to "bash his toplights in" if the fellow didn't retract his scurrilous inferences.

It was a sad event when the Leviathan crew was finally discharged. The band broke into "Auld Lang Syne" as the sailors, carrying their duffel bags slung across their shoulders, marched down the gangplank for the last time. Many of them were unashamedly weeping.

Tiny Church.

The smallest church in the world is in a small garden in Brooklyn. It was built to commemorate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Rev. Dr. Lacey's service in a nearby church.

This tiny sanctuary of his is complete with altar, pulpit, stained glass windows and everything else needed. It is exactly just large enough for Dr. Lacey himself, and no one else, to occupy.

From the Polo Grounds home plate you can see a building surmounted by a perfect likeness of a lighthouse. The sun rays reflecting against its copper side are often blinding—but umpires are blind anyway, if you take the fans' word for it.

Gilbert Miller's middle name is Heron.

RACKETEERING TRYS ON DISTRICT PEOPLE REPORTED FAILURES

Better Business Bureau Is Obstacle to Numerous Fraud Schemes.

A compact and absorbing history of racketeering as it has been attempted in Washington in the past year was presented by Louis Rothschild, director of the Better Business Bureau of the District, at the annual meeting of the bureau yesterday at the Raleigh Hotel.

In his annual report Mr. Rothschild revealed the multifarious schemes perpetrated in Washington in efforts to extract hard-earned money from local wage earners, and showed how these schemes have been crushed through cooperation of honest merchants and all the local newspapers.

Mr. Rothschild said that "100 per cent cooperation and assistance by the newspapers has again been of primary assistance in making the year a successful one."

Gold Mining stock.

The report revealed that several hundred thousand dollars' worth of fraudulent stock has been sold in Washington in the last year. As a result of a "Before you invest—investigate" program, 1,938 financial inquiries were received and answered at the bureau office, it was shown.

Stock schemers have specialized in gold mining and beer brewing as means for "parting the gullible from their money," it was stated.

Other illegal schemes unearthed by the bureau included swindling of women planning to buy and operate rooming houses, "lunch and lecture" real estate selling and selling of fraudulent oil royalties

Hundreds of racketeers were traced through appeals of the bureau by suspicious prospective customers.

Charity Racket Activities.

The report charged that thousands of dollars are being contributed by the people of Washington, ostensibly for charitable purposes, and that actually only a small percentage of the money is actually going to benefit the needy, the larger percentage going to professional "charity racketeers."

The case of a large sale of tickets by telephone communication for a circus that never came to town is cited in the report.

As the result of an investigation instigated by The Washington Post into employment agencies, and cooperation of the bureau, the Police Department and Corporation Counsel's Office, a number of convictions were obtained by a general improvement made in the field, it was shown.

Six arrests and convictions were obtained because of sidewalk sales methods on Seventh street, it was reported.

Coupon Books Criticized.

The report criticized the sale coupon books, membership discount associations and other schemes. One scheme, in which 6,000 Government employes paid from $2 to $5 to belong to an association which promised discounts of from 10 to 50 per cent, and which called itself "cooperative" was curbed, it was disclosed.

Other activities of the bureau included investigation of out-of-town tailoring companies working through their agents; disclosure of a trick method of selling permanent waves representing them as "free;" apprehension of a fake bankruptcy sale; control of fur and lace peddlers selling by misrepresentation; material on endless chair schemes was referred to the Post Office Department, which agency later barred the material from the mails; a radio store was stopped from claiming it was the only store in the city handling a certain radio, when a number of stores had the same item; a dress store was stopped from placing garments in the window with price tags and refusing to sell the garments.

New Board of Trustees.

B. B. Bergunder, vice chairman of the board of trustees, presided at the meeting.

The following will serve on the board of trustees during the coming year: F. G. Addison, jr., Edward C. Baltz, Walter Barkdell, H. T. Bissell, Y. E. Booker, Henry Brawner, Mr. Bergunder, A. C. Case, John H. Davis, Carl Smith Dow, Joshua Evans, jr., M. G. Gibbs, Ralph Goldsmith, E. C. Graham, Gerald D. Grosner, Harry W. Hahn, James W. Hardey, Frank R. Jelleff, Sylvan King, Louis Levay, H. ARMY TRUCK KILLS BOY; GIRL INJURED Civilian Employe of National Guard Is Driver of Death Vehicle.

Eleven-year-old Bernard Borealleno, 525 Virginia avenue southeast, was fatally injured and 10-year-old Marvella Gosch, Third street and Main avenue southeast, was seriously hurt late yesterday when struck down by a heavy Army truck owned by the District National Guard, as they stood by a "snowball" stand at Third street and Maine avenue.

Witnesses said that the truck, which was towing another, was forced to swerve against the stand in order to avoid being struck by a speeding automobile which dashed by just as Sidney R. Dulin, 26, the driver, a civilian employe of the National Guard, attempted to turn from Main avenue into Third street.

The children were taken to Providence Hospital. The boy died shortly after arrival from internal injuries, and the condition of the girl was reported serious. She suffered a fracture of her right leg and severe cuts and bruises about her body and head.

2 Liquor Arrests Result From Fire

Two men asleep in what was said to be a speakeasy at 2013 Fourteenth street northwest were startled yesterday as firemen entered the establishment to put out a blaze.

The fire apparently started when one of the men went to sleep with a lighted cigarette in his hand. When they awoke they found themselves under arrest by police, with two gallons of alleged liquor found on the premises as evidence against them.

They gave their names as Edward M. McNulty, 33, of the Fourteenth street address, and Carl F. Boyd, 20, of 2639 Woodley place northwest, when they were booked on charges of illegal possession of liquor.

MARRIAGE PROVISION BRINGS RESIGNATION

Veterans' Officer First to Quit U. S. Service Because Wife Is Employed.

The first resignation in the District government on account of the marriage provision of the administration's retrenchment program was announced yesterday by the District Commissioners. It was that of William I. Snyder, veterans' service officer, who has held the office since its establishment in August, 1931.

George S. Wilson, public welfare director, explained that Mr. Snyder's wife is employed in the Federal Government and that one of them had to resign. He said that a recommendation as to a new veterans' service officer would be made shortly.

Retirement of three metropolitan police, a White House policemen, and a fireman was ordered yesterday by the Commissioners upon findings of the retiring and relief board that the men are physically incapitated for further duty.

The policemen are: Sergt. J. O. B. Gray, Privates Jerome Jenkins and Henry C. Hinton and Private E. E. Porter of the White House force. The fireman is Private E. E. Padgett.

A pension was also granted to Mrs. Alice E. McNamara, widow of Sergt. Thomas L. McNamara, policeman, who died, May 17.

The Commissioners today are expected to announce steps to be taken by the various departments to meet reduced appropriations in the new fiscal year. Recommendations from department heads will be considered this morning by the District personnel board.

Body Believed Gibbs' Identified as Canadian's

Positive identification of the body taken from the Assiniboine River at Winnipeg, Canada, several weeks ago, as that of John Murphy, of Winnipeg, yesterday definitely removed the possibility that it might be that of Henry Huntington Gibbs, missing Washington student.

The father of the 19-year-old University of Pennsylvania student, Henry C. Gibbs, of 1821 Newton street, had previously viewed the body at Winnipeg and declared that it was not his son. Young Gibbs disappeared after writing suicide notes.

House Sergeant at Arms Forfeits $15 Collateral

Sergeant at Arms of the House Kenneth Romney, who was arrested on charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct as a result of an alleged disorder in the Pennsylvania Hotel, was released early yesterday and gave notice that he would forfeit $15 collateral.

Romney was arrested by Patrolman H. F. Elliott on the complaint of officials of the hotel. Relatives of the sergeant at arms said the House official "is out of the city."

TEACHER TRANSFER SYSTEM TO AVERT LOSS OF POSITIONS

Flexible Rule by Congress Permits Retention of All Present Staff.

Bringing into operation a flexible provision by Congress, District school officials yesterday were planning the transfer of elementary school teachers to make up the teaching staff of Taft Junior High School in Northeast Washington in preparation for its opening next September.

A transfer of elementary teachers is also planned to the Powell Junior High School to take care of additional pupils.

These two schools, it was learned, are the only ones to involve a general transfer of teachers. Their places will not have to be filled because the pupils they formerly taught will enter junior high school.

Sufficient teachers will be left to take care of new elementary pupils. School officials also made it clear that the needs of junior high schools are to be met without abolishing any special departments or courses in elementary schools.

Flexible Provision Text.

School officials admitted that there will be fewer teachers than last year in some of the special departments, but adjustments will be made so that the effectiveness of the instruction will not be impaired, it was said.

The flexible provision, making it possible for school officers to adjust teachers where they are needed, reads as follows: "That teaching vacancies that occur during the fiscal year, 1934, wherever found, may be filled by the assignment of teachers of special subjects, and teachers not assigned to classroom instruction, and such teachers are hereby made eligible for such assignment without further examination."

Seventh and eight grade teachers in the neighborhood of the Taft School will be elevated to this school to care for the influx of new pupils, it was learned. Just how many teachers will be transferred has not yet been decided.

The seventh and eighth grade classes of the H. D. Cooke Elementary School are to be accommodated in the Johnson School building, which is to become an adjunct of the Powell Junior High School in Mount Pleasant, it was learned.

System of Transfers.

The Johnson School, an eight-room building, is across the street from Powell. Pupils who attend Johnson School will be transferred to the new eight-room addition to Bancroft School at Eighteenth and Newton Newton streets northwest. This will make it possible for teachers at Johnson to be transferrred to Powell.

School officers have been aided to a great extent by retirement of teachers and resignations. Ten elementary school teachers who are over 62 years of age have voluntarily retired and 10 have resigned.

Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, has sent a letter to every teacher and school employe, assuring them that their positions are secure. The only employes whose services have been terminated are those with unsatisfactory ratings.

"Employes in the service on July 1 may enter their vacation period with the confident expectation that their services will be needed during next year," the superintendent said. "Because of the reduction in the number of employes in nearly all branches of the school service, the amount of work performed by each individual during the coming year will undoubtedly be somewhat increased. This can not be avoided.

Pedestrian Beaten; Driver Is Arrested

A remark concerning the driver and his driving ability by a pedestrian, who was clipped by the fender of an automobile at Twenty-first and M streets northwest yesterday afternoon resulted in an exchange of blows which sent the pedestrian to the hospital and brought about the arrest of the driver and his companion on charges of assault.

Joseph J. Cantwell, 25, 1270 New Hampshire avenue northwest, was taken to Emergency Hospital for treatment, after he is said to have been pummeled by George Clokley, 23, 1729 Twenty-first street northwest, driver of the car, and Fred Hackett, 20, 3545 Eleventh street northwest. Police said the two men followed Cantwell to his apartment house and beat him.

TEN PER CENT SLASH IN D. C. WATER RENT TO BE MADE JULY 1

$170,000 Saving to Users Is Estimated; Faulty Meter Complaints Heavy.

The water registrar's office is preparing to put into effect on July 1 the 10 per cent reduction in water rents, in accordance with a provision in the 1934 appropriations act, E. H. Grove, registrar, announced yesterday. The reduction, which is available only if bills are paid within fifteen days, will save Washington water users between $170,000 and $180,000, according to estimates of Water Department officials.

Mr. Grove also revealed yesterday that complaints against overcharging for water service, largely because of faulty meters, amounted to 35 per cent during the fiscal year drawing to a close. Most of the complaints, upon investigation, however, were found to be unjustified.

Because of the large increase in complaints, all of which must be investigated, and because of the reduction of the water registrar's appropriation for 1934, most maintenance work and all replacement of faulty meters will have to be discontinued during the next fiscal year unless the Budget Bureau approves use of $75,000 of water rent revenue for such expenditures, Mr. Grove said.

The job of replacing meters has been in progress since 1931. Of the 88,422 meters in operation, 9,770 are not registering.

Should the budget director refuse to approve the $75,000 transfer, the Water Department's maintenance force will be cut from 40 to about 5 men, Mr. Grove said.

Jury Will Probe Free Beer Trick

Jack Watkins' method of obtaining large quantities of beer—free—will be investigated by the District grand jury, it was learned yesterday when Judge John P. McMahon, in Police Court, ordered Watkins held under a $3,500 bond.

The scheme, police say, was that Watkins approached a dealer, Nelson H. Carver and informed him that a few thirsty members of Congress were planning a holiday and would require about 20 cases and a barrel of beer.

He obtained that amount, paying with a check signed "Carter Glass," which was for $10 more than the bill. When Carver called Senator Glasss' office to express his thanks he quickly found that the check was not issued by the senator. Watkins, who is colored, was arrested when he appeared for some more beer.

Old Sawmill Is Razed On Capital Water Front

As part of its program of improving the Washington channel waterfront, the District government is razing an old sawmill and wharf at the foot of Tenth street southwest, R. M. Brennan, chairman of the wharf committee, revealed yesterday.

The sawmill, which was formerly operated by L. A. Clarke & Son, has been on District property for years under a lease which expired recently and was not renewed.

Recruiting Renews At Medical Center

Recruiting has been resumed at the Army Medical Center after a suspension of several months, it was announced yesterday.

The recruiting officer will enlist suitable men between the ages of 18 and 35 for service in the medical department. Although enlistments are made for the medical department the men selected will be given an opportunity to carry on special work and training in laboratory, X-ray dental mechanics and allied fields.

Applicants for enlistment should report at the recruiting office at Walter Reed Hospital.

Ralph Bangs was elected president of the Reciprocity Club of Washington at the annual meeting last night.

Arthur Clarendon Smith, first vice president of the national organization, addressed the meeting.

Meet Paul—He's Willing, If?

Girl With "Right Smart of Money" Can Have Him at Altar.

Lady, do you happen to have "right smart of money" and a yearning for a husky husband who can cook with the best of them and who is yearning for a bride in this month of mating?

Paul Henry, 22, of 610 Ninth street southwest, can fill the bill. Walking into the city room of The Post yesterday, he squared his shoulders, clenched his jaw and with nary a wince stated his wants.

The young man is out of a job. He knows lots of girls, "poor like me." But he wants a girl with "right smart of money" to tread the matrimonial path with him.

She must be fair to middlin' good looking', said Henry. Not over 35, he said, was one specification for his bride. And she should like to go to shows, sports events, dances and generally want a good time. Widows and divorcees are in the eligible list.

Henry is a buxom chap. He weighs about 195 and is 5 feet 10 inches in height. He has dark brown hair and eyes. His sartorial appearance is quite snappy. For cooking ability, he will refer to any one of a number of Washington restaurants. He is willing to stay home and do the cooking and housework if his wife has a good job. And he will also go to work if necessary.

Nearly five years ago, Henry said, a working acquaintance went to New York and through a newspaper advertisement secured a most acceptable bride. That romance has bloomed and prospered through the years, and so Henry thinks he might meet with like success.

PAUL HENRY.

Military Pay Audit Chief Will Retire

Frank W. Alexander, chief of the military pay section of the audit division of the General Accounting Office will retire July 1. He was born in Belgrade, Me., January 9, 1865.

Mr. Alexander entered the Government service in 1897, and on July 1, 1903, he was placed in the office of the auditor for the Navy, under the Treasury Department. As a result of the merging of the auditor's office with the Geneal Accounting Office, Mr. Alexander will have completed 30 years in practically the same office when he retires.

He subsequently became assistant to the chief of the Navy division, and, upon the retirement in 1921 of Capt. L. K. Brown, Mr. Alexander was made his successor.

LIMIT PLEA DENIED, SLAYER, 78, IS GIVEN ONE TO TWO YEARS

Albert Koch Had Requested Long Term in Killing of Idle Son-in-Law.

Despite his plea that he be given the longest sentence possible following his conviction on a charge of slaying his son-in-law, Albert Koch, 78 years old, yesterday was given a sentence of from one to two years in jail.

Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue imposed sentence after Koch, who speaks broken English, had begged for the limit "or nothing." Under the law he could have been given 15 years.

The charge against Koch was that he shot and killed William B. Palmer Gray, his son-in-law, after an argument at 1420 North Capitol street, last February. The elder man had been slapped by the younger when he remonstrated with him because he did not obtain work

Indicted for First Degree Murder.

Koch was indicted for first-degree murder. Through Attorneys E. Russell Kelly and Charles Ford he defended himself against the accusations by stating that he feared he was in danger of suffering an attack by Gray. The Government, with Assistant United States Attorney John Fitzpatrick prosecuting charged that Koch shot Gray after the argument had subsided. The man will be eligible for parole in one year

In explanation of his request for the maximum sentence Koch declared that he was an old man and that he did not wish to come out of prison and become a charge upon his family.

How about a CODE

for Government Employes, General Johnson ____?

★ ★ ★ ★ "All we have to fear is fear itself!" . . .

Said President Roosevelt in his inaugural address

EVER since March 4th, a wave of confidence has swept through the country to banish this fear from the hearts of all American citizens, except those in the voteless District of Columbia.

Here, 85,000 faithful government workers upon whose shoulders the country is placing the burden of lifting business out of the doldrums, are being daily torn between hope and despair as they read the contradictory communiques issued by various government departments.

Contrary to popular belief, the government employee has not escaped the depression. His salary has been cut more ways than one, his banks have been closed, and now, he is anticipating increases in the cost of living inspired by the government that employs him without any compensatory benefit.

We know there are many important problems facing you, General Johnson, but no private business can succeed if the spirit of its employees is below par, and likewise, the business of the government, we believe, can be speeded up and its entire morale improved if the government bureaus are stabilized and every worker knows his place in the picture.

★ ★ ★ ★ For the sake of the peace of mind of these loyal men and women.

For the sake of the future of the District of Columbia.

How about it, General Johnson?
